Too many working women are struggling to keep their head above water.

The gender pay gap and the resulting gap in retirement savings means that huge numbers of women face retiring into poverty. Action is needed now.

The Morrison Government has cut penalty rates, failed to act to end wage theft. These actions have impacted on women and young workers the hardest. They've refused to introduce paid Family and Domestic Violence Leave.

The cost of living and household bills keep rising but pay rises for working people are at record lows.

At the same time the Morrison Government wants to give the big banks a $17 billion tax cut and CEO pay is up.

The system is out of balance.

Big business has too much power and employers can just say no to fair pay rises.

The rules that made sure working people got fair pay rises are broken.

We need new rules to rebalance the system.

Working women need rights at work that give them the power they need to win pay rises.

Australia needs a pay rise. Women need a pay rise.

We need to Change the Rules so working women get their fair share.
