Subject: [EXTERNAL] comment on General Use Permit for Stanford
Date: Monday, September 30, 2019 2:03:39 PM

September 30, 2019

President Joe Simitian
Members of the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors
70 W. Hedding Street
San Jose, CA 95110

Dear President Simitian and Members of the County Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my support for Stanford's proposed General Use Permit and request that you reach consensus with the university on a related Development Agreement and a set of reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval. The General Use Permit will allow Stanford to develop the next generation of academic facilities that will foster its academic mission and leadership.

As a faculty member at Stanford over the past 15 years, I have had the privilege of working with many bright and motivated students and to educate them about the long history of our planet, how it work, and how the natural resources that we all depend upon are generated. Many of these students are now working to address our nation's and the world's most important sustainability challenges. This transfer of knowledge and skills to the next generation is made possible by Stanford's culture of collaboration that drives innovative discoveries.

Stanford plays an important role in the life of our community by advancing teaching and research, providing world-class health care, inviting its neighbors to enjoy many on-campus amenities and working in the community to support local residents. For example, my own lab has welcomed more than 100 local high school students for internships over the past decade, about 1/3rd of whom will be first-generation college students. As a former high school teacher, it has been incredibly rewarding to continue to interact with younger students through this program and to make the research and facilities here on the Stanford campus available and beneficial to the local community.

At Stanford, we take on the world's most pressing challenges and develop innovative solutions for the betterment of humankind. Within the School of Earth, Energy, and Environmental Sciences and the Department of Geological Sciences, my lab group studies the causes of species extinction across geological time as well as the processes by which biodiversity subsequently recovers. We are increasingly applying the insights of this work toward understanding and responding to the current global biodiversity crisis. Our research on the ancient extinction events increasingly depends upon advanced chemical measurements of ancient rocks so that we can determine surface temperatures and ocean chemistry during these past extinction events. Such labs require new facilities and additional space on campus. An updated General Use Permit is critical for maintaining our role as a leading university in the study of ancient environmental change and preparation for and mitigation of current environmental challenges.

Stanford has been purposefully building spaces to enhance collaboration. We believe that bold and surprising connections between different disciplines deepen our understanding of the world.

Stanford's Development Agreement proposal reflects the university's commitment to its neighbors and addresses concerns about housing, transportation, and local schools. For Stanford to provide front-loaded community benefits and thousands of units of housing, the university must be confident that it will be able to complete its academic facilities over time and the rules governing future academic campus development will not be changed midway through implementation of a new General Use Permit.

Therefore, I ask that the County engage in constructive Development Agreement discussions with Stanford to provide benefits that address the interests of the community, while providing Stanford the necessary predictability to fulfill its academic mission. The Board should also work with Stanford to make sure that each of the conditions is clear and sets an objective, reasonable standard for compliance. It's impossible to anticipate every impact of development, but Stanford has proven to be a responsible neighbor and steward of its lands. I believe that further discussion is to all of our benefit especially if the rules governing on-campus development support teaching and research and the addition of much-needed housing.

I hope you will support Stanford's future land use plans and approve a General Use Permit and Development Agreement that meet the needs of the community, the County, and Stanford.

Sincerely yours,
Jonathan Payne

Dear Board operations Board,

I am writing to express my support for Stanford's proposed General Use Permit.

Housing is a critical challenge in our region, and Stanford is stepping up to help address this pressing issue. The university's plan to deliver enough new housing to fully satisfy housing demand from its academic development demonstrates extraordinary leadership by a large employer in our community.

I urge the county to engage in constructive development agreement discussions with the university to ensure the General Use Permit provides benefits that address the interests of the community, while providing Stanford the necessary certainty to fulfill its academic mission.

I hope you will support Stanford's future land use plans and work collaboratively with the university to create a General Use Permit that meets the needs of the community, the county, and Stanford.

Subject: UC campus Land Use Planning

IF YOU CAN CANCEL circulating the email I sent earlier today, Thursday Sept. 26, Please do. The subject was the words just above re Land Use Planning.

My notes remind me that what I sent earlier was not correctly focused on Supervisor Cortese's question about universities and relations with local agencies.

I will spend time Friday finding answers to the intended question, and will submit what I find.

If you can not cancel or withdraw my previous email, too bad for me. Sorry I wasted some people's time including yours.

Can you reply and tell me the outcome from my request in THIS letter?

Sincerely,

Dear Board Operations Board,

I am writing to express my support for Stanford's proposed General Use Permit. I urge you to reach consensus with the university now on a related Development Agreement and a set of reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval that will deliver benefits to the community and allow Stanford to further its academic mission.

Stanford plays an important role in the life of our community by advancing teaching and research, providing world-class health care, inviting its neighbors to enjoy many on-campus amenities and working in the community to support local residents.

Housing and traffic are critical challenges in our region, and Stanford is stepping up to help address these pressing issues. Stanford's Development Agreement proposal will provide historic measures to more than meet its obligations in the community—building housing now and fully meeting future workforce housing demand; investing more in transportation programs that encourage sustainable commuting; and providing upfront and ongoing support to the Palo Alto Unified School District.

I encourage you to work collaboratively with the university to create a long-term land use plan that allows Stanford to continue its mission of taking the world's most pressing challenges and developing innovative solutions to benefit both our community and the world.

I hope you will support Stanford's future land use plans and approve a General Use Permit and Development Agreement that meet the needs of the community, the County and Stanford.

Dear Board Operations Board,

Stanford plays an important role in the life of our community. I am writing to express my support for the university's proposed General Use Permit and request that you reach consensus with the university now on a related Development Agreement and a set of reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval.

Housing and traffic are critical challenges in our region, and Stanford's Development Agreement proposal makes meaningful contributions to help address these pressing issues. The university's proposal delivers enough new housing to fully satisfy housing demand from its academic development and front-loads the delivery of 575 affordable workforce housing units. This demonstrates extraordinary leadership by a large employer in our community.

In addition, Stanford is proposing to significantly expand its sustainable commute programs and invest $30 million in local transportation improvements. And in keeping with its academic mission, the university has also offered $138 million in support for Palo Alto schools.

I encourage you to work collaboratively with the university to create a long-term land use plan that allows Stanford to continue its mission of taking the world's most pressing challenges and developing innovative solutions to benefit both our community and the world.

It is to all of our benefit if the rules governing on-campus development support teaching and research and the addition of much-needed housing. In addition, Stanford is proposing to significantly expand its sustainable commute programs and invest $30 million in local transportation improvements. And in keeping with its academic mission, the university has also offered $138 million in support for Palo Alto schools.

I encourage you to work collaboratively with the university to create a long-term land use plan that allows Stanford to continue its mission of taking the world's most pressing challenges and developing innovative solutions to benefit both our community and the world.

It is to all of our benefit if the rules governing on-campus development support teaching and research and the addition of much-needed housing. Dear Board Operations Board,

Stanford plays an important role in the life of our community. I am writing to express my support for the university's proposed General Use Permit and request that you reach consensus with the university now on a related Development Agreement and a set of reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval.

Housing and traffic are critical challenges in our region, and Stanford's Development Agreement proposal makes meaningful contributions to help address these pressing issues. The university's proposal delivers enough new housing to fully satisfy housing demand from its academic development and front-loads the delivery of 575 affordable workforce housing units. This demonstrates extraordinary leadership by a large employer in our community.

In addition, Stanford is proposing to significantly expand its sustainable commute programs and invest $30 million in local transportation improvements. And in keeping with its academic mission, the university has also offered $138 million in support for Palo Alto schools.

President Joe Simitian

Members of the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors
70 W. Hedding Street
San Jose, CA 95110

Dear President Simitian and Members of the County Board of Supervisors,

I am writing to express my support for Stanford's proposed General Use Permit, and request that you reach consensus with the University on a related Development Agreement, along with a set of reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval.

Stanford plays an important role in the life of our community by advancing teaching and research, providing world-class health care, inviting its neighbors to enjoy many on-campus amenities, and working in the community to support local residents.

The University also has a deep concern for and addressing the jobs-housing balance of the region, and they have been paramount in the approach to their numerous development initiatives. Stanford's attitude always feels community-first, as evidenced by hosting many community outreach meetings and efforts during their various projects.

As President of a local architectural firm of 165 people, DES Architects and Engineers, I have been able to observe and experience Stanford's high ideals and commitment to the improvement of our local environment. I see this in their approach to improving traffic conditions, improvements to the local infrastructure, addressing the jobs-housing balance, and working at a personal level with communities to understand and address concerns voiced.

As you are well aware, housing and traffic congestion are critical challenges in our region, and Stanford's proposal makes meaningful contributions to help address these pressing issues. The University's Development Agreement proposal to deliver enough new housing to fully satisfy housing demand from its academic development and front-load the delivery of 575 affordable workforce housing units, demonstrates extraordinary leadership by a large employer in our community. In addition, Stanford is proposing to significantly expand its sustainable commute programs and invest $30 million in local transportation improvements. And in keeping with its academic mission, the University has also offered $138 million in support for Palo Alto schools.

For Stanford to provide front-loaded community benefits and thousands of units of housing, the University must be confident that it will be able to complete its academic facilities over time, and that the rules governing future academic campus development will not be changed midway through implementation of a new General Use Permit. Development Agreements are a common tool for land use applicants and jurisdictions to resolve conflicts by working collaboratively to address the interests of all stakeholders. Therefore, I ask that the County engage in constructive Development Agreement discussions with Stanford to provide benefits that address the interests of the community, while providing Stanford the necessary predictability to fulfill its academic mission.

I also urge the Board of Supervisors to approve reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval for the General Use Permit that will allow Stanford to build new on-campus housing and academic facilities. It is to all our benefit that the rules governing on-campus development not only support teaching and research, but also the addition of much-needed housing. The Board should work with Stanford to make sure that each of the conditions is clear and sets an objective, reasonable standard for compliance.

I hope you will support Stanford's future land use plans and approve a General Use Permit and Development Agreement that meet the needs of the community, the County, and Stanford.

Sincerely,

C. Thomas Gilman

Dear Supervisors,

Special Attn: Supervisor Cortese,

I was in the audience when you or one of the other Supervisors asked the totally appropriate question on this subject.

It turns out that UC campus land is state-owned, not subject to city, county or other local jurisdictions. See below.

A little poking around found this from the state Legislative Analyst Office from Jan. 2007:

https://lao.ca.gov/2007/uc_lrdp/lrdp_011007.htm

"Not Subject to Local Land Use Control. As a state institution, UC is constitutionally exempt from local land use control. This means that the local government's planning commission does not have the jurisdiction to reject or oppose a campus's LRDP or a specific capital project. In contrast, a private company or institution-such as Stanford University-must abide by local land use regulations, submit its long range plan for review and approval by the local government, and pay for all costs related to its plan and projected campus growth (such as development impact fees). In addition, state agencies typically do not review or approve a UC campus's LRDP. Currently, the Legislature does not provide any formal guidance or oversight regarding the development or implementation of an LRDP."

There is a paragraph that says ditto for the CSU system.

Here is the third paragraph of the Introduction:

"In developing LRDPs, campuses consult surrounding communities in an attempt to achieve a mutually agreeable plan. In recent years, such agreement has sometimes been elusive, with differences of opinions over traffic, housing, and other potential impacts of planned campus growth. For example, some communities believe that a campus should only grow to the extent it pays for all the costs associated with mitigating off-campus impacts, while some UC campuses expect such costs to be shared with local government. In view of these disputes, our office analyzed whether UC's LRDP process adequately addresses the impacts that campus growth has on surrounding communities."

The current UC Davis LRDP, in the section on Land Use Planning, discusses its major off-campus housing issues, and openly seeks multiple aspects of cooperation with the City. It is an approach that the SCC Supervisors could encourage or require Stanford to engage in.

I hope I formation this is useful to you all.

Thank you for your continuing service to Santa Clara County.

Sincerely,

Jeb Eddy

Dear Board Operations Board,

Stanford plays an important role in the life of our community. I am writing to express my support for the university's proposed General Use Permit and request that you reach consensus with the university now on a related Development Agreement and a set of reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval.

Housing and traffic are critical challenges in our region, and Stanford's Development Agreement proposal makes meaningful contributions to help address these pressing issues. The university's proposal delivers enough new housing to fully satisfy housing demand from its academic development and front-loads the delivery of 575 affordable workforce housing units. This demonstrates extraordinary leadership by a large employer in our community.

In addition, Stanford is proposing to significantly expand its sustainable commute programs and invest $30 million in local transportation improvements. And in keeping with its academic mission, the university has also offered $138 million in support for Palo Alto schools.

I encourage you to work collaboratively with the university to create a long-term land use plan that allows Stanford to continue its mission of taking the world's most pressing challenges and developing innovative solutions to benefit both our community and the world.

It is to all of our benefit if the rules governing on-campus development support teaching and research and the addition of much-needed housing. I hope you will support Stanford's future land use plans and approve a General Use Permit and Development Agreement that meet the needs of the community, the County and Stanford.

Sincerely,
Ramesh Pathak

Dear Board Operations Board,

I am writing to express my support for Stanford's proposed General Use Permit. I urge you to reach consensus with the university now on a related Development Agreement and a set of reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval that will deliver benefits to the community and allow Stanford to further its academic mission.

Stanford plays an important role in the life of our community by advancing teaching and research, providing world-class health care, inviting its neighbors to enjoy many on-campus amenities and working in the community to support local residents.

Housing and traffic are critical challenges in our region, and Stanford is stepping up to help address these pressing issues. Stanford's Development Agreement proposal will provide historic measures to more than meet its obligations in the community—building housing now and fully meeting future workforce housing demand; investing more in transportation programs that encourage sustainable commuting; and providing upfront and ongoing support to the Palo Alto Unified School District.

I encourage you to work collaboratively with the university to create a long-term land use plan that allows Stanford to continue its mission of taking the world's most pressing challenges and developing innovative solutions to benefit both our community and the world.

I hope you will support Stanford's future land use plans and approve a General Use Permit and Development Agreement that meet the needs of the community, the County and Stanford.

Dear Board Operations Board,

I am writing to express my support for Stanford's proposed General Use Permit. I urge you to reach consensus with the university now on a related Development Agreement and a set of reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval that will deliver benefits to the community and allow Stanford to further its academic mission.

Stanford plays an important role in the life of our community by advancing teaching and research, providing world-class health care, inviting its neighbors to enjoy many on-campus amenities and working in the community to support local residents.

Housing and traffic are critical challenges in our region, and Stanford is stepping up to help address these pressing issues. Stanford's Development Agreement proposal will provide historic measures to more than meet its obligations in the community—building housing now and fully meeting future workforce housing demand; investing more in transportation programs that encourage sustainable commuting; and providing upfront and ongoing support to the Palo Alto Unified School District.

I encourage you to work collaboratively with the university to create a long-term land use plan that allows Stanford to continue its mission of taking the world's most pressing challenges and developing innovative solutions to benefit both our community and the world.

I hope you will support Stanford's future land use plans and approve a General Use Permit and Development Agreement that meet the needs of the community, the County and Stanford.

Sincerely,
anne lawler

Dear Board Operations Board,

Stanford plays an important role in the life of our community. I am writing to express my support for the university's proposed General Use Permit and request that you reach consensus with the university now on a related Development Agreement and a set of reasonable and feasible Conditions of Approval.

Housing and traffic are critical challenges in our region, and Stanford's Development Agreement proposal makes meaningful contributions to help address these pressing issues. The university's proposal delivers enough new housing to fully satisfy housing demand from its academic development and front-loads the delivery of 575 affordable workforce housing units. This demonstrates extraordinary leadership by a large employer in our community.

In addition, Stanford is proposing to significantly expand its sustainable commute programs and invest $30 million in local transportation improvements. And in keeping with its academic mission, the university has also offered $138 million in support for Palo Alto schools.

I encourage you to work collaboratively with the university to create a long-term land use plan that allows Stanford to continue its mission of taking the world's most pressing challenges and developing innovative solutions to benefit both our community and the world.

It is to all of our benefit if the rules governing on-campus development support teaching and research and the addition of much-needed housing. I hope you will support Stanford's future land use plans and approve a General Use Permit and Development Agreement that meet the needs of the community, the County and Stanford.

Sincerely,
Imogen Hinds
