

Rick Santorum's PATRIOT VOICES

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) threatens U.S. sovereignty and parental rights. This treaty, if ratified, would effectively put us under international law when it comes to parenting our special needs children. While CRPD may, on the surface, appear to protect those with disabilities, it actually gives the government the power, with direction from the U.N., to decide what is best for our children.

That is wrong and not something we should see in the United States of America.

There are two provisions in this treaty that concern me the most:

- One provision in the treaty would give the government, acting under U.N. instructions, the ability to determine for all children with disabilities what is best for them.
- If CRPD were ratified, it would give the U.N. discretion over decisions about how we educate our special needs kids and could potentially eliminate parental rights for the education of children with disabilities.

Please take action with us!

PLEASE ADD YOUR NAME BELOW, AND HELP US ENSURE OUR ELECTED OFFICIALS DO NOT RATIFY CRPD.

Return signed petitions ASAP: Patriot Voices, PO Box 247, Verona, PA 15147 or scan and email to contact@patriotvoices.com

name _____ email _____

address _____ phone _____

name _____ email _____

address _____ phone _____

name _____ email _____

address _____ phone _____

name _____ email _____

address _____ phone _____

name _____ email _____

address _____ phone _____