Dear CWC Supporters,

It is with great pleasure we invite you to join Community Water Center’s 6th Annual Water Justice Leadership Awards on Tuesday, March 10, from 5:30-8 p.m. at Mayahuel in downtown Sacramento. This event will be an opportunity to recognize leaders who have worked tirelessly, often against great odds, to ensure the human right of safe drinking water in California.

This year, we are proud to share this year’s honorees, which include:

- Assemblyman Eduardo Garcia
- Melynda Metheney, member of the AGUA Coalition and resident of West Goshen
- Jared Blumenfeld, Secretary of the California Environmental Protection Agency and Wade Crowfoot, Secretary of California Natural Resources Agency, on behalf of the Newsom Administration

We invite you to join us, our community partners, local and statewide elected officials, ally organizations, donors and supporters in recognizing the leadership of this year’s awardees. Progress in this fight has been made possible because of the dedication of our tenacious grassroots base, allies who worked alongside us, funders and donors who trusted and believed in the Center and the movement, and elected officials who embodied true leadership by taking up the fight for water justice.

As we move toward implementation, we know success will be measured on the degree to which local communities are part of the process. Proceeds from events like the Water Justice Leadership Awards provide the resources needed for CWC to ensure communities are engaged, informed and ready to act. More information on how your organization can support can be found on the next page, and we hope to see you there!

With gratitude,

Natalie Garcia-Grazier
