2. Scroll down until you see this picture:

3. Register for a FedEx account:
4. Enter your credit card information. Note, the shopping location will be the same as the credit card billing address, so make sure these two match! This does not need to be your address in Germany if you do not have a German credit card. You will enter your “From Address” in step 9.

6. You will get a screen that your registration is processing:

We are processing your request. Please wait...

Please do not click on Back or Stop. If you do, the information you have submitted cannot be processed and you will have to restart your application.
7. And then confirmation that your registration is complete!

8. On the same page as the previous step, click on “FedEx Ship Manager™ Lite”.
9. Fill out the Address information with your Home address (in Germany) as the From Address and the address of your local election official as the To Address:

10. Select your packaging options. I would recommend “Your Packaging” if you don’t have access to any FedEx packaging:
11. Enter the details of your packaging. Most important is the weight. A large envelope containing the ballot envelope and 1 or 2 additional pieces of paper weighs about 33 grams or 0.03 kg.

12. Select a delivery date, time, and rate. When you enter a ship date, you are given the option to either drop off the package at a FedEx Location:
