COMMENTS (if needed, attach additional sheet bearing candidate's signature):

As Alaska's Attorney General and Commissioner of the Department of natural resources, I pursued a variety of pro-family policies. I defended parental notifications laws and protected parental rights. I spear headed the Choose Respect campaign to combat Alaska's high rates of domestic violence against women and children. I also championed policies of less government, more economic freedom that fostered economic opportunity and job growth. A strong economy and job opportunities lead to strong families and hope in communities.
