I live in Honeyder, County of Humboldt, California and my community of interest is Zone A. The county shares a similar coastal climate and a landscape of redwoods, fir and oak forests and prairies. Our economy is mainly centered around wood products, wine, marijuana production and fishing. As part of this community I wish to remain with similar social and economic groups as opposed to those communities that are more conservative and tied to a different economy.

Sincerely,
Lois F. Juodeika
