A MILLION

JOBS

FOR A STRONGER ECONOMY.

CONFERENCE RALLY

Saturday 14 September ● 18.30–19.30 ● Main Auditorium

This year’s Rally is all about Jobs. About the one million jobs that Liberal Democrats have helped business create since 2010 and about our campaign to help create a million more. About our work to promote apprentices and our ambition to double the number of businesses that employ them. And it will launch our new campaign for small business.

Jobs will be at the heart of our campaigning ahead of the Scottish referendum, in the local and Euro elections and as we work towards the next General Election.

This Rally will show you why.

Featuring:
Nick Clegg ● Paddy Ashdown ● Alistair Carmichael ● Kirsty Williams ● Katy Gordon

PEOPLE MAKE GLASGOW
Ceud mìle fàilte

By Alistair Carmichael MP

The traditional Highland greeting (meaning a hundred thousand welcomes) is every bit as apposite in welcoming you to Glasgow.

I first came to Glasgow as a seventeen year old student from Islay in 1982. The welcome I experienced then was warm, spontaneous and genuine. I fell in love with the city then and still love it to this day. Much has changed here since 1982 but I am certain that the welcome you will get from Glaswegians will be no different.

This is a great city. So, as well as being here for all the usual conference things – the debates, fringe meetings, glee club, conference bar sessions etc – I hope that you will take time to see something of a city that has some of the finest culture and commerce to be found anywhere in the United Kingdom.

It is always a pleasure for us in the Scottish Party to welcome our Liberal Democrat cousins from other parts of the United Kingdom. A belief in federalism is an essential part of what it is to be a Liberal Democrat. I am as proud of my role as Deputy Leader of the Party in Scotland as I am of my job as Chief Whip in the House of Commons. I am proud to be both Scottish and British and have no wish to give up either of these identities. For us, therefore, opposing the case for separating Scotland from the rest of the United Kingdom as Nationalists propose is instinctive.

As we gather in Glasgow we are entering the last twelve months before Scotland votes on this in the independence referendum. I take nothing for granted in that vote and fully expect it to be a close and hard-fought campaign but at the end of it I believe that there will be plenty of opportunities for Federal Conference to return north of the border in the years to come!

We can expect to debate independence in Scotland for the next twelve months but that is not what most Scots want to talk about. As we rebuild our economy from the severe shocks of the recent past...

the main concern for most people in Scotland, as elsewhere, is jobs.

I am immensely proud that in government, Liberal Democrats have helped businesses create over 1 million private sector jobs. In government we have fought to invest billions of pounds in growing businesses, giving them the ability to create jobs, even in tough times.

Here in Glasgow, three of Vince Cable’s seven new ‘Catapult’ innovation centres have been set up and earmarked for a share of £244m funding. Focusing on city innovation, high-value manufacturing and renewable energy, these centres bring together businesses, scientists and engineers to transform new technologies into jobs and growth.

Across Scotland, we are investing £100m to roll out super-fast broadband, including £10m for the Highlands and Islands.

We have established a Green Investment Bank which will have its Headquarters in Edinburgh – thanks in no small part to a brilliant campaign run by our own Mike Crockart MP.

From next April, our £2,000 jobs tax cut will benefit up to 6,830 local businesses and charities. With this extra money, every local business could employ one extra person on a £22,400 salary or four extra people on the minimum wage, without having to pay any extra tax.

These (and many other things besides) have not just happened by accident. They happened because we made them happen. These things have been delivered by Nick, Vince, Danny and others in government but they are achievements of which we can all be proud. We should all be proud of them because they all started here – in our party conference.

I hope you enjoy your time in Glasgow and look forward to meeting you while you are here.

Alistair Carmichael MP is Liberal Democrat Chief Whip and Deputy Leader of the Scottish Liberal Democrats

Supporting the community, environment and economy

Renewable energy is an investment for the future that is backed by the public. Wind, solar and biomass will play a major role in the shift to a low-carbon economy, bringing jobs, energy security and emissions reductions.

Wind energy can deliver a valuable supply chain to the UK, one of the benefits of a multi-billion pound investment in low carbon infrastructure, up to half of which will come from independent operators like RES.

RES is the leading British independent renewable energy developer and has been building green energy projects across the UK and the globe for more than three decades.

We generate electricity for homes and businesses, bringing environmental and economic benefits to the communities in which we operate, including discounted electricity bills.

Independent generators are essential to the growth of UK renewables. We are proud to be a British success story in the growing global green technology sector.
