

PUBLIC NOTICE

The State Water Resources Control Board (State Water Board) will hold a series of public meetings seeking recommendations on how to make drinking water affordable for low-income Californians. Anyone with ideas about how to develop and implement a statewide low-income rate assistance program is encouraged to attend and provide comments. We are also interested in hearing about existing rate assistance programs, and whether they have been successful at helping people to manager their water bills.

Statewide Low-Income Rate Assistance Program
Topics for Comment at Public Meetings

- Nature of the assistance that could be offered by the program
 - What is a reasonable amount of assistance to low-income households?
 - What form should this assistance take (rebate, bill cost reduction, tax credit, other)?

- Program eligibility
 - How should a household's eligibility be determined?
 - What other entities besides households should qualify for assistance? (Schools? Day care centers? Health care centers?)
 - Should water quality challenges in a community be a priority for granting eligibility? For example, should the additional costs of bottled water be taken into account when water is purchased because tap water isn't safe?
 - What changes should increase or decrease the level of assistance?
 - What percentage of income spent on water should trigger eligibility?
 - Should enrollment in other programs serve as a basis for which to make an individual eligible? If so, which programs could serve this role: electric utility lifeline programs, telephone lifeline programs, Medicaid, other forms of government aid, other programs?

- Program funding resources
 - How much revenue is needed for the program?
 - How should the revenue be generated; what revenue sources are appropriate?
 - How should the revenue be collected?
 - How should the assistance be distributed?
 - How should the revenue be allocated across customer classes within systems?

- Technical administration of the program
 - Should the program be administered at the local or state level?
 - If at the local level, should it be administered by the water system or by local government?
 - If at the local level, should the State Water Board be involved in administration?
 - What measures should be in place to ensure proper program oversight?
 - How should program performance be evaluated?
