

Make Public Health Care a Priority in 2017

If enough of us commit to vote for public health care, we can elect a government with a mandate to improve and strengthen accessible public health care in BC. Everyone has a stake in health care and it could be the issue that changes the outcome of this election.

I pledge to vote for a candidate who will strengthen public health care.

I look forward to receiving information about health care and the 2017 Provincial Election.

How it Works:

You sign the pledge joining others in B.C. who have committed to vote for public health care.

We report back to you showing where B.C. candidates and parties stand on key health care issues.

Together, we get out to vote on health care making sure the next government has a mandate to support and strengthen public health care.
