Tanzie Youngblood is a longtime resident of Woolwich, NJ and a public servant who has dedicated her life to education and expanding opportunities for children. With more than 30 years of experience inside the classroom, Tanzie has brought teachers, parents, and school leaders together to solve problems for some of the most vulnerable children in the community.

She earned a BA in History from Rosemont College; a MA in Elementary Education from Saint Joseph's University; and an MEd in Educational Leadership from Cabrini University.

Tanzie and her husband, the late Willie B. Youngblood, raised two sons Anthony (an active duty service member in the United States Navy), Cameron (a chemistry teacher in Gloucester County, New Jersey), and have two grandsons (Anthony Jr, and Ashton).

Tanzie is running as a Democrat for Congress because she sees too many people in our communities struggling, and politicians in Washington leaving them behind.
