The Bayview Hunters Point neighborhood is bounded by highway 101 to the west, 25th street to the north, and the San Francisco Bay to the east.

According to the American Community Survey, Bayview Hunters Point has approximately 37,600 residents with a 39% immigrant population. Bayview Hunters Point's reported race and ethnicity reveal a plurality of Asian residents (39%) with significant Black (28%), Latino (22%), and White (14%) communities. 14% of the community is linguistically isolated with significant Spanish and Asian language speaking households. Additionally, 49% of Bayview Hunters Point residents only have a high school degree or less. The median household income in the Bayview Hunters Point is $55,750 whereas the median household income for San Francisco is over $112,000.

Additionally, Bayview Hunters Point has been historically polluted by various industries resulting in a myriad of environmental issues for the community. According to CalEnviroScreen 3.0, Bayview Hunters Point sees some of the highest rates of asthma, groundwater pollution, hazardous waste pollutants, and number of clean up sites in the state.
