

Using Social Media

Social media can be a great way to highlight an MPP meeting, especially if you share the information with us so that we can like and share it with our followers too.

For example, when Compass Early Learning and Care invited their MPP to visit their centre, they tweeted about the visit with photos and snippets of the discussion. They were sure to ask the MPP's permission first. Note that they kept the posts positive and factual, and centred on the voices of parents and educators that attended the meeting.
