Supporting Screen Culture Statewide

Hello ,

March looks like a fine month for all things film.

- March 13 - Meet the Festival Director from Flickerfest - attend this masterclass & enhance your chance of festival success
- March 20 - Enter MicroMovies 2015 (we've extended the deadline to help you out!)
- March 21 - Team-Up for Raw Nerve 2015 - meet potential collaborators
- Raw Nerve 2015 is open for applications. April 17 is the 1st key date for applications.

There are terrific films to be seen when Flickerfest tours the state March 11 - 13, and some interesting offerings from Ten Days on the Island.

When Screen Australia announced last year that they would no longer fund WAT's operations after 2015, we were overwhelmed by the offers of support from you guys. It's taken some time to work through how WAT can keep the doors open and improve the service and opportunities we offer.

Step-Up Film Initiative

We're really pleased to announce our first block in building sustainability for WAT. WAT aims to raise $30,000 to introduce the Step-Up Film Initiative. For every dollar raised before June 2015, WAT will receive matched funding from Creative Partnerships Australia, which has selected WAT for its Plus 1 program. Step-Up will support 2 filmmaking teams to create short films aimed at the International Film Festival Circuit - and the $30,000 received in matched funding will go towards the $80,000 shortfall WAT faces in 2016.

We are seeking tax-deductible donations from individuals, funds and businesses through the online tool Give Now. We also have some great opportunities for sponsorship. This is a new approach for WAT, and we'd appreciate any help or leads you might have in helping us raise these funds - please get in touch with Abi at the office (email or call 6223 8344).

See you all soon - Abi, Jo, Greg and Dom (Dominique's back for a few weeks while Janie's away).

Meet the Festival Director - Flickerfest

Friday March 13, 6 - 7pm. Click here for more info

WAT is hosting a masterclass on short film festival strategy with Bronwyn Kidd, the Director of Flickerfest. This year's focus is selection to A list International Festivals. If you make shorts and aspire to make a feature, it's vital that you understand the trends and tastes of the International festival circuit in 2015. A must-attend if you are considering applying as a writer/director or producer on WAT's Step-Up Film Initiative in 2015.

Cost: Free to WAT members. Tickets to Flickerfest available here.

Time: Friday March 13, 6pm - 7pm

Venue: Meeting Room, Salamanca Arts Centre Hobart

RSVP: 6223 8344 or info@wideangle.org.au

MicroMovies 2015 - call for entries

Entries extended to Fri March 20. Click here for entry & info

The State Cinema and Wide Angle Tasmania are bringing shorts back to the big screen and are offering filmmakers the chance to get their films seen by 220,000 movie-goers in 2015. We're looking for Tasmania's best films under 3 mins that explore the idea of local heroes. All entries will be screened at the State Cinema as part of the official launch and awards night. Up to 6 films receive a free colour grade and sound mix. These shorts will be included in the trailer reel that screens immediately before selected main features to be enjoyed by the eclectic and discerning audience at Tasmania's iconic State Cinema.

Entry forms can be downloaded from our website here.
Free entry - but available to WAT members only.

Team-Up for Raw Nerve 2015

Sat March 21, 5.30 - 7pm

Raw Nerve 2015 applications are now open and we're helping you to find your future collaborators!

- Are you a writer with a great script (or concept) for a 5-7 minute short film and want to team up with a director and producer?
- Are you an early career director looking for a great script or a producer?
- Are you a producer looking to team up with a writer/director and drive a project that (if selected) will be in the running for broadcast on ABC2?
- Does your team need to hook-up with a Raw Material participant to be eligible to apply?

Join us for a networking event where:

- We'll provide you with a brief overview of Raw Nerve 2015 - the purpose, the initiative, the application process and answer any questions you have
- you'll meet the Raw Materials participants
- all attendees will have a chance to speed-network - be ready to pitch your project and yourself!

Time: Saturday, March 21, 2015 - 5:30pm to 7:00pm

Cost: Free - all welcome

Venue: Salamanca Arts Centre - Founders Room

RSVP: email info@wideangle.org.au or p 6223 8344. Please indicate what you are seeking from the evening when you RSVP.

Raw Nerve 2015 - Call for applications

Register to pitch by April 17, submit application by April 27.
Click here for more info, guidelines and application forms

Now in its eighth year in Tasmania, Wide Angle Tasmania is calling for applications to Raw Nerve 2015, a national production initiative of Screen Australia to support early career directors.

Raw Nerve 2015 will select three teams to produce short films that explore the theme of 'One Night.' The films will be between 5 and 7 minutes and can be documentary, comedy, animation or drama. WAT helps filmmakers take their idea from script, through each stage of production, to a finished film ready for national and international festival release. Each film will receive a cinema screening and be assessed for television broadcast with ABC2 and iview.

An industry panel will select three early career practitioners to receive a package valued at over $20 000. Come along on March 21 to find creative collaborators at the networking event - Team-Up for Raw Nerve 2015.

Ten Days on the Island - March

Check out some performances in the upcoming Tasmanian International Arts Festival Program:

- Dementia 13 was the directorial debut in 1963 for revered cinema auteur Francis Ford Coppola. New Zealand's Live Cinema, a crew of actors and musicians led by musical madman, Leon Radojkovic and directed by Oliver Driver, perform live on stage as the film screens above them.
- BLUE ANGEL by Big hART Inc. features new work from world renowned film maker Peter Greenaway. Immerse yourself in a full experience of music, sound design, installation, video, art, homebrew, beards, tattoos, Old Spice and rope splicing in tales of the sea, exotic, erotic and despotic.
- PASAJE is a musical adventure that includes the music of Cuba with a layering of rare archival footage from famed EGREM Recording Studio.

More information is available on their website here.

Flash Factory Screenwriting Course - starts April 2

Briony Kidd is again running her highly successful 6-week feature screenplay course in Hobart, starting April 2. For more information and to register, check out her website here.

Briony also runs weekend and half-day screenwriting workshops suited to all levels of experience. She's considering running these outside of Hobart as well, so email flashfactorytas@gmail.com to express your interest.

Calling for digital artist's for Light up the Lane 2015

Light up the Lane is the City of Hobart's 2015 National Youth Week project. Mathers Place between Criterion and Bathurst Street in the city will be transformed by projecting digital work designed by young people onto buildings, fences, windows, doors, footpaths and anywhere else we can. City of Hobart are looking for young people aged 12 - 25 interested in projecting their digital work on the walls of Mathers Lane. Please contact Mel for more info and an expression of interest form:
