

Quality early learning
for our children
makes a quality
future for Australia.

The first five years of every child's life can unleash a lifetime of potential.

Let's make sure all Australians value the importance of the early years and help parents and educators to provide the best support for children under five.

We invite you to join a new national campaign called Early Learning: Everyone Benefits with thousands of other families and early childhood educators.

Visit our website to discover practical help for developing children and learn more about the benefits of early learning. Sign up to receive updates and useful information on how children learn.

Join us to make your voice count for early childhood!
