

A Jubilee for Students

Jubilee USA works to reform the global economic system to end the root causes of extreme poverty. Our work builds an economy that serves, protects and promotes the participation of the most vulnerable.

Jubilee USA works for a Jubilee for college students who are increasingly burdened with enormous debts and targeted by predatory lending practices. Jubilee connects the policies and structures that create student debt burdens to those that keep communities overseas trapped in poverty and debt. Through prayer and action on student debt, Jubilee faith communities raise the issue's profile in the media and in Congress.

Jubilee for Students Weekend

- Each year, Jubilee faith communities around the country act and pray for affordable education and fair student lending practices as part of Jubilee for Students Weekend.
- Jubilee USA provides each faith community with sample prayers, resources on student debt and an action to advance responsible student lending policies and make education more affordable for our young people.

Our Accomplishments

- In 2012, when subsidized Stafford federal student loans were set to double for nearly seven million college students, Jubilee USA mobilized over 40 faith communities to pray and act during Jubilee for Students weekend.
- When interest rates were set to double again in 2013, Jubilee USA moved members of Congress of both parties to prevent the increase and mobilized over 60 communities to pray and act. The Washington Post featured our work. (8/6/13)

- Jubilee's work on student debt is featured in the Washington Post, Yes Magazine, Catholic News Service, Sojourners and the National Catholic Reporter.
- One goal of Jubilee for Students weekend is to bridge generational divides and build a greater movement for fair lending and debt policies. In 2014, Jubilee laid the ground work for that goal by increasing outreach to student groups and engaging young people on college campuses in California, Illinois, Washington, D.C. and more.
