Waitsburg -Waitsburg City Councilmember and Corrections Officer Scott Nettles announced his campaign today for the Washington State Senate. This is the seat currently held by Senator Mike Hewitt.

"I decided to run because even with a two wage earner household things are getting tough. It's made tougher because too many legislators feel they can continue to heavily tax working people while continuing tax breaks for out-of-state and Westside businesses. It's pretty clear that many of our elected officials have lost touch," said Scott Nettles

Scott Nettles just started his third term as a city councilmember in Waitsburg. For the last twelve years, he's been a Corrections Officer at the Washington State Penitentiary in Walla Walla.

"I raised my daughter as a single parent. I know what it is like to try to make ends meet. More and more, I see that becoming more difficult for people," added Scott Nettles.

Scott lives in Waitsburg, Wa. Where he has resided for 44 years.
