

June 18, 2013

Dear Senator,

We, the undersigned organizations who advocate on behalf of children and families, urge you to stand up for children by ensuring that their needs and interests are a priority as the immigration reform bill (S.744) is considered on the Senate floor.

The consistent failure of immigration policies to consider children's well-being and promote family unity has had devastating outcomes. The Department of Homeland Security reports that 205,000 parents of U.S. citizen children were removed in the 26 months between July 2010 and September 2012, and research shows that due to our broken immigration system children in mixed-legal status families suffer from poorer health outcomes, emotional trauma, economic instability, poor educational outcomes, and limited access to critical services and programs. Unaccompanied immigrant children are also a particularly vulnerable segment of the child population, and many that have endured dangerous journeys to the U.S. to seek refuge or reunification with family members encounter a new set of risks as they confront our complex immigration system.

While S. 744 as currently drafted represents a historic step forward for immigrant children and children in immigrant families, the bill still falls short of fully protecting the rights of children and ensuring access to critical safety net programs. As the youngest and most vulnerable members of our society, children are the most deserving of protection under the law, and every child in America should have access to the services and resources they need to grow into successful adults.

To ensure that children's interests are taken into account during the Senate floor debate, we ask you to:

- Protect S.744's pathway to citizenship for the 11 million, including the DREAM Act, and ensure that the youngest DREAMers have access to the same 5-year pathway to citizenship as older DREAMers
- Support efforts to provide equal access to health services and programs that are critical to children's health and well-being, and defend against efforts to further limit children's access to these programs
- Defend access to critical income supports for children and families, such as the Child Tax Credit (CTC) and Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC), and defend against efforts to prevent low-income immigrant families from accessing the path to citizenship and income supports
- Support proposals that would promote family unity and protect the provisions in S.744 that keep families together, including improvements to the family-based immigration system; the ability of immigration judges to consider hardship to children in removal and inadmissibility decisions; and the provision that would provide a means for certain removed immigrants, such as parents of U.S. citizen children and DREAM-eligible youth, to return to the U.S. and apply for citizenship
- Protect the provisions in S.744 that would ensure that immigration enforcement measures no longer needlessly separate families or cause harm to children
- Defend the provisions in S.744 that would improve protections for unaccompanied immigrant children, including access to legal representation and improved screening and training mechanisms for immigration enforcement personnel, and support efforts to further ensure that immigration enforcement actions duly consider the best interest of the child
