Control over EU immigration

EU legislation dating from 2004 permits us to send back EU citizens who still lack a job or the means to support themselves 3 months after arriving in Britain.

Why has our government not done this?

EU immigrants pay more in taxes than they use public services. "In 2013-14, EEA nationals paid £12.1 billion more Income Tax and National Insurance than they took out in tax credits and Child Benefit." HMRC

EU immigration did not create falls in the jobs and pay of UK-born workers.
