

THE TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL
MARGARET LAURENCE LECTURE

Martha Friendly

Child Care Shouldn't Be Just a Matter of Luck

Martha Friendly is Canada's leading child care advocate and a major architect of policy thinking on child care issues. With over forty years of involvement in child care/early childhood education, she is currently the Executive Director (and founder) of the Childcare Resource and Research Unit (CRRU), Canada's only policy research institute for early childhood education and care.

Tuesday March 10, 7:30pm
Bagnani Lecture Hall, Trail College

A reception will follow in BE at the Trend, Trail College.

The annual Margaret Laurence Lecture brings to Trent a distinguished speaker to address a topic related to Margaret Laurence's own intellectual and political passions: women's involvement in peace, ecology, literature and feminism. Financial support for the 2014-15 lecture is provided by the Gender and Women's Studies Department, the Margaret Laurence Lecture Fund, an anonymous donor, and the Canadian Studies Directorate, Heritage Canada.
