Q15

For any yes/no questions you answered "qualified" please explain:

I have been subjected to various complaints that have either been dismissed or in which I received a written warning.

Q16

Please describe your background (education, employment, community and civic activity, labor union affiliation etc.)

I'm a proud first generation American, the daughter of immigrants, a first-time mom, and a woman of color. I grew up working the orchards of central Washington with my family, earning my first paycheck at age 8. My lived experiences inspired me to pursue a career fighting for justice. After graduating from WSU and earning my JD from Seattle University School of Law, I became a civil rights attorney and fought for victims of sexual assault and police brutality. In 2015 I became the first Latinx person ever elected to a citywide position in Seattle.

Q17

Please describe your history of involvement (if any), with particular emphasis on the last five years, in local, regional, and/or state politics.

In 2014, I served as Legal Counsel to former Seattle Mayor Ed Murray for approximately 10 months before leaving that post to run for office. In 2015, I was elected to the Seattle City Council and re-elected in 2017; both times I was elected citywide with over 70% of the vote in a crowded primary. In 2020, my colleagues unanimously elected me to serve as Council President. I am currently completing my second full-term on the City Council.

Q18

Please describe the progress of your campaign and goals. How do you plan to win?

Our campaign is going to win with a diverse coalition including labor union members and other working people, people of color, LGBTQ people, and young people. We are currently working to get our message out through direct voter contact and will be doing targeted paid media closer to the election. We are proud to have the support of Congresswoman Pramila Jayapal, Sen. Rebecca Saldaña, Rep. Liz Berry, Rep. Nicole Macri, Seattle City Councilmembers Lisa Herbold, Tammy Morales, Teresa Mosqueda, and Andrew Lewis, and former Seattle City Councilmember Mike O'Brien, UFCW Local 21, Unite Here Local 8, and the Latino Victory Fund. We also have the support of many community members and leaders.

Q19

What issues do you think deserve more attention from media or elected officials? How would you seek to remedy that through your campaign or when elected?

Income inequality in our city is an issue that needs more attention. I'm proud to be supported by UFCW 21 and Unite Here 8 as the only labor endorsed candidate in this race. They are supporting me because I have a record of accomplishments that raise the standard of living for working people. As Mayor, I will appoint a Deputy Mayor of Labor & Workforce to work with labor to ensure they are actively included in policy-making decisions.

Q20

How do you plan to involve all residents and engage all communities in the decision making process? How would you work with people who lack trust in our institutions?

Community feedback is critical to the work of any elected official. As a councilmember, I have defined community feedback as seeking the input of the people who are closest to the issue being considered, and that is what I would do as Mayor. Whether it's homelessness, mental health, police violence or any other issue, I believe that we need to reach deep into that community not just to check the box but to take advantage of the subject matter expertise that exists in that community. I also believe that the labor of providing community feedback should be compensated, just as the city currently compensates professional consultants to evaluate policy.

Q21

COVID has increased existing inequities. How will you use your office to support the most vulnerable? How would you promote an equitable recovery and create opportunity for all?

COVID19 has exposed and deepened the wealth gap and income inequalities that many of us felt for years leading up to this most recent economic crisis. Simply going back to the way things were before COVID will not solve this problem. That's why I will fight for a new normal that prioritizes progressive revenue, elevates labor standards, creates pathways to college and careers through expansion of programs, like Seattle Promise, and takes care of our working parents through household supports, such as affordable and accessible childcare and pre-school.

Q22

If elected, how will you use your position to address racial inequality, and advance an anti-racist agenda? How specifically would you support the Black Lives Matter movement?

As a civil rights lawyer, much of what I did involved getting justice for people who were subjected to egregious acts of discrimination. And, as a woman of color and the daughter of immigrants, I know first hand how discrimination feels and how our systems of government perpetuate inequities. Representation in our local government matters, not simply because of the demographics, but because the personal experiences of diverse elected officials will make a deep impact on the policies that impact us the most. It also means that those in positional power will seek input from underrepresented communities when proposing policies and making investment choices. That very much includes the Black Lives Matter movement, whose input I will seek on policy in my administration.

The City's commitment to racial equity should not just live in an Executive Order. It should be the law of the land. If elected Mayor, I will work to develop an ordinance that would require all departments to comply with the Race and Social Justice Initiative and failure to comply with the initiative would result in budget implications to that department. Rooting out institutional racism cannot be performative. We must put it into action by making it enforceable and holding ourselves accountable to the values and principles we speak.

Page 7: MUNICIPAL CANDIDATES ONLY: Questions for ALL Mayor, City Council, and City Attorney Candidates

Q33

Yes/No Questions for municipal candidates

	Yes / No / Qualified
Do you support maintaining or increasing the minimum wage to reflect the cost of living in your city / jurisdiction?	Yes
Do you support raising revenue at the city level to expand transit service?	Yes
Do you support requiring bid requests to include local hiring preference or apprenticeship preference?	Yes
Do you support development impact fees to help pay for schools, roads, and parks, as allowed under the Growth Management Act?	Yes
Do you support building a municipally owned and operated broadband system in your city?	Yes
Do you agree that municipal governments should use their borrowing capacity to fund additional units of affordable housing?	Yes
Do you support requiring police officers in your jurisdiction to wear body cameras?	Yes
Do you support your municipality implementing a "Ban the Box" program as is already in place in Seattle and Spokane?	Yes
Have you made any non-trivial donations to Democratic candidates or Democratic party organizations since January 2016?	Yes
Have you knowingly made any donations to Republican candidates or Republican party organizations since 2000?	No
Do you support reduction of police budgets in favor of social services?	Yes

For any yes/no questions you answered "qualified" please explain:

Q35

Our region is growing quickly. How will you ensure that existing residents and newcomers alike have equitable access to affordable housing, public transit, and neighborhood amenities such as parks and schools? How will you protect current residents, and especially our most vulnerable communities, from displacement caused by this growth? How will you provide for and protect those displaced?

As Mayor I would support policies to help people stay in their homes, including rental assistance to prevent evictions, increased tenant protections, and pathways to ownership. I would also work to re-tool the Mandatory Housing Affordability Program so that more for-profit developers are incentivized to build affordable housing. I have also supported progressive taxation of big businesses to build more affordable housing and would continue to support it as mayor.

Q36

How have you worked to combat climate change? How would you use your elected office to ensure your region drastically lowers net carbon emissions by 2030 and achieves carbon neutrality by 2050?

Yes. In 2020, I restored the current Mayor's proposed cuts to the Office of Sustainability & Environment's green buildings program and services. Office and commercial buildings are the second largest contributor to Seattle's carbon emissions and it was important to me to restore this programmatic funding in order to avoid losing more time on impacting the effects of carbon emission caused by our office and commercial buildings. Additionally, the most important thing we need to do in order to reduce climate emissions is to invest in public transportation infrastructure and reduce the use of single occupancy vehicles. The City of Seattle has set a goal to reduce 2008 emissions levels by 58% by 2030. And while we have substantial work to do across the board, vehicle emissions is an area where we have made virtually no progress. The next Mayor has to be committed to investing in our public transportation infrastructure if we are going to even come close to meeting the goals that we set out to in 2008.

Q37

What specific actions will you take to address the homelessness crisis in King County, both in the short term and long term? How do you plan to implement these solutions?

Solving the homelessness crisis requires experienced leadership to get it done. We know there are solutions that work, many of which I outline below.

But coming up with ideas is not the next mayor's primary challenge - the challenge is scaling those solutions to be effective long term. The next mayor must be someone who can bring the council, business, labor, county, state, federal officials and other stakeholders together to find additional resources to fund the solutions at a scale that meets the challenge, without cutting other essential city services. As Mayor, I will hire a Deputy Mayor of Housing & Human Services, who will be my partner on solving for and prioritizing solutions to end this humanitarian crisis every day of my administration.

Specific Solutions:

Addressing the Needs of Those Experiencing Visible and Chronic Homelessness: As mayor, I will advance a human- and trauma-centered approach that focuses the city's resources on transitioning those living in our parks, greenways and sidewalks to an authorized alternative. We do this by doing the following:

- Focus on critical geographic areas that have a high-concentration of individuals experiencing
- homelessness;
- Leverage mutual aid networks to meet the basic human needs of those living in those critical geographic areas;
- Together with human service and housing providers and members of the HOPE Team, develop a specific and detailed transition plan for the people living in that location.
- Address neighborhood impacts related to unsheltered living.

Effective Crisis Response System: As Mayor, I will increase the existing capacity of the emergency shelter system to provide a network of interventions suitable for each individual experiencing homelessness, including the following harm-reduction and evidence-based interventions:

- Strategically acquire non-congregate shelter structures, including single-room occupancy structures, motels and hotels, to increase the capacity of the emergency shelter system and to specifically address the high-barrier, chronically homeless population;
- Increase tiny home villages in every district of the city; and,
- Leverage federal FEMA funding to house homeless people who are at ongoing risk of COVID-19 exposure and are difficult to reach for vaccinations.

Rapid & Transitional Housing: As Mayor, I will increase rapid rehousing and transitional housing inventory to provide individuals transitioning out of homelessness a stable and supportive environment to stabilize their income and address issues of substance abuse, mental health, and other barriers to housing.

Affordable & Permanent Supportive Housing:

- Significantly increase permanent supportive housing for those experiencing chronic homelessness and who often need long-term rental assistance, case management and mental/behavioral health and substance use disorder treatment;
- Rental Assistance to prevent evictions;
- Strengthen Tenant Protections to mitigate against unjust evictions;
- Create Pathways to Home Ownership, including ownership of multifamily housing choices; and,
- Re-evaluate the City's Mandatory Housing Affordability program to make to further incentivize for-profit developers to build more deeply affordable housing on-site now

Mental Health & Substance Use Services: Washington State is ranked 46th in the nation for adult access to mental health treatment. The City of Seattle does not directly provide mental, behavioral or substance use disorder treatment programming or services. Rather, these services are ordinarily provided via the King County Public Health agency, of which Seattle is a funder of enhanced services that do not include mental, behavioral or substance use disorder treatment. As Mayor, I will advocate for additional federal, state and county funding for mental, behavioral and substance use disorder treatment in Seattle-King County and will also work with those regional partners to ensure a strong focus on racial equity in programming and ensure that the system is accessible to those who need it.

Access to Jobs and Income: Through public-private partners, and labor partners, create and improve pathways to employment for low-skilled, entry level workers through investments in subsidized employment and programs funded under programs such as the Workforce Investment and Opportunity Act (WIOA). Additionally, as Mayor I would look to offer childcare, transportation assistance and other supports to reduce household barriers to accessing and sustaining employment.

Q38

"Structural racism is not always caused by racist actors – it is caused by institutional arrangements overlaid on historical policies that continue to perpetuate racialized outcomes." - Stephen Menendian How would you use your position to work to dismantle these arrangements including, but not limited to, exclusionary land use policies?

Reforming racist exclusionary zoning laws would be a top priority of my administration. Additionally, changing our policing practices is a critical part of combating institutional racism in our city government. As a councilmember, I've expanded civilian oversight of the police department, making it easier to sue the police for wrongdoing, and started demilitarizing the police force and shifting resources into critical social and human services, including supporting participatory budgeting. The next Mayor will be responsible for appointing a new police chief, negotiating a new contract with the Police Officers' Guild, fulfilling a commitment to participatory budgeting and further reducing the size of the police department and laying out a vision for how we re-imagine policing in our city. My experience not only as an elected official, but also as a civil rights attorney, who fought for victims of police abuse, will guide how I approach these critical decisions.

Do you support the proposed "Clean Campaigns Act" from 2019?	Yes
Are you supportive of the Law Enforcement Assisted Diversion (LEAD) program?	Yes
(Question removed)
Will you commit to ending the ban on apartments and condos on Seattle's residential land, thereby allowing more housing types, such as triplexes, town homes, and small apartment buildings, to be built across the city?	Yes

Q41

For any yes/no questions you answered "qualified" please explain:

Congestion pricing is something I am willing to consider, but I want to ensure that any new sources of revenue are progressive and that they do not add to the financial burden of working people. I also believe that it will be critical for the next Mayor to build a strong coalition before rolling out and implementing such a significant policy proposal.

Q42

What actions would you take to address homelessness? Please consider addressing land use, revenue, regional collaboration, the role of social services, the role of the police and justice system.

Solving the homelessness crisis requires experienced leadership to get it done. We know there are solutions that work, many of which I outline below.

But coming up with ideas is not the next mayor's primary challenge - the challenge is scaling those solutions to be effective long term. Q43

Seattleites are divided on how to fund and what to fund within police work and public safety. How would you help bring the community together and adjust the Seattle Police Department (SPD) budget as needed? By approximately what % would you adjust the SPD budget?

As a councilmember, I supported a near 20% reduction in SPD's budget. I stand by those budget choices, including my vote to overturn the current Mayor's veto of the Council's budget reductions. The city is currently conducting a review of the SPD budget and considering what functions could be transferred to civilian departments. I'm not going to say precisely what percent I believe should be cut until this process is complete. But, presumably, that analysis will lead to additional proposed reductions of functions that would reduce the budget of the department. What I can say is that the SPD budget has gone unchallenged for far too long and the details have been hidden even from elected officials. This will not happen under my administration.

Q44

How will you prioritize transportation infrastructure for biking, pedestrians, transit, commercial vehicles, and cars? Which do you view as most important to prioritize funds for?

Single occupancy vehicles are the largest contributor to climate change and reducing their usage is to improve our city and our quality of life. As Mayor, I would prioritize making the city more accessible for cyclists and pedestrians and invest in public transit infrastructure, including expanding our free public transit.

Q45

Do you support utilizing Seattle's newly granted authority to implement a 1% flat income tax?

I would support using this authority, however, I would work with a coalition to ensure that we introduce lawful progressivity into the income tax proposal (i.e., working families tax credit, etc.).
