Starting from 12 September, every Australian will receive a survey in the post asking whether our LGBTI family members, friends and neighbours should have the same opportunity to marry as everyone else.

This is a straightforward question of fairness and equality. Every Australian should be equal under the law, and that includes being able to marry the person they love.

Let's make this a unifying moment for the nation as we include all Australians in our marriage laws. Let's get this done. Vote YES.
