Young Leaders in Action

*Are you a Portland-area high school student?
Are you interested in global issues and other cultures?
Do you want to take action and have your voice heard?*

Apply for Young Leaders in Action!

The World Affairs Council's Young Leaders in Action brings together 20 high school students from across Portland for leadership workshops and community service projects with an international impact.

Young Leaders in Action meet twice a month from June to April taking part in:

- Workshops on Global Issues shaping our world like climate change, poverty, women's empowerment, international conflict, and more.
- Leadership Training on the skills to take action in the community, including project planning, fundraising, social media, political organizing.
- Community Service Activities with an international impact.
- Networking Opportunities with leaders from Portland and around the world.

Young Leaders in Action also receive:

- Free admission to World Affairs Council lectures and events.
- Mentorship and advising on study abroad scholarships, and college and career opportunities in the field of international affairs.
- Guidance in creating an action project on the global issue of your choice.

What is the commitment?

Young Leaders must attend a minimum of 10 of the 12 monthly meetings each Sunday (see schedule to left). In addition, Young Leaders must:

- Attend 1 Service Saturday or other World Affairs Council event every 2 months (6 total).
- Write 1 blog reflection every 4 months (3 total).
- Implement an action project in their school or community during Spring of 2018.

What is covered?

There is no fee or other cost to participate in Young Leaders in Action. In addition to program activities, participants will also receive bus fare to monthly activities, lunch and snacks, and free admission to all World Affairs Council events. Community service hours and school credit are also available.

Who should apply?

Any Portland-area high school student with a graduation year of 2018 or later is eligible to apply. Applicants will be selected based on:

- Interest in learning about international issues and other cultures.
- Passion to take action and serve the local and global community.
- Commitment to working with staff and other youth to advance the program goals.
- Ability to bring a unique perspective and voice to the program (we value diversity in ideas, cultures, experience, and background).

What are the goals of the program?

The World Affairs Council of Oregon's Young Leaders in Action aims to develop a network of young leaders in Portland with a strong awareness and understanding of global issues, and the capacity to take action through service, advocacy, and promotion of intercultural understanding. By incorporating the voices and leadership of diverse youth into the World Affairs Council of Oregon's programs, the Young Leaders in Action supports the Council's mission to broaden awareness and understanding of international affairs and to engage Oregonians with the world.
