

Sign: Don't Send 79-Year-Old Woman To Jail For Feeding Cats!

Judge Jennifer Weiler was off during the week that Magistrate Short imposed a 10-day jail sentence for Nancy Segula. His sentence has generated a deluge of controversy - enough so that Judge Weiler wants a new day in court to hear all sides of the story, and to determine if Nancy truly must be sent to jail for feeding the stray cats that come to her home.

Segula should not be held in jail like a common criminal - she has been feeding the cats out of kindness, and now she may have to pay for her compassion in a particularly cruel manner. Please join us in asking Judge Weiler to overturn the jail sentence. We are also requesting the Garfield Heights Animal Control to step up to assist Segula with finding new homes for the stray cats who are in her neighborhood. Sending Segula to jail does NOTHING to remedy the stray cat problem and it is a waste of tax dollars.

More about this situation at the Pet Rescue Report.

9. Gina Lutes	OH	I think that this sentence is absolutely cruel and ridiculous. I am the executive director of an animal rescue. I see people getting away with hurting and killing animals every day and they don't get a slap on the wrist. This lady was trying to be kind and care for animals who relied on her to feed them. Several rescues are willing and planning to spay and neuter these cats. If you research trap neuter release program you will see it is extremely successful. This program consists of trapping these cats spaying and neutering them and then continuing to have the person who has been feeding them feed them. It will keep them in the same area and keep any other new cats from coming around. This sentence is bizarre and unwarranted on every level .

The world is getting stupid!!

How is it ok to sentence a good elder for caring enough to feed stray cats so they don't go hungry after being abandoned by previous owner. Animal Control should step up to assist her in finding homes or, at least, free spaying. C'mon Judge what are you thinking? Do not punish someone for being a good, caring person (not ok)! Perhaps if America's law enforcement and judicial system were to concentrate on the real threats to a safe and civilized society, America would not be in the horrifying shambles it is today! It is time for Cuyahoga county to get responsible and work with the animal welfare community to help end the grossly cruel and irresponsible behavior of its citizenry; not persecute members of the community that have compassion and are just trying to help alleviate animal suffering! It is those members of the community abandoning their animals that should be jailed, not Nancy! Jaili g an 79 yr oldlady Crazy TRAP NEUTER RELEASE VATS OR FIND

Also, it is the humane thing to do. You should have a shelter for truly homeless animals where they can be neutered and adopted out. All they want is a loving home Shame on you.
