“Community participation is one of the key ingredients of an empowered community. Participation is the heart that pumps the community’s life blood. It is a principle so important that active citizen involvement in all aspects of strategic planning is a condition for continued development.”

This is why GMB is proud to announce the launch of:

Community Participation Project: Sheffield

GMB, Britain’s General Union, is a huge organisation, based in the workplace and the community, with contact and influence in all walks of life. One in every 31 employees in Britain is a member of the GMB and we are organised in 34 of the UK’s top 50 companies.
