

Only 1 in 3 Albertans will have a secure retirement

*In our wealthy province,
we can do better.*

Alison Redford was elected with a promise to be different. When she was Justice Minister, she supported more secure retirement options for Albertans.

Now, Redford is attacking pensions for hundreds of thousands of hardworking Albertans in the public sector.

That's not all. She's also one of only two provincial premiers blocking a better Canada Pension Plan (CPP) for all Canadians.

We can do better.

We need an expanded Canada Pension Plan so that all Canadians can retire in dignity, not poverty.

This week, Alison Redford has an historic opportunity to build a better Alberta and a better Canada with an expanded CPP.

We invite her to make history.
