

Climate damage is here, now.

Burning coal is heating our planet and harming the people we love. It's killing our reef. Fuelling heatwaves, floods and firestorms. And it's getting worse.

Solutions are here, now.

We know how to power our lives with the wind and sun and store clean energy in batteries. With vision, creativity and care, we can keep enjoying life on this beautiful planet.

We are here, now.

We are the people who will raise our voices and votes for the people we love. And for our rivers, forests, oceans and wildlife. Climate damage stops with us. Right here. Now.

Climate damage
stops with us
Here. Now.

AUSTRALIAN CONSERVATION FOUNDATION

Let's look after our planet for the people we love.

Our strategy

Right across Australia, we're growing a huge campaign for our planet and the people we love. Half a million people are already part of this. If we each talk to two people, that's one million conversations already. Our voices will rumble through our communities and all the way to Parliament House.

Together, let's give our next government no choice but to step up and act. Here. Now. Not later. If they want our votes, our next government must:

Stop Adani's polluting mine

Shift away from digging and burning coal

Switch to 100% clean energy from the sun and wind

One million conversations

Together, we're talking to people everywhere about why this matters and inspiring them to use their voices and votes. We will:

Move friends, family and neighbours through meaningful conversations in person and on social media

Survey people in key places where the vote is close so parties must compete on issues to get elected

Call voters at hundreds of volunteer calling parties to reach masses of people with personal conversations

Raise our voices

We're making sure the politicians who want to represent us know just how many people are prepared to vote to stop climate damage. Together, we will:

Demonstrate this is a vote-changer by showing all parties how many people care in each electorate

Call on candidates to step up and push their parties to stop climate damage and shift to clean energy

Make this campaign visible in streets and in the media to get people talking and show this is a major issue

Use our votes

Together, we'll tell people everywhere how the parties compare so they know what they're really voting for. We will:

Rate the parties' policies in an independent scorecard to help voters make informed choices

Flood key electorates with huge billboards, digital ads and volunteer door-knockers to share the verdict

Stand at polling booths across the country to remind people to vote for our planet and the people we love
