Australia needs a pay rise

Too many working people are struggling to keep their head above water.

Profits are up. Household bills are up. CEO pay is up. But pay rises for working people are at record lows.

The system is out of balance.

Big business has too much power and employers can just say no to fair pay rises.

Scott Morrison is making it worse by cutting penalty rates and giving big business even more power.

The rules that made sure working people got fair pay rises are broken.

We need new rules to rebalance the system.

Working people need rights at work that give them the power they need to win pay rises and to protect them against unfair pay cuts.

Australia needs a pay rise.

We need to Change the Rules so working people get their fair share.
