Disaster Assistance: Federal Emergency Management Administration (FEMA)

FEMA Aid: (800) 621-FEMA (3362) or (800) 462-7585 (TTY), www.disasterassistance.gov

FEMA provides a variety of assistance programs that may help you, including rental payments for temporary housing if your home is unlivable; grants for home repairs and replacement of essential household items; and unemployment payments up to 26 weeks if you temporarily lose your job because of the disaster.

Before you call, be sure to have the following information ready:

- Address of affected property
- Insurance information
- Social Security number

If you have registered with FEMA and reported damages to your primary residence you should be contacted by an inspector within 30 days. In some cases, depending on your insurance coverage and the type of damage, FEMA may ask for your insurance settlement information before you can receive an inspection. The exception would be for damages caused by flooding; if you have flood insurance, FEMA will issue an inspection before receiving a copy of your flood insurance decision letter to evaluate your eligibility for temporary living expenses because temporary living expenses are not covered by flood insurance.

If you do not have insurance, an inspector should contact you within 10-14 days after you apply to schedule a time to meet you at your damaged home.

Additional Information:

More than 1,000 FEMA community relations personnel are blanketing damaged neighborhoods, going door-to-door delivering information vital to recovery and encouraging residents with damaged property to register for assistance. They can help refer survivors to the proper resources for any unmet disaster needs, but they do not assess or document damage. FEMA inspectors will contact survivors directly after they have registered.

Individuals do not have to go to a DRC to register with FEMA. Here are some alternatives:

They may apply for FEMA assistance 24 hours a day, seven days a week by calling the toll-free registration number at 1-800-621-FEMA (3362). If you have a speech disability or hearing loss and use a TTY, call 1-800-462-7585 directly; if you use 711 or Video Relay Service (VRS), call 1-800-621-3362. They may also register online at: www.DisasterAssistance.gov.

To find the DRC nearest you, the following options are available: Text DRC and a Zip Code to 43362 (4FEMA), and a text message will be sent back with the address. Also, check out the disaster recovery center locator at www.FEMA.gov/disaster-recovery-centers or by mobile phone at m.fema.gov.

Disaster Recovery Centers will be open throughout the weekend and on the Veterans Day holiday, Monday, Nov. 12.

Hurricane Sandy – Survivor Fact Sheet

Affected by the storm? Resources are available to help you recover.

Catholic Charities Community Services of the Archdiocese of New York is working with local parishes and community agencies to provide help to New Yorkers recovering from the storm. If you need help and don't know where to turn, call our toll-free number and we will help guide you through the recovery process. The most important steps you can take to preserve your rights after the storm are listed below.

Be sure to take pictures of all damages and keep receipts for disaster related repairs and purchases.

File an Insurance Claim

If your home, personal property, or car have been damaged and you have a homeowner's, flood, or car insurance policy, file a claim as soon as possible. This should be your first line of defense and you should file your claim as soon as possible. Any paperwork that can support the value of what was damaged or lost will strengthen your claim.

Register with FEMA

Even if you are not sure what your losses are yet and even if you think your insurance will cover your needs, or that your damage or loss of household goods was not extensive - it is important that you preserve your options and register with the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Many households failed to register with FEMA during the last disaster until it was too late for them to receive assistance. Do not let that happen to you. The registration period typically lasts 60 days, so don't wait until it's too late! Register online at <http://www.disasterassistance.gov> or by calling (800) 621-3362.

Complete an SBA Application

Many survivors who register with FEMA will receive an application packet from the Small Business Administration for a disaster recovery loan. It is important that you complete and return this application! This loan application is for disaster affected individuals not just businesses. It must be completed before you can access FEMA dollars for things like personal property losses, moving and storage costs, and transportation assistance.

Safety Tips for Cleaning Homes Affected by Hurricane Sandy

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

- Open windows and doors to ventilate as much as possible while cleaning.
- Keep children and pets away from areas you are cleaning.

PERSONAL PROTECTION

- Wear waterproof gloves and boots during cleanup. Remove and wash clothing after working.
- Use a dust mask and safety glasses if cleaning will produce dust.
- Wash hands and face with soap and water before eating or drinking.

ELECTRICAL

- If you had flooding or structural damage, have a licensed electrician or utility company inspect your electrical system before using electricity.
- Do not enter rooms with standing water unless power is turned off at the main switch.
- Never use electrical power tools in wet areas.

GAS

If you smell gas, open windows and call your utility company.

FUEL OIL

If you have a home heating oil tank and it has leaked and/or has been damaged by the storm, call the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation at 718-482-7376 (9:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m., seven days a week). Keep flames away from the area.

PREVENT CARBON MONOXIDE POISONING

Never use portable generators or gas-powered tools indoors, in garages or near open windows. Never use your stove or a portable gas heater to heat your home. Never use barbecue grills to cook indoors.

WET BUILDING MATERIALS

- In general, discard damaged or porous building materials, including ceiling tiles, drywall/sheet rock and paneling. If wallboard is soaked, cut at least six inches above the watermark and discard.
- Remove and discard wet wall insulation. Other insulation, such as around old pipes and boilers, may contain asbestos. If you are unsure if there is asbestos in the damaged insulation, contact a licensed asbestos contractor. Do not remove it yourself.

CLEANING AND DISINFECTING

- Most surfaces and items can be cleaned effectively with soap or detergent and water.
- To disinfect materials and surfaces that came in contact with sewage, add one cup household bleach to two gallons water. Never mix bleach with ammonia or other cleaners.
- If your belongings came in contact with fuel oil or other household chemicals, wash them thoroughly with detergent and water. Do not put contaminated clothing in a dryer until all oil is removed.
- Discard any food that has come into contact with flood water or was not properly refrigerated. If in doubt, throw it out.
- Throw out damaged or contaminated belongings in plastic garbage bags with regular trash.

HAZARDOUS MATERIALS

If your home was built before 1978, it may contain lead-based paint. Never dry sand or dry scrape lead paint. Use wet methods to remove lead paint. Note: Unless otherwise notified, it is safe to drink New York City tap water in areas with flooding.
