

After working closely with Emily on the Democrats Abroad Berlin Board for the past four years, I can unequivocally say that she is the best person to be the next Vice Chair of Democrats Abroad Germany (DAG). Her experience, skills, and characteristics are grounded in her persistence for social justice and change. During the Trump years, I was inspired daily by how Emily grew into a central and driving force behind Democrats Abroad Berlin and Germany's voter outreach and mobilization.

Impactful examples include, co-managing the Berlin Global Presidential Primary (1,100 participants), running fundraisers that cumulatively raised thousands of dollars, planning meetings and retreats to organize Democrats Abroad leaders across Germany, and countless other operative tasks that kept the DAG motor running and able to secure margins of victories during the 2020 election.

When I think of DAG, Emily immediately comes to mind. In addition to running dozens of events across the country, Emily has served as a face of the organization in international media (in both English and German, live TV, Radio, Social Media) and to the international level of Democrats Abroad.

Emily leads with a not me, us philosophy. As a DAG leader, she works hard to bring people into the organization and together - in order to achieve our collective goals. Emily Lines is exactly the leader we need for DAG and within the Democratic Party. Please join me in voting for Emily, and a progressive and impactful DAG.
