Statement by Alliances for Africa at the 68th Ordinary Session of the African Commission on Human and Peoples’ Rights

Observer Status Number 235

Honorable Chairperson of the ACHPR,

Alliances for Africa is an international African led non-governmental human rights, peace and sustainable development organization. AfA works with partners in, around and beyond the continent of Africa. Alliances for Africa is a member of the Solidarity for African Women’s Rights (SOAWR), a coalition of over 60 organizations working on women’s rights in 32 countries in Africa. SOAWR was formed with the principal objective of advocating for the ratification, domestication and implementation of the Protocol to the African Charter on Human and Peoples’ Rights on the Rights of Women in Africa (the Maputo Protocol), which was adopted 17 years ago.

Honorable Chairperson, as the global community begins taking steps towards an economic and social recovery in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, Alliances for Africa and the SOAWR Coalition calls upon the African Union and its member states to apply a human rights based approach to these post COVID-19 recovery efforts. Specifically, we urge the African Union and its member states to take into serious consideration the gendered effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, in particular the disproportionately harmful effects of the pandemic on the rights of women and girls in Africa. We urge the Commission to develop guidelines on human rights based and gender sensitive approaches when it comes to government-led efforts aimed at the post COVID-19 economic and social recovery, along the lines of earlier guidelines by the ACHPR on promoting similar approaches on the question of combating the pandemic. These proposed guidelines would take into consideration the need for increased resources, focus and attention on the disproportionate effect of the COVID-19 pandemic on the social and economic rights of women, their right to live free of violence and discrimination, as well as their right to live in a positive cultural context free from the risk of harmful cultural practices.

Honorable Chairperson, our attention has been drawn to reports of sexual violence against women in several parts of Ethiopia at present, but with particular concern to the conflict-hit Tigray region of Ethiopia given the gravity and the scale of the violations as well as the presence of foreign troops, thus warranting coordinated national, continental and international responses to address the situation. These reports have also been raised by the United Nation’s Special Representative on Sexual Violence in Conflict and have been characterized as a systematic use of sexual violence as a weapon of war through its use as both a strategy and tactic of conflict and coercion. The horrendous survivor accounts from the Tigray region of sexual abuse of civilians only serve to confirm that there is nothing inevitable about this brutal state of affairs. The Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia is a signatory to several international and regional human rights treaties including the African Charter and its Protocol on the Rights of Women in Africa. We therefore invoke the ACHPR’s mandate to protect the rights of the women in Tigray and other regions in Ethiopia where is there is active conflict and women girls safety has been compromised and urge the Commission to urgently set in motion the mechanism of the Special Rapporteur on the Rights of Women in Africa and the Commissioner Rapporteur for Ethiopia to establish an immediate inquiry into the allegations and collaborate with relevant national, regional and global actors responsible for the promotion and protection of the rights of women to redress any violations of women’s rights in the Tigray region, including through prosecutions under international criminal law. This inquiry needs to extend to violations committed by all parties, including Eritrean forces in Tigray. Further, we demand that the Special Rapporteur on the Rights of Women in Africa urge the relevant authorities to put in place measures to ensure that women and girls in the region are protected from rape and sexual assault in line with Ethiopia’s human rights obligations and take all steps necessary to address and mitigate the harm to victims of sexual violence that have already occurred through a survivor-centered approach.

Honorable Chairperson, African Union member states committed to achieve universal ratification of the Maputo Protocol by 2020. Regrettably, to date, four months after the end of the African Women’s Decade, 13 AU member states are yet to ratify the Maputo Protocol. We urge the remaining 13 AU member states – Botswana, Burundi, Central African Republic, Chad, Egypt, Eritrea, Madagascar, Morocco, Niger, Sahrawi Arab Democratic Republic, Somalia, South Sudan and Sudan – to urgently ratify the Maputo Protocol in order to ensure that the women and girls in these countries enjoy their rights as enshrined in the Protocol. Additionally, it is concerning that only 16 of the 42 state parties to the Maputo Protocol have reported on the Maputo Protocol, almost 18 years since its adoption. Alliances for Africa and the SOAWR Coalition urge the ACHPR to continue to encourage Member States to comply with their reporting obligations under Article 62 of the African Charter and Article 26 of the Maputo Protocol. Further, we urge the Commission to adopt and popularize the Guidelines on Shadow Reporting under the African Charter and the Maputo Protocol.

I thank you.
