

Wilderness Warriors

You're Invited!

Where: Griffith Peak in the Mt. Charleston Wilderness

When: August 22nd – September 5th

Join Friends of Nevada Wilderness, volunteers, and trail users as they team up with the Forest Service to re-route the user-created trail to the summit of Griffith Peak. The new re-route will be a more sustainable trail to the peak and will reduce the impact on larval and nectar host plants used by the endemic Mt. Charleston blue butterfly.

There are many ways to help. You can:

- Join the trail crew and help build the trail
- Help restore the old route
- Take a day hike up the South Loop or Griffith Peak Trails to resupply the team with water
- Come out and we'll find a way you can help!

Volunteer for a day to make a difference that lasts a lifetime...
