

Accepted/Partially Accepted General Claim Items

		Our Claim for Your Union Agreement	Government's Offer for Your Union Agreement	Commitments received outside of Your Union Agreement	What next?
Length	Accept	A two year term.	A two year term.
No Trade-Offs	Accept	No trade-offs.	No trade-offs.
Pay increases	Accept in part	Salary increases of 2.5% from 12 June 2017 and a further 2.5% increase 12 months later.	Salary increases of $1000 per annum (pro rata) increases in line with the Public Sector Wages Policy Statement 2017 , payable on and from 13 June 2017 and 13 June 2018.	The Government considered a wage freeze in April but did not apply this, opting instead for the flat rate increase change in State Wages Policy.
Employer preference	Accept	Employers undertake to engage employees on a permanent basis wherever possible; this is to be their default form of engagement.	Explicitly states that permanent employment is the preferred form of engagement. Confirms that casual employment, labour hire and other contract for service arrangements are not the preferred methods for delivery of service, and committing the Employer to work towards minimising these modes of employment.	Letter from the Minister for Commerce dated 13 July 2017. "Direct employment provides a stable, engaged workforce, with the ability to provide appropriate advice to Government and the community on a range of important matters, as well as achieving financial efficiencies."
Fixed Term Contracts	Accept in part	After a continuous period of 18 months or more, where a fixed term contract employee undertakes the same or a similar role, the employee must be engaged on a permanent basis. The letter of appointment for fixed term employees shall confirm the prescribed circumstances under the relevant Award or Agreement that permits fixed term engagement. Employers are to inform the Civil Service Association of WA of the names and workplace locations of fixed term employees within 28 days of the request being made.	Requires employers to specify the reason/s for engaging employees on a fixed term contract in writing. Requirement to provide your Union with the names and locations of all fixed term employees. Provides principles for the development of conversion to permanency criteria for fixed term contract employees and confirms the criteria will be the subject of consultation between your Union and Government. Requires employers, following the development of the conversion to permanency criteria, to review the employment status of fixed term and casual employees who are continuously employed for more than two years.	During the State election campaign, Labor promised to: "Develop criteria to convert existing employees including contract and casual employees with more than two years' employment in a same or similar job to permanent and establish a process for this to continue in the future." Letter from the Premier dated 13 June 2017. "I can reaffirm our commitments in relation to permanency-conversion processes for contract workers. A high level agreement will be considered as part of your General Agreement negotiations, with the operational detail being considered through a separate negotiation process with public sector unions."	We will use this clause to actively contribute to the development of a conversion to permanency criteria that actually works for members. We will contact public sector workers on fixed term contracts to talk about their employment and how being a member of the CPSU/CSA could assist them in improving their job security. We will support members on fixed term contracts assess their eligibility for conversion to permanency and progress their claims.
Consultation	Accept in part	Clarify when your employer must consult your Union and members for proposed and actual workplace changes and define consultation. Ensure that employer representatives at any Joint Consultative Committee meeting have the necessary delegated powers to make decisions. Enable unresolved matters to be referred to the WA Industrial Relations Commission.	Clarifies what is meant by "change" requiring consultation. Expands matters for consultation at the Joint Consultative Committee to include "agency implementation of recommendations from Government decisions, policies and initiatives." Specifies in more detail what is required from employers in the consultation process.		We will use this clause to stop employers ramming through poorly considered restructures and cutbacks, and ensure genuine consultation occurs regarding proposed organisational change.

Workload	Accept in part	Employers to record and collate data on workload indicators and provide to your Union. Current list of workload indicators to be expanded. Workload management issues raised by your Union which cannot be resolved at the Joint Consultative Committee or through other workplace consultation mechanisms to be referred to the WA Industrial Relations Commission.	More comprehensive requirements to monitor and record workload. Workload data to be dealt with as a function of the JCC . Workload surveys developed and conducted jointly with your Union following the establishment of a workload review team.		We will utilise the improvements in this clause to gather evidence of excessive workloads. We will utilise this evidence to work with public sector employers to develop strategies to alleviate workload stress. We will utilise this evidence to progress conversations with government about properly resourcing the public sector.
Family and Domestic Violence Leave	Accept in part	20 days paid leave (non-cumulative); measures to protect confidentiality; protection against adverse action or discrimination; flexible working arrangements; nominated trained workplace contacts; workplace safety planning; referral to appropriate support services.	10 days paid leave (non-cumulative); measures to protect confidentiality; protection against adverse action or discrimination; flexible working arrangements; nominated trained workplace contacts; workplace safety planning.	During the State election WA Labor promised to: “Support Victims of domestic and family violence by introducing 10 days paid Domestic and Family Violence Leave, flexible work arrangements, safety plan agreements and access to counselling services.” Government independently made an announcement on 14 June in relation to Family and Domestic Violence Leave. The announcement included the development of a policy which the CPSU/CSA significantly contributed to.
No Forced Redundancies	Accept in part	Commits employers to not exercise their discretion to register an employee, and to exercise their discretion to revoke the registration of an employee, under regulations 18 and 29 of the Public Sector Management (Redeployment and Redundancy) Regulations 2014 (WA) respectively.	Commits to a comprehensive review of existing processes for public sector redeployment and redundancy during the term of the Agreement. Places new clauses in the Agreement: Enhancing rights to consultation and information through the JCC when change may result in surplus employees. Requiring vacancies to be filled with suitable surplus employees before engaging employees on fixed term contracts and labour hire arrangements and the suitability of a surplus employee to be assessed broadly; Requiring all surplus employees to be given access to RAMS and be provided with an appropriately skilled case manager/s, a skills audit and continual support to find suitable employment. Requiring employees to receive written reason/s for the intended registration and the possible employment, placement and training options available to them when notified of their employer’s intention to make them registered. Allowing for the suspension of the redeployment period for the duration that an employee is participating in retraining, secondment or other employment placement arrangement; and Providing the union with information when registered employees enter the last 3 months of their redeployment period.	During the State election WA Labor promised to: “Revamp the process for involuntary severances and ensure that they are only applied in very limited circumstances that are clearly defined” Letter from the Minister for Commerce dated 13 July 2017: “I recognise that fair and well understood conditions of employment are critical to the aims of Government being achieved and that at the present time the processes surrounding redeployment and redundancy are of particular interest to your members. Accepting that forced redundancies are separate to performance management processes, and that this is an important issue for your members as we undergo significant change in the public sector, I propose to conduct a review of the processes currently in place. The avenue for this review will be the Peak Consultative Forum (PCF).”	We will use the new clauses to ensure employers comply with their responsibilities to employees whose positions have been abolished to find another role in the public sector. We will use the review to make the case for more substantial improvements to the redeployment and redundancy process, including those elements that are currently contained within legislation, regulations, guidelines and Commissioners Instructions.
