To whom it may concern,

I'm Elise Dalley, Impact Director at Australian Progress and lead of our Progress Labs program. Progress Labs is a social movement incubator run in partnership with ACOSS, designed to kick start and support a new generation of people-powered social movements and high impact campaigns.

To date, we've supported 23 organisations through the program, many of whom we still work very closely as part of our Progress Labs capacity building alumni program. We're incredibly proud to support the Climate and Health Alliance as a member of our third cohort of organisations.

Our project partner ACOSS welcomes DRG1 donations made to Progress Labs current cohorts and alumni, including the Climate and Health Alliance.

Please don't hesitate to contact me for any further information about the partnership with ACOSS or their receipt of DGR funds.

Thank you,

Elise Dalley
