

Families in Britain are facing a cost of living crisis

but David Cameron will only stand up for a privileged few

- ✗ Working people are an average of almost £1,500 a year worse off under this Government
- ✗ Almost a million young people are unemployed
- ✗ Energy bills are up by almost £300 since 2010
- ✗ Yet David Cameron has given a tax cut to people earning over £150,000

Only Labour has a plan to tackle the cost of living crisis

One Nation Labour will tackle the cost of living crisis and make work pay by building an economy that works for working people.

- ✓ Freeze gas and electricity prices until the start of 2017 to help families, pensioners and businesses
- ✓ Cut taxes for 24 million working people by introducing a lower 10p starting rate of tax
- ✓ Make work pay by expanding free childcare for 3 & 4 year olds to 25 hours a week for working parents
- ✓ Build 200,000 homes a year by 2020
- ✓ Get young people and the long-term unemployed back to work with a Compulsory Jobs Guarantee - a paid job they will have to take up or lose benefits
- ✓ End the abuse of zero hours contracts and strengthen the minimum wage
- ✓ Back small businesses by cutting business rates in 2015 and freezing them again in 2016

There will be no more borrowing for day to day spending in 2015. And we have asked the independent Office for Budget Responsibility to audit the spending and tax commitments in our next manifesto.
