SCREENING GUIDE

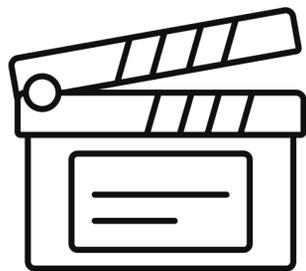

HOW TO HOST YOUR OWN BRAVE NEW FILMS SCREENING

PICK A FILM OR SERIES

Brave New Films has an extensive catalogue of social justice films and series that speak to causes you care about. Whether virtual or in-person, hosting a screening is a great way to educate your community, motivate your constituents to take action, or to raise money for your cause. As a non-profit, we believe access to knowledge and tools is most important, which is why all of our films are free to use with registration:

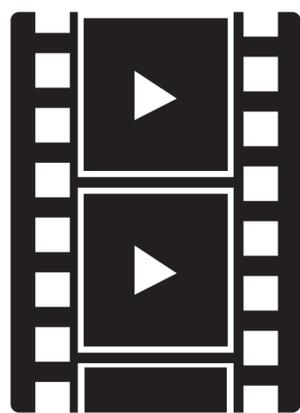

1. Visit www.BraveNewFilms.org/Screenings
2. Choose your film or series
3. Click "HOST A SCREENING" and complete the registration form. Registrants receive a link to the downloadable film and any accompanying resources directly to their inbox.

DESIGN YOUR PROGRAM

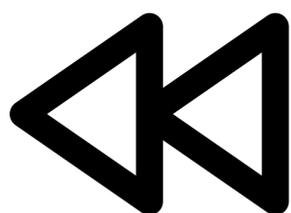

Supplement your screening with ways to provide even more context and encourage your audience to take action. Some examples include:

- Panel discussion with legislators, elected officials, and/or other experts on the subject matter
- Moderated discussion with viewers
- A call to action - voter registration drive, contact lawmakers, attend a council meeting, host an advocacy day, volunteer, and more!

HAVE A GREAT SCREENING!

- Whether virtual, in-person, or both, create a RSVP page and have participants register to attend. If desired, Brave New Films can create an event and send you a personalized link using our page.
- Promote, promote, promote! Brave New Films can provide you with digital assets to use to promote online.
- Check your tech! Be sure to download the film and test for any possible issues. For more information, please see our Technology Guide.
- Open with a powerful introduction - explain the why here, and why now. Talk about the importance of the issue and why a film screening is a powerful tool for change.
- For more inspiration and suggestions, please see our Program and Facilitation Guide.
