Election Integrity Project, California - Contra Costa County

Election Integrity Project® California (EIPCa) is a non-partisan, non-profit 501 (c) (3) LLC, whose volunteer observers have been monitoring elections in California since 2010. Our Mission is to help defend the integrity of the voting process that protects our freedoms and right to choose our representatives by fair and honest elections. Using EIPCa proprietary training, reporting programs and materials developed specifically for California Election Laws, EIPCa volunteers monitor both polling place voting and election office mail-in ballot processing. EIPCa and 13 Congressional Candidates currently have a lawsuit against California challenging laws, regulations and election practices that have undermined California election integrity, creating an environment ripe for irregularities.
