Tom has won numerous award for his use of Web 2.0 technology and the internet to engage with his constituents. He was one of the very first MPs to offer online advice surgeries through Facebook's 'Chat' facility, and his award-winning 'e-group' has gone from strength to strength...now with over 5,000 members!

So what's it all about?

Well, it's pretty simply really. It's your chance to have your say on topical issues each month.

How does it work?

Tom beams out a topical question at the start of each month to his e-group members, putting both sides of the argument. He then asks you to vote by emailing back, adding your comments if you want to respond in more depth.

Then what?

Tom reads through all the responses (yes...all of them) and writes a summary which he emails out to everyone. He then takes the results and comments direct to Westminster calling Ministers to account.
