BRIDGING GENERATIONAL GAPS

ABOUT

Dream Of Music (DOM) that bridges generational gaps through artist panel workshops, music lessons, and live recording sessions. DOM is an after-school music program that offers a platform for music artists of all generations to engage in constructive dialogue while contributing to teachable moments. DOM seeks to inspire bridging the inter-generational divide that is pervasive throughout today's culture creating a disconnect. Our goal is to engage and cultivate stronger relationships between older and newer music artists and to encourage a respectful creative environment. Once an even exchange for teaching and learning has been accomplished, the group will then work together to record a new collective sound of music.

SCOPE

- Goal - DOM seeks partnerships with HOBMFF, Vh1 Save The Music, and ASCAP for access to younger student artists, music legends, venue studio spaces, studio equipment, and music instrument donations for live performances and music production.
- Deliverables - The music program is a 2 day event taking place in May (Q2) and Aug (Q3) once a year beginning 2020.
- Costs - Costs will be covered from LA city grants (ideally). Cost allocations will be distributed to owner, music artists, partnerships, and total costs for each event.
- Tasks - Secure partnerships, sponsorships, donations, and funding; finalize program to meet all party standards and satisfaction; and confirm venue studio locations along with cost estimates.
- Timeline - Partnerships and finalization of pilot program and secured funding (ideally) by Jan 2020. DOM pilot program to execute (ideally) in Spring of 2020 (Q2).

OBJECTIVE

Dream of music that inspires a new sound created by music artists from all generations. We seek to bridge the generational gap by strengthening relationships to create art. At DOM we are aiming to solve the problem of the generational divide within music. All generations have the potential to learn and create incredible music together. Many have argued that some of today's music does not satisfy the standards of music legends from the past. Some have also expressed the disproportion between utilizing live instrumentation versus sound engineering. Furthermore, it is said that the lyrical content in some of today's music lacks love, respect, and honor. The younger generations may rebuttal statements of change in culture and influences of digital technology. This is where DOM steps in. DOM offers a creative environment that welcomes open and honest dialogue, cultivates relationship building, and presents live songwriting and music recording sessions.

OUTCOME

Through the rich history of music, it has the power to close generational gaps by teaching music students the importance of infusing multi-generational sounds and practices while offering tools to empower music artists of all ages to work together collectively.
