“On the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, [Congress] shall call a convention for proposing amendments.”
— Article V, US Constitution

Washington is Broken.
Unelected bureaucrats have stripped states of their rightful decision-making authority. Consequently, the debt is out of control, regulations crush free enterprise, and our freedoms have been stolen.

But We Have a Solution as Big as the Problem.
Article V of the Constitution allows the states to call a Convention of States to propose constitutional amendments to limit federal spending, debt, and regulations. Amendments can also create better checks on the judiciary and restore the Constitution-as-written rather than the Constitution-as-interpreted by activist judges.
HOW IT WORKS:

Thirty-four states submit applications for a convention dealing with the same subject.

Congress must set the date and time for the start of the convention. It has no other discretion.

The convention drafts language for proposed amendments on the topics specified by the state applications. One state, one vote.

When 38 states ratify an amendment proposal, it becomes part of the Constitution.

Our Plan:

Remember when “we, the people” had the power? Well, thanks to Article V, we still do. We are currently appointing district captains from 75% of the state house legislative districts in at least 40 states to each recruit 100 people from their respective districts. In turn, these 100 individuals will call or write their state legislators, voicing their support for the COS Project.

In other words, we have more than a general philosophy. We have a well-organized strategy. Together, we can preserve liberty for future generations.
