CONTRIBUTION RULES

Texas law requires that we ask for your employer and occupation. If you don't have an employer or are retired, put N/A, and if you are self-employed put "self-employed" in employer and describe your occupation. Contributions are not tax deductible. There is $2,500 contribution limit per individual. A $15,000 contribution per election limit is placed on all contributions from members of a law firm. including contributions by members' spouses and children. Corporate contributions are not permitted. Under Texas law, any lawyer or other employee is considered a member of the law firm. Every firm member contribution counts towards the $15,000 contribution limit of the firm. A contribution by the spouse or child of an individual is considered to be a contribution by the individual.

I affirm that my contribution is in compliance with the rules above.
