Council Meeting May 11, 1999

Santa Monica, California

TO Mayor and City Council
FROM City Clerk
SUBJECT Resolution of the City Council of the City of Santa Monica Accepting the City Clerk's Official Canvass and Official Statement of Votes Cast for the Special Municipal Election Held on April 24-25, 1999. and Declaring the Results Thereof

INTRODUCTION

On April 24-25, 1999, a special municipal election was held in the City of Santa Monica for the purpose of electing one member to the Santa Monica City Council to fill an unscheduled vacancy with a term ending November 2000

The City Council also placed one measure, a charter amendment, on the ballot requiring a majority vote of those voting in order to pass. The measure placed on the ballot read as follows

PROPOSITION I Shall Santa Monica City Charter Section 1806(b) be amended to provide that a tenant in a controlled rental unit cannot be evicted unless the tenant has committed a material and substantial violation of the lease which the landlord has not waived or otherwise lost the legal rights to use as the basis for an eviction?

BACKGROUND

On September 25, 1998, Councilmember Asha Greenberg tendered her resignation from the City Council due to moving her residence outside of the City boundaries. At its regular meeting of October 13, 1998, the City Council accepted Councilmember Greenberg's resignation and declared her seat vacant. Section 603 of the City Charter provides for filling of any unscheduled vacancy on the Council by appointment within thirty days after the office is declared vacant and, that if not filled, a special election be called to fill the vacancy. The City Council did not fill the vacancy within thirty days and on December 22, 1998, adopted a resolution calling a special election to be held over a two-day period on Saturday and Sunday, April 24-25, 1999.

Although the City usually consolidates all its special and regular elections with Los Angeles County in order to encourage high voter turn out and to minimize costs, because the date the special election was scheduled was off-season, consolidation with the County was not possible. In addition, because of the unprecedented nature of holding a two-day, weekend, stand-alone election in the City, the City Clerk was directed to use all means available and necessary to advertise the election.

ELECTION RESULTS

For this election there were 54,156 registered voters in the City. There were seven candidates on the ballot for the Council vacancy. Candidate Richard Bloom received a majority of 7,848 votes that equaled 54.0% of the total ballots. The charter amendment passed with a total of 10,231 equaling 71.8% of the vote. The number of ballots tallied was 14,869. Out of that number 5,183 were absentee ballots (with a few provisional included) and 9,686 voted at the polls for a final 27.5% turnout of voters.

REPORT ON TWO-DAY WEEKEND ELECTION

Precinct Workers

Staff was prepared to have difficulties recruiting precinct workers that would agree to work both election days and/or work during a weekend. Staff was gratified to secure, within a reasonable time, poll workers who committed to work both days. In addition, staff had a waiting list of over 100 people that were willing to be precinct workers. On the days of the election there were the expected worker cancellations due to unforeseen events. However, staff was able to substitute workers quickly and all the precincts were staffed as planned.

Precinct workers attended a mandatory 90-minute training class on the procedures established for the two-day election and on the process for securing the "live" (voted) and unused (unvoted) ballots at the end of the day on Saturday

Polling Sites

The County precincts were consolidated from 66 into 34 City precincts. Although staff made every effort to utilize the polling sites used by the County in previous elections, fifteen of the sites were not available for the entire two days and were not available because of the weekend. Staff was diligent in securing thirteen conventional (residences, schools, hotel lobbies, etc.) polling sites to replace those that were unavailable, except for two. Out of this necessity arose the concept of using two coffee shops as polling sites. Based on the comments received by staff, the use of the two coffee shops as polling sites was a novelty and appears to have been beneficial.

A number of members of the public called our office prior to the election to express concerns regarding, and/or to protest the change in polling places. The callers were understanding once staff explained the reasons for the changes. Staff provided polling site location information continuously via the telephone during the last two weeks before the election and from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., the Friday before, and on Saturday and Sunday of the election. Precinct boards were provided with a city-wide polling site map to assist them in directing voters to their appropriate polling place.

After the end of the absentee voting period on March 26th and through 7:00 p.m., on Sunday of the election, staff provided home delivery and pick-up service of ballots to a number of individuals physically unable to go vote at the polls.

Student Worker Program

The three local high schools, Samohi, St. Monica's, and Crossroads, were invited to participate in the Student Precinct Worker Program. The requirements for students wishing to participate were that they be U.S. citizens, seniors with a minimum of 2.5

grade point average and that they attend a precinct worker training class. At the outset twenty-one students signed up to participate. However, for various reasons sixteen students canceled and five students worked on Saturday and Sunday of the election. Reports from the Precinct Inspectors where the students were assigned indicate that the students performed their duties in a competent and efficient manner. The students were paid the same stipend as the precinct clerks, $50 for the first day and $75 for the second day.

Advertising

Staff advertised the election in various ways. In coordination with the School District, notices were sent home one week before the election with elementary, middle, and high school students notifying voters of the election and reminding them to vote. Six banners were placed at major intersections throughout the City from April 5-25, 1999. Fifteen panels were placed on the outside of the Big Blue Buses from March 8-26, 1999, advertising the deadline to register to vote, and from April 5-25, 1999, reminding people to vote on the election days.

Staff included notices in Our Times, Seascope and in the Rent Control News, as well as on the City's Webpage and on CityTV. During the Santa Monica Festival on April 17, staff hired an individual to dress as "Uncle Sam" walking on stilts who distributed sun visors advertising the election to attendees. Finally, after voting at polling sites, voters were given red pencils inscribed with I voted at the April 24-25, 1999, Santa Monica Special Municipal Election!

Saturday and Sunday

The opening and closing of the polls was uneventful on both days. The turn out was a total of 4,950 mailed absentee ballots, 4,571 votes cast on Saturday, 5,115 votes cast on Sunday, and 233 absentee/provisional ballots from the polls. Staff visited every polling site on Saturday to assist the precinct boards, monitor the process, and answer questions related to the two-day procedure.

Staff's most pressing concern, also voiced by members of the public, was security of the ballots voted on Saturday. Precinct inspectors were instructed to return to City Hall after the closing of the polls on Saturday, with the voted ballots in a sealed box, and hand them into the custody of the elections official. The polls closed at 7 00 p m. By 8 30 p m, all 34 precincts had reported in with the voted ballots in a sealed container, as well as absentees dropped off at the precinct and provisional votes received, in a sealed envelope. The containers were stored in the City Clerk's vault. The combination to the vault was changed on Friday, the day before, and was known only to the elections staff. The vault was then locked and a Sheriff's Deputy stood guard overnight until 8 00 a m, on Sunday morning when staff returned. The sealed boxes remained in the vault until 7 00 p m, Sunday, and were then escorted by a an elections worker and a Police Officer to the central counting area in Council Chambers to process for counting.

Counting of Ballots

A total of 6,150 applications for absentee voting were received and the same number of absentee ballots was issued for this election. Out of this number, 4,835 absentee ballots were returned by voters by the end of the day Saturday, April 24, 1999. The Absentee Canvass Board processed (prepared for counting) the absentee ballots received by mail on Friday and Saturday. The absentee ballots that were dropped off at the polling sites on Saturday were processed on Sunday and integrated with the mailed-in absentees. These were the first ballots to be counted by the computer immediately after the polls closed at 7 00 p m, on Sunday. While the absentee ballots were being counted elections staff opened the sealed boxes containing ballots voted on Saturday, prepared them for the computer, and were counted next. The third and final count on Sunday was the "live" ballots voted on Sunday and delivered by the precinct inspectors to the central counting place. The last precinct reported in at approximately 9 30 p m, and the counting was finished by about 10 00 p m.

There were 233 remaining provisional and absentee ballots after the final count on Sunday. They were a combination of provisional ballots voted on Saturday and Sunday, and absentee ballots dropped off at the polls on Sunday. Final count of these ballots was completed on Thursday, April 29, 1999.

TELEPHONE SURVEY REPORT

As it has been portrayed by the news media, this is the first two-day weekend election that has been held in the State of California and in the nation, in modern times. Because of its uniqueness, staff contracted with Paul Goodwin, of GLS Research, to conduct a post-election telephone survey. The findings and summary are attached as Exhibit B. The report concludes that were the City to switch to a two-day weekend election, it might increase turnout among voters least likely to participate during elections held on Tuesdays, including younger voters, minorities, renters, and non-partisan voters. Conversely, such a practice might impact a large block of more frequent voters for whom a weekend election would be inconvenient or less convenient, or who would be concerned about cost issues.

The survey included a question about an all-mail ballot. After being informed of the benefits of an all-mail ballot, including cost-savings and increased voter participation, 69% of the voters were in support and 24% opposed.

RECOMMENDATION

It is respectfully recommended that the City Council adopt the resolution certifying the canvass of the votes cast at the special municipal election.

Beth Sanchez, Assistant City Clerk

RE: Summary of Findings: Santa Monica Post-Election Study

METHODOLOGY

GLS Research conducted a telephone survey of 300 registered voters living in Santa Monica. The study was conducted on April 26 and 27, 1999, the two days immediately following the city's first weekend election. The sample was drawn randomly from the city's official voter file, and every voter in the city with a telephone had a equal opportunity of being interviewed. The margin of error for a sample of this size is plus or minus 5.6 percent at a 95 percent confidence level.

The purposes of the study included the following

- To evaluate the public's response to the weekend election, and assess whether there is a clear preference for a weekend or for a traditional Tuesday election, and
- To evaluate response to a possible all-mail ballot

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- Santa Monica voters show no clear preference when it comes to a weekend election compared to a Tuesday election. Forty-three percent prefer voting on Tuesday, compared to 39 percent who prefer voting on the weekend.
- About 60 percent of the Tuesday supporters said they prefer to vote on that day because they find the weekends to be too busy or to be a time that is devoted to other activities, such as family, work, travel, or outdoor activities. Another third of the Tuesday supporter expressed a preference for that day because they are familiar with voting on that day and do not wish to change.

- The main reason that weekend supporters prefer to vote on those days is that they find it more convenient and they have more time to vote. Eighty-two percent of the weekend supporters expressed those views.
- Only 9 percent have “strong personal objections” to a weekend election, chiefly related to the cost associated with such elections.
- The strongest variation in preference for election days is seen among homeowners compared to renters. 56 percent of homeowners prefer voting on Tuesday, compared to 34 percent of renters, 27 percent of homeowners prefer voting on the weekend, compared to 47 percent of renters. In addition, less frequent voters are more likely than very frequent voters to say they prefer the weekend election, and young voters also appear more likely to say they prefer the weekend compared to older voters. Less frequent voters are more likely to be non-white, non-partisans, younger than age 50, and renters.
- Fifty-eight percent agree that they are more likely to vote if the polls are open two days rather than one. This figure is highest among those people who vote least frequently, among renters, and among voters under age 35.
- Eighty-seven percent said they were aware of the election the city held last weekend. Voters under age 35 were significantly less likely to be aware of the election.
- Voters divide evenly on the question of holding city elections entirely by mail. Initially, 47 percent support the idea, and 43 percent oppose it. But once voters learn more about elections by mail (i.e. that it saves the city money, that it increases voting participation, and that they could deliver the ballots by hand on election day), support rises significantly to 69 percent, with just 24 percent opposed.

These figures suggest that by switching to all-weekend voting over two days, the city is likely to facilitate turnout among those voters who are least likely to participate at present in elections. These would include younger voters, minorities, renters, and non-partisan voters.

However, there would remain a large block of more frequent voters for whom a weekend election would be inconvenient or less convenient, or whom would be concerned about cost issues.

When it comes to an all-mail ballot, the survey makes it clear that the city must transmit some critical information to voters in advance of any such election. Only after voters learn about the cost savings, convenience, and increase in turnout associated with mail ballots does majority support for an all-mail ballot emerge. A voter education in advance of any such change would be extremely valuable.

DETAILED FINDINGS

Preference Tuesday v Weekend

Voters divide nearly evenly when asked if they would prefer to vote on a Tuesday or if they prefer voting over a weekend. As shown in Table 1, neither option earns majority support among voters.

Statistically significant differences in response are shown in Table 2. It indicates the following:

- Those who report voting most frequently are more likely to prefer a Tuesday election, while those who say they vote only occasionally appear to prefer weekend voting.
- Renters prefer weekend voting compared to homeowners.
- People who have never voted absentee are more likely to prefer weekends than those who have voted absentee.
- People who have participated in fewer than 5 of the last 9 elections are more likely to prefer weekends over more frequent voters.
- Finally, it suggests that those who say they did not vote in the weekend election prefer Tuesdays for voting. However, the wide disparity between reported voting behavior among respondents (close to 50 percent participation) and actual participation (27 percent) makes these results unreliable

Reasons for Preference

There are two main reasons given for preferring a Tuesday election a negative reaction to the idea of voting on the weekend, and a positive inclination towards Tuesday voting As shown in Table 3, close to two-thirds of those preferring a Tuesday vote indicate some concern about weekend voting, with about a third who have an attachment especially to Tuesday

Respondents were also asked if they had any “strong personal objections” to voting on a weekend. Only 9 percent reported such objections. Significant differences in response are shown in Table 5.

We asked voters with significant objections to weekend voting to identify their concerns. Of the 28 with such concerns, 11 reported a concern having to do with the cost of the election. Other responses were too small to classify.

Impact of Voting Over Two Days

In total, 58 percent agreed that “I’m more likely to vote if the polls are open two days in a row rather than just one day.” Many of the 34 percent who disagreed were voters who always vote anyhow. For example:

- Among voters who have participated in at least 8 of the last 9 primary and general elections (23 percent of this sample), 48 percent disagreed with this statement. These voters will participate regardless of how many days they have available to vote.
- In contrast, among voters who have participated in four or fewer of the last nine primary and general elections (about half the sample), only 23 percent disagreed and fully 73 percent agreed.

The impact of having two days for voting is likely to be especially pronounced among voters under age 35 79 percent of them agreed that they would be more likely to vote given two days Renters were also more likely to agree at 66 percent compared to 47 percent for owners Those who vote least frequently were also among the most likely to say they would vote more often if the polls were open two days

Reaction to Vote by Mail Proposal

When first presented with the concept of voting entirely by mail, voters divided nearly evenly 47 percent in favor in favor of it, and 43 percent opposed There are four significant differences in response to this question

- Two-thirds of those who say that they were unaware of last weekend's election said they would favor a vote by mail election, compared to 45 percent of those who said they were aware of it
- Sixty-three percent of those who say they only rarely vote would favor a vote by mail election, compared to 46 percent of those who say they almost always vote
- Fifty-six percent of those who say they did not vote in the weekend election would favor a vote by mail election, compared to 39 percent of those who say they did vote
- Fifty-six percent of voters under age 35 would favor a vote by mail election, compared to 38 percent of seniors

These results would suggest that the least reliable voters are most likely to say would prefer a vote by mail election

BASE		(300)

Respondents were then read three statements about vote by mail elections, and asked if the statements made them more or less likely to favor such elections

All three were favorably received by voters that a vote by mail election would save taxpayers money, that it would increase voter turnout, and that voters who forgot to mail their ballot in can deliver them in person on election day

After hearing this information, voters shifted strongly in favor of the vote by mail plan 69 percent would favor it, and only 23 percent would oppose it

Women in particular shifted to favor the plan, with 75 percent in favor of it compared to 62 percent of men Voters under age 35 also moved strongly favor it at 77 percent, compared to 60 percent of seniors

Awareness of Weekend Election

Eighty-seven percent said they were aware of the weekend election, including 98 percent of seniors compared to 73 percent of those under age 35 Of those who said they did not vote in that election, 76 percent said they were aware of it

Participation in Weekend Election

Fully 48 percent claimed that they voted in the weekend election, far exceeding the actual 27 percent turnout Significant differences in reported participation rates include the following

- Fifty-four percent of Democrats, compared to 49 percent of Republicans, and 32 percent of nonpartisans
- Fifty-three percent of white voters, compared to 20 percent of minorities
- Eighty-five percent of seniors, compared to 62 percent of those ages 50-64, 46 percent of those age 35-49, and just 19 percent of those under age 35

- 10 Last weekend, there was a city election. Many people did not get a chance to vote in that election. Did you happen to vote in the election last weekend, or did you not get a chance to vote in that city election for any reason?

Yes, voted ----- 48%
 Did not vote ----- 51
 (DON'T READ) DK/NA ----- 1

- 11 Some people have proposed that city elections be held entirely by mail, so that everyone would vote by mail ballot rather than by voting at the polls on election day. Does this sound like something you would favor or oppose for city elections? (IF FAVOR/OPPOSE ASK) "Is that strongly or somewhat?"

Strongly favor-----19%

building shall be allowed if parking required by this Ordinance for the second unit is provided, and all other provisions of this Ordinance are met.

(3) Conversion of existing floor area of the main dwelling. The creation of a second unit through conversion of part of the existing floor area of the main dwelling shall be allowed, provided it does not result in the floor area of the main dwelling being less than 150% of the floor area of the second unit, or in violation of the standards of the Uniform Building Code or Uniform Housing Code.

(k) Prohibition against rental. The second unit shall not be rented except to those persons whose occupancy is authorized by subsection 9 04 13 040(a)

(l) Deed Restriction. Prior to issuance of a building permit, or in the case of an existing second unit, within 45 days following the effective date of approval of a Use Permit, the applicant shall record a deed restriction with the County Recorder in a form approved by the City Attorney setting forth the requirements of this Ordinance, including the applicable occupancy and sale restrictions. This deed restriction shall run with the land.

GLS RESEARCH (#99336)

WHEREAS, in response, Staff proposed an ordinance, and the Planning Commission conducted a public hearing on the proposed ordinance on September 11, 1996, and

WHEREAS, the proposed ordinance, together with modifications suggested by the Planning Commission, came before the City Council at its meeting of September 24, 1996, and the Council conducted a public hearing, and

WHEREAS, in the course of that hearing, a significant number of City residents expressed their concerns about permitting the development of additional second units in the R-1 district, and

WHEREAS, those concerns included increased noise, increased air pollution, security risks, the creation and exacerbation of traffic and parking problems, inordinate demand on the infrastructure of older neighborhoods which were planned and built to be R-1, and the lack of quiet, peaceful spaces in the community, and

WHEREAS, a much smaller number of speakers favored allowing second units in the single family districts, and

WHEREAS, at the conclusion of the hearing, the Council deliberated on the available options and directed staff to prepare an ordinance which would prohibit second units in the R-1 and OP-1 districts (hereinafter referred to in this section as the "R-1 District") only; and

WHEREAS, at the October 8, 1996 City Council meeting, the Council considered an ordinance which clarified the allowance of second units in all multi-family districts, and prohibited second units in the R-1 district subject to a limited "hardship exemption," and
