INTRODUCTION

As the world changes drastically around us, it is more important than ever to make our voices heard at the polls on November 4th.

The hope inspired by the revolutions that swept across the Arab world four years ago has turned into a desperate and urgent fear of violent extremists threatening the entire region. The Israeli-Palestinian conflict saw yet another cycle of failed negotiations coupled with tragedy and violence; now a just resolution appears further away than it has been in decades. The wars in Iraq and Syria continue to tear apart whole societies and fundamentally redefine the role of the global community.

At home, our government has yet to achieve the right balance between protecting our national security and preserving our civil liberties. We have seen countless accounts of alarming, intrusive surveillance programs targeting our community that violate our constitutionally guaranteed rights as equal citizens. Hard won momentum pushing forward immigration reform stalled and another session of congress will end without enacting much needed reform of our immigration system.

The coming election will have to address all these questions and more, and your vote will shape the direction of this country for decades to come. Our community has been a part of the national conversation on these issues and it is critical that we get to the ballot box in November. We have compiled this Voter Guide to help you educate yourself before going to the polls. It contains important information about the voting process in your state and contact information for parties and candidates.

As our community of nearly 4 million Arab Americans continues to grow both in size and in political prominence, we remain focused and committed to the empowerment of our community and the betterment of our nation. For many, that begins at the ballot box. Use this guide, share it, and Yalla Vote!
According to the latest US Census Bureau data, over 91,000 Arab Americans live in Texas. However, we estimate that due to undercounting, Texas actually boasts a vibrant Arab American community numbering close to 275,000. This November, Texas will hold elections for a seat in the U.S. Senate, for all seats in the U.S. House of Representatives, and for the Texas State Governor. Voter ID requirements passed in 2011 are in effect this election year in Texas, despite the fact that the law is currently being challenged in federal court.

The gubernatorial election is high-stakes and high-profile, with the Democratic State Senator and marathon-filibusterer Wendy Davis facing off against current Attorney General Greg Abbott on the Republican side. The election will fill the void left by Republican Governor Rick Perry, who stepped down from his long-held position and potentially positions himself for a 2016 run for president. Wendy Davis is pro-choice, pursues environmental protection and climate regulations, and has stated that she would support open carry gun laws. Greg Abbott opposes the Affordable Care Act, wants to reign in the Environmental Protection Agency, and is pro-life.

The competition for the U.S. Senate seat has already taken a few interesting turns. In the Democratic primary, Arab American David Alameel defeated Keshia Rogers, who supported calls for Obama’s impeachment and depicted Obama with a Hitler moustache in campaign signs. Alameel’s win came after a year of his own money into the race, more than any other candidate this year. He goes on to face incumbent Republican John Cornyn. Cornyn opposed the Gang of 8 immigration bill this past year and pressed for border security and protection legislation. He also supported efforts to sanction discriminatory treatment of U.S. citizens traveling to Israel and Palestine and legislation that limited U.N. efforts as a result of recognizing Palestinian statehood. Still, no Democratic candidate has won a state-wide race since 1994.

In a surprising primary upset, long-time representative of Texas’ fourth district, Ralph Hall (R) was defeated by John Ratcliffe, a Tea Party challenger who faces no opposition in his candidacy in the General Election this November. In Texas generally, conservative Tea Party candidates are receiving significant attention, as seen through Hall’s ouster and in the race for the Attorney General, where Tea Party favorite Ken Paxton won the GOP nomination.

Abbott and Cornyn are expected to comfortably win in November, but demographic shifts in Texas as well as the multitude of state-wide issues raise the stakes of governance after the elections. Recent polls show the gubernatorial race slightly closer than it was earlier in the year. The recent border crisis has led headlines and immigration reform remains a key divisive issue in Texas. One battleground where these issues are playing out is Texas’ expansive 23rd District in the southwest, where Democrat incumbent Pete Gallego faces Republican challenger Will Hurd. After redistricting increased the Hispanic population of the 23rd, the district is now more competitive. Polls show it leaning Democrat this cycle, but the race will be decided entirely by which party can secure higher voter turnout.

While not necessarily unexpected from some Texas politicians, there has been increasing hostility toward President Obama’s policies as well as controversial statements regarding U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East. District 1 incumbent Rep. Louie Gohmert doubled down in his support for Israel during the latest Gaza crisis following AAI’s request for a statement on the death of teenager Mohammad Abu Khdeir, which he deemed a “heinous murder” while condemning all Palestinians for “allowing murderers to get away with their heinous crimes.”

More recently, Gohmert said President Obama has “consistently chosen to choose the side of radical Islamists” in the region and that “if you’re Commander-in-Chief, you can’t be listening to Muslim brother advice on when it’s time to stop destroying Muslim brothers.” Besides the ridiculousness of his arguments, Gohmert’s troubling used rhetoric to critique the White House’s foreign policies is offensive and unhelpful.

Deadlines

The Voter Registration deadline is October 6, 2014

Application for Absentee Ballot must be received by October 24, 2014 and completed Absentee Ballots must be received by 7 PM on Election Day

Register to Vote

The deadline to register and be eligible to vote in the November 4 General Election is October 6, 2014. This can be either the postmark date or the date the application is received in the office of the voter registrar. You may, of course, register at any time before that date to ensure that your registration is effective for voting in November. You can obtain a voter registration application from your voter registrar’s office, libraries, most post offices, and high schools. You can also download a Voter Registration Application online and mail it in. The application is available at https://webservices.sos.state.tx.us/vrapp/index.asp

Absentee Voting

A voter may request an application for an absentee ballot by mail from the Early Voting Clerk in the political subdivision conducting the election. Once received, the voter should read the instructions carefully, complete the application form and return it to the Early Voting Clerk. Absentee ballot applications must be received by the close of business on Friday, October 24, 2014 and the voted absentee ballot must be received by 7 PM on Election Day.

You may vote absentee in Texas if you are:

- going to be away from your county on election day and during early voting;
- sick or disabled;
- 65 years of age or older on election day; or
- confined in jail, but eligible to vote.

You can find an application for an absentee ballot online at http://www.sos.state.tx.us/elections/voter/reqabbm.shtml

Early Voting

Texas enables residents to vote in-person ahead of Election Day to make the voting process more convenient and accessible. Contact your county elections office for your designated early-voting site, as these locations are sometimes different than Election Day polling places.

Early voting OPENS October 20th
STATE ELECTION INFORMATION

Early voting CLOSES October 31st

AT THE POLLS

Upon registration, you will be mailed a voter registration certificate or card with your name, address, and the number of your voting precinct. On voting day, show your voter registration card or a valid I.D. from the list below:

- Texas driver’s license issued by the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS);
- Texas Election Identification Certificate issued by DPS;
- Texas personal identification card issued by DPS;
- Texas concealed handgun license issued by DPS;
- United States military identification card containing the person’s photograph;
- United States citizenship certificate containing the person’s photograph;
- United States passport

Voters who have a consistent religious objection to being photographed may vote a provisional ballot. In order for the ballot to be counted, they must go to the voter registrar’s office within (6) days to sign a sworn affidavit swearing to the religious objection.

NEW Voter ID Requirements

Texas voters are now required to present an approved form of photo identification in order to vote in all Texas Elections.

In Texas, acceptable forms of photo ID are:

- Texas driver’s license issued by the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS)
- Texas Election Identification Certificate issued by DPS
- Texas personal identification card issued by DPS
- Texas concealed handgun license issued by DPS
- United States military identification card containing the person’s photograph
- United States citizenship certificate containing the person’s photograph
- United States passport

When a voter arrives at a polling location, the voter will be asked to present one of the seven acceptable forms of photo ID listed above. If the name on the ID matches the name on the list of registered voters, the voter will follow the regular procedures for voting.

If the name does not match exactly but is “substantially similar” to the name on the list of registered voters, the voter will be permitted to vote as long as the voter signs an affidavit stating that the voter is the same person on the list of registered voters.

If a voter does not have proper identification, the voter will still be permitted to vote provisionally. The voter will have 6 days to present proper identification to the county voter registrar, or the voter’s ballot will be rejected.

Registration for Groups with Special Needs

The following accommodations are available to increase ballot accessibility for all voters, including elderly voters, voters with disabilities, and voters who do not read or speak English or Spanish.

- You may be assisted by a person of your choice, by two election workers on Election Day, or by one election worker during early voting. You may NOT be assisted by your employer, an agent of your employer, or an officer or agent of your union.

- The person assisting you must read the entire ballot to you, unless you request that only certain parts of the ballot be read aloud.
- The person assisting you must take an oath that he or she will not try to influence your vote, will mark your ballot as you direct, and will not tell anyone how you voted.
- If you choose to be assisted by polling place officials, then poll watchers and/or state and federal election inspectors may observe the voting process to make sure the ballot is marked as you request. If you are assisted by a person of your choosing, no one else may watch you vote.
- If you cannot speak English, or if you communicate only with sign language, you may select any registered voter of your county to help you communicate with election officials. If you cannot read the languages on the ballot, your interpreter may translate the ballot for you in the voting booth.
- If you are physically unable to enter the polling place, you may ask that an election officer bring a ballot to you at the entrance of the polling place or to your car at curbside. After you mark the ballot, give it to the election officer to put it in the ballot box, or hand it to a companion to deposit in the ballot box for you.
- If you plan to go alone to vote curbside, it is wise to call ahead so election officials will expect you. Generally speaking, you may vote curbside during the early voting period (the 17th day before Election Day until the 4th day before Election Day) or on Election Day.

Convicted Felons

In Texas, convicted felons regain the right to vote after completing his or her sentence. After completing the punishment phase (including any term of incarceration, parole, or supervision, or completed a period of probation ordered by the court), former felons are eligible to register and vote.

Campaigning and the Polls

On the day of any primary, referendum or election, no person shall solicit in behalf of or in opposition to the candidacy of another or himself or in behalf of or in opposition to any question being submitted at the election or referendum within a radius of 100 feet of any outside entrance in use as an entry to any polling place or in any corridor, passageway or other approach leading from any such entrance outside entrance to such polling place or in any room opening upon any such corridor, passageway or approach, except as provided in section. The selectmen shall provide suitable markers to indicate the 75 foot distance from such entrance.

Poll Watchers

Any citizen may go to a polling place and observe. The poll watcher watches to see if any violations of the election laws occur. If such a violation occurs, the poll watcher is to inform the election board of the violation. The election board consists of the poll workers. Uniformed law enforcement officers are not allowed to be poll watchers. Poll watchers are responsible for supplying any necessities or materials needed while at the polls, i.e. chairs, tables, writing materials, etc. They cannot use the poll workers’ supplies.

The poll watcher may not interfere with or impede the conduct of any election. He/she should come no closer to the official table or the voting booths than is reasonably necessary. Unless there is an observation of questionable nature, the poll watcher is not permitted to speak to the election board or voter.

Things poll watchers may do:
1. The first poll watcher of the Election Day has the right to see that the ballot box is empty before the first ballot is cast.

2. A poll watcher may observe the distribution of the ballot to the voter and after the voter has voted the depositing of ballot into the ballot box.

3. If the poll watcher observes what he thinks might be a violation, he/she may question a voter’s privilege by stating his/her case to the election board. Remember, the election board consists of the poll workers at that precinct.

4. The poll watcher may observe the closing procedures when the polls close. A poll watcher is not allowed to talk to any person in the polling place except when questioning a procedure.

No poll watcher may wear anything advertising a candidacy or promoting for or against an issue. Poll watchers are official observers only. They may observe the conduct of the election before, during and after the polls close. The election board is the sole authority in the polling place on Election Day. No person, except the board, may handle or touch election supplies and materials. If the poll watcher feels that a violation has taken place during an election, the poll watcher must notify the election board. Electioneering, campaigning or solicitation within 100 feet of the entrance to the polling room is prohibited.
Greg Abbot is the Republican candidate for Texas’ Governor, a seat vacated by Rick Perry. Abbot served as the Associate Justice of the Texas Supreme Court from 1995-2001, after which he assumed the office of Attorney General of Texas.
