West Toronto Railpath Extension

Environmental Assessment Public Event #2

The City of Toronto has determined a preferred route for extending the West Toronto Railpath from Dundas Street West, along the Kitchener Go rail corridor, to beyond Strachan Avenue and the planned Fort York Pedestrian & Cycle Bridge. Join us for a public event to learn more about this exciting project and provide your feedback.

Background

The existing West Toronto Railpath is a multi-use trail that runs from Cariboo Avenue (just north of Dupont) to the Dundas Street West Overpass along the rail corridor. This study is developing a design for extending the Railpath south easterly towards downtown Toronto with connections to surrounding communities. The route consists of a combination of city streets, rail corridors, and bridge crossings over existing streets. Once completed, the Railpath will extend an additional three kilometres towards downtown, providing a wide range of active transportation and recreation opportunities between the Junction (Dundas Street West & Dupont Street) and the Stanley Park area.

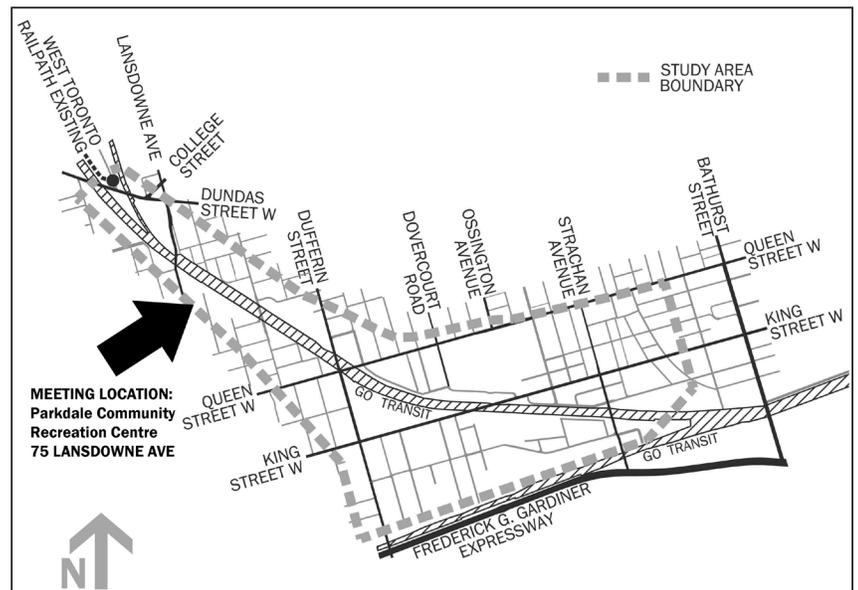

The Process

The study is being carried out in accordance with the requirements of the Environmental Assessment Act and will provide opportunities for public input at key stages.

We would like to hear from you

This is the second of two public meetings for this study. The first meeting was held on June 26, 2013 to receive feedback on preliminary route options and technical challenges. We are now asking for your input into the preferred option. For more information, please contact:
