

Jill Hudson Award for Environmental Protection
Award information and nomination form

This annual award is in memory of Jillian Hudson (1948 -1997) who was born, lived, studied, taught and died in South Australia. Most of Jill’s working life was spent teaching primary school children. Jill had strong concerns for the environment and she made sure that these concerns were passed on to her students whom she told: "Life is an opportunity and its purpose is to stand for something and to make a difference."

Who/what the Award recognises	The Award is to go to a person living in South Australia who, in the past 12 months, has made an outstanding contribution to protecting he State’s environment.
Aim	The aim of the Award is to recognise not only the efforts of the recipient but also the circumstances under which the recipient worked in his/her efforts to protect the environment. Special consideration will be given to nominees who have had to contend with significant government, political, corporate, media or institutional prejudice in their efforts to mobilise public opinion to protect the environment.
Prize	To be confirmed
Who can apply	The Award will be made without regard to race, religion or gender. The recipient of the Award may be a volunteer, a group, an employee of an environmental organisation, a government employee, a politician, an educator or a journalist.
Nominations & closing date	Nominations must be on the nomination form – see below. Nominations close 5.00pm Friday 9 November 2018.
How it is judged	The recipient shall be chosen by majority vote of the Judging Panel, with the Convenor (Conservation SA’s President or his/her delegate) having a casting vote. Conservation SA reserves the right, in any given year, not to issue the Award.
Award presentation	Thursday evening 6 December 2018 at Tandanya National Aboriginal Cultural Institute, 253 Grenfell St, Adelaide.
Other	Applicants not selected for this Award will (if applicable) automatically be considered for Conservation SA’s two other Award categories (Young Achiever/ Unsung Hero.)
