Born and raised in New Jersey, Lacey Rzeszowski lives in Summit. She attended NYU with help from a merit scholarship, graduating Summa Cum Laude with a BA in Political Science. She is a community leader and coalition builder.

Over the past fourteen years Lacey has spearheaded initiatives to serve people in need, protect the environment, conduct arts outreach, and prevent gun violence. She is a proponent of women's health access. An active member of St. John's Lutheran Church, and she and her husband Ed are the proud parents of three sons.

Lacey is the Democratic candidate for State Assembly in the 21st District. Her priorities include:

- Making sure our infrastructure is safe and up-to-date.
- Providing a first-class education for all the students in my district.
- Insisting on accountable government.
- Protecting access to health care, including reproductive health care for women.

As a community leader, Lacey will bring people together to find solutions to put NJ on sound economic footing so that our children can follow their dreams here at home. Lock-step, partisan politics have kept us from making any headway on these fundamental challenges over the past four years. As someone with deep roots in practical, issues-driven public service, a strong work ethic, and an independent mindset, Lacey is qualified and ready to address them on your behalf.

This election is absolutely critical. As we face continued national political upheaval, it is more important than ever to safeguard our quality of life here in New Jersey.

Change Starts Here!
