

Update # 4

Public service bargaining continues into fifth week

The BCGEU is entering the fifth week of public service bargaining with the B.C. Government, following a full month of negotiations that continued late into last weekend.

“All issues are on the table during this round of bargaining,” said BCGEU president Stephanie Smith. “We worked late into the weekend and we continue to move forward with negotiations on behalf of our members.”

Negotiations are being scheduled to continue this week, as the union works to reach agreement with the Public Service Agency on a number of outstanding issues.
