Standard Version of Monopoly
10 Players

FACILITATOR'S NOTES

It's not fair! That's the kind of statement you will likely be hearing while you facilitate this socially-stratified version of Monopoly. This game has been modified using global population statistics to highlight the impact of inequality and injustice on wealth and resource acquisition, opportunity and life outcomes and help participants realise the limitations of charity when it comes to addressing global poverty.

Unlike the standard version of Monopoly, this version will show players that in reality the world is not a level playing field – people don't all start at 'Go' with the same amount of money in the bank and the same privileges – instead, people experience numerous inequalities that affect their starting point, ability to make meaningful choices throughout their life, and ability to independently rise out of poverty. This game therefore highlights how poverty is the result of structural injustice and global inequalities (in areas such as race, gender, socioeconomic status, education and ability/disability) that exist in our world.

The global statistics have been taken from 'If the World Were 100 People' material, which condenses the statistics of 7 billion people into 100 people. In this game the statistics have been further condensed to 10 statistically representational profiles, which outline each player's social class and related privileges or disadvantage. To give players an understanding of the concept it is a good idea to show them the 'If the World Were 100 People' video clip before you play. More information around the statistics can also be found on the 100 People website.

SET-UP & PLAY

- Set-up the board ready for play.
  - You will need to print and cut out all of the required pieces – profiles, Chance cards, Community Chest cards, Get out of Debt cards and Mercy cards. The Chance and Community Chest cards replace the regular Monopoly cards. The regular Monopoly houses, money and tokens are used.
  - Distribute each player's houses, money and Mercy cards according to their profiles.
- Make sure players are seated from 1 to 10 as they will have their turns in this order.
- Read the game rules to players and play accordingly.
  - Tip: If there is any discrepancy or questions about the rules, point players back to the rule that the upper class clarify any unclear rules at their discretion. This will help to keep the game moving quickly and reinforce the idea that the upper class has much more voice and power than other classes.
- Choose how you will end the game – either after a time limit (30-60 minutes is recommended), until most players are in debt or you feel the message of the game has been clearly communicated.

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

Once the game has finished, guide the players through some reflective questions to draw out what they have learned through the game. The kinds of things you might be looking to draw out include:

- The world is not a level playing field;
- Poverty is more complex than a lack of wealth/resources;
- Injustice and inequality are at the core of poverty;
- There is a difference between charity and justice (charity is a 'band-aid' solution; it doesn't change the unjust situation/inequality someone is experiencing); and
- The most marginalised and vulnerable people experience the most structural injustice.

Questions for the group:

1. Who was able to improve their social position/increase their wealth?
2. What did the rich have to do to win?
3. What would the poor have had to do to make it in this game?

Questions for the poor:

1. How did you feel playing the game?
2. Why didn't you become wealthy?
3. What kind of intervention would you want from someone outside of your group? (Desired answers: treated equal, fair opportunities, a break, justice, equality).
4. Did charity (mercy cards) solve your problem? Why not?
5. What did you really want? Justice or charity?

IT'S NOT FAIR MONOPOLY GAME RULES

OBJECT:	The object of the game is to become successful, which is measured by wealth and asset ownership as well as avoiding poverty and bankruptcy.
BACKGROUND:	Player profiles are based on the 'If the World were 100 People' statistics, which we have consolidated down to 10 people for this game. The rules, chance cards and community chest all reveal how inequality affects opportunity and life outcomes across social classes. The scenarios are drawn from statistics, real life cases and information gathered from ACCIR's project partners.
PREPARATION:	Each player has a profile which explains the amount of money and properties they receive at the beginning of the game. Read each profile to the group before play.
THE BANK:	The two upper class people collectively own the Bank, including cash and unallocated properties. They also have their own personal funds and properties, but can dip into the bank's cash reserves in the event that their personal funds are depleted.
START OF PLAY:	Players start at different points on the board as per profile. Order of play is from player 1 through to 10.
PASS GO:	Each time a player passes GO refer to profile for instruction.
BUYING PROPERTY:	Whenever you land on unowned property you may buy it from the Bank. If you do not wish to buy the property, the Bank sells it through an auction to the highest bidder above the sale price. You can buy properties in the first round.
PAYING RENT:	When you land on an owned property, the owner collects the rent. The owner cannot collect rent if they fail to ask for it before the next player rolls. If the player is unable to pay rent, refer to 'Get out of Debt' and 'Mercy' card rules.  The standard Monopoly rules apply for owning a whole colour set of properties, buying houses/hotels and mortgaging properties.
CHANCE &amp; COMMUNITY CHEST CARDS:	When you land on either of these spaces, take a card and begin reading the scenario. The cards list responses for all players. All players must complete the action stated.
GET OUT OF DEBT CARDS:	When a lower class player is unable to pay a debt they may pick up a 'Get out of Debt' card. The bank pays the debt in exchange for the scenario on the card. The player keeps the card and follows the instructions.
MERCY CARDS:	An upper or middle class player can show mercy to a lower class player that owes them money by giving them a 'Mercy' card. The card forgives the debt completely. The upper or middle class player also gives them a charitable donation.
INCOME TAX:	If you land on 'Income Tax' pay the bank $200. Players 7-10 are exempt on the basis of having no formal employment.
JAIL:	Different rules apply for each class when instructed to go to jail:  Upper class: Immediately roll the dice and only go to jail if you roll an odd number. If in jail, on the next or any following turn you can pay $50 to get out or can remain until you roll an even number.  Middle class: Go directly to jail. On the next or any following turn you can pay $50 to get out or can remain until you roll an even number.  Lower class: Go directly to jail. Remain there until you roll a double.  All classes: The maximum time spent in jail is 3 turns. On your 3 rd turn move to 'Just Visiting'.
FREE PARKING:	A player landing on this place does not receive anything. This is just a free resting-place.
ADDITIONAL RULES:	It is against the rules to complain about the rules. The sentence is going to jail. Refer to 'Jail' instructions in order to be released.  Any unclear rules will be clarified by the upper class, at their discretion.
END OF GAME:	When end of play is called briefly assess each player's financial and social position (including the scenarios from their 'Get out of Debt' cards), taking note of how their starting point and profile impacted their end position.  As the upper class are the Bank, monies and any properties in the bank are divided according to the gender-related pay gap (upper class male 56%, upper class female 44%). THE RICHEST PLAYER WINS!
