

ISM Canada-NTT Data-BCGEU Joint Transition Committee

Communication #1: Announcement of the Joint Transition Committee

The BCGEU, ISM and NTT Data Canada have formed a Joint Transition Committee.

The Joint Transition Committee met for the first time on April 4, 2019, and it was a positive meeting. Although each party has a separate and distinct role to play in the transition, it is clear that all three parties have the intention to work cooperatively and collaboratively as we move through the transition process.

The committee members acknowledge that there is always stress and uncertainty related to change and recognize the importance of being attuned, sensitive and responsive to employees'/BCGEU members' experiences and challenges during the transition.

In this light, the committee will commit to providing regular communication via this Slack RFP channel, and the BCGEU website especially when new information is available. In order for communication to be effective and responsive to employee/BCGEU member concerns and questions, the committee needs you to continue sending us your questions. The committee will provide answers when we have factual answers. For some questions, the answers may not be known until we are farther along in the process, but the committee will provide them when possible. We appreciate your continued patience. We are creating a Q and A bulletin, on this channel, which will include all questions we have received so far and the answers that we have at this time. We expect to have this bulletin to you soon.

For those BCGEU members who prefer not to put their question on the shared Slack Channel, you can send your question or concern to your BCGEU steward Joseph Ivens (jivens@telus.net) and BCGEU Staff Representative Lori Strom (lori.strom@bcgeu.ca).
