INTRODUCTION

The Second Amendment right “to keep and bear Arms,” U.S. CONST. amend. II, guarantees “the individual right to possess and carry weapons in case of confrontation,” District of Columbia v. Heller, 554 U.S. 570, 592 (2008). The text of that provision, as informed by history and tradition, as well as binding precedent, demonstrates that it applies outside the home and places of business, and guarantees ordinary law-abiding citizens the right to bear arms by carrying a loaded, operable handgun in public for self-defense. Indeed, several federal courts of appeals have held that the Second Amendment protects the right to carry arms outside the home, Wrenn v. District of Columbia, 864 F.3d 650 (D.C. Cir. 2017); Moore v. Madigan, 702 F.3d 933 (7th Cir. 2012); and the Third Circuit has itself acknowledged that “it is possible to conclude that Heller implies such a right,” Drake v. Filko, 724 F.3d 426, 430 (3d Cir. 2013).

Defendants’ laws, policies, and enforcement practices prevent Plaintiffs and other typical law-abiding citizens from exercising their right to bear arms on pain of criminal sanctions, loss of liberty, and the lifetime loss of the Second Amendment rights. And though Plaintiffs and others like them are disarmed by Defendants’ laws and policies, even when seconds count, Defendants’ police are minutes or hours away, if they come at all—they certainly have no obligation to. See, e.g., Castle Rock v. Gonzales, 545 U.S. 748 (2005). Defendants’ laws, policies, and enforcement practices disarm and leave effectively defenseless the very same people to whom the Constitution guarantees the right to keep and bear arms for self-defense. Under Defendants’ laws and policies, typical law-abiding individuals are prohibited from carrying loaded, operable firearms in public in Defendant City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for any reason, including self-defense, unless they have a License to Carry Firearms (“LTCF”) under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109. But Defendants Outlaw and Philadelphia (“Philadelphia Defendants”) have enacted, and are currently enforcing, laws and policies which make LTCF licenses unavailable to Plaintiffs and Plaintiff FPC's members, and other similarly situated members of the public, thus denying them their right to bear arms in violation of the Second and Fourteenth Amendments. The Philadelphia Defendants have and continue to refuse to issue Plaintiffs and other law-abiding citizens a LTCF, both through complete closures of their Gun Permit Unit ("GPU"), by considering firearm-related services "non-essential," and with other policies and practices which severely burden or deny access to the rights at stake. Defendants' laws, policies, and enforcement practices deny and infringe upon the exercise of the right to bear arms. And, under Heller, their infringements are impermissible. "[T]he enshrinement of constitutional rights necessarily takes certain policy choices off the table." Heller, 554 U.S. at 636.

Because the possession of a LTCF is the only mechanism through which ordinary law-abiding Philadelphians may lawfully exercise their constitutionally protected right to bear arms in public, Defendants may not both ban the carry of loaded handguns under its criminal laws and place the only exemption to those laws for typical law-abiding citizens like Plaintiffs—a LTCF—out of reach. One or the other must give. The constitutional injuries here are as real as they are undeniable. This Court should temporarily restrain and preliminarily enjoin Defendants from continuing to perpetuate the irreparable harms that are increasing every minute of every hour.

BACKGROUND

I. A LTCF IS AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY FOR ALL ORDINARY LAW-ABIDING CITIZENS TO LAWFULLY EXERCISE THEIR RIGHT TO BEAR ARMS IN PHILADELPHIA.

In Pennsylvania, it is a serious crime for a typical law-abiding citizen to carry a loaded firearm in any vehicle "or concealed on or about his person, except in his place of abode or fixed place of business" without a valid LTCF. 18 Pa.C.S. § 6106(a)-(b). Moreover, without a LTCF, it is also a crime for a law-abiding person to carry a firearm "at any time upon the public streets or upon any public property” within the City of Philadelphia, 18 Pa.C.S. § 6108, because it is a “city of the first class,” 53 P.S. § 101. The Commonwealth separately and additionally criminalizes any carrying of a firearm “upon the public streets or upon any public property during an emergency proclaimed by a State or municipal governmental executive” unless the person has a LTCF. 18 Pa.C.S. § 6107(a). Any violation of the prohibitions established for individuals in Philadelphia and carrying a loaded firearm in public during a state of emergency constitutes a misdemeanor of the first degree, 18 Pa.C.S. § 6119, conviction for which will result in a loss of liberty and a lifetime ban on and disqualification from the exercise of Second Amendment rights—forever—under federal law, 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(1).

Pennsylvania Governor Tom Wolf has caused the Commonwealth to be in a constant state of emergency since January 10, 2018. Consequently, for almost three years now, Philadelphians have been subjected to a trifecta of criminal laws acting against their right to bear arms, as all three of the State’s major criminal statutes targeting the exercise of such rights are and remain simultaneously in effect. On top of this, the Philadelphia Defendants separately proscribe the “carry [of] a firearm upon the public streets or upon any public property at any time” by typical law-abiding individuals unless they are licensed to carry firearms under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109. Phila. Code § 10-818 (2),(a).<sup>1</sup> The Philadelphia Defendants additionally criminally ban the carry of firearms “within one hundred (100) feet of” a school, including but not limited to while walking or driving. Phila. Code § 10-833 (2).<sup>2</sup> And the Philadelphia Defendants have a manual of policies and practices that serve “as a standard of conduct for all [police] personnel. It consists of the rules, <sup>2</sup> There are at least 342 schools in the City of Philadelphia. <https://bit.ly/phila-sch-facts>. policies, and procedures which are necessary for the consistent and professional operation of the Philadelphia Police Department,” online at <http://www.phillypolice.com/accountability>. According to the Philadelphia Defendants’ Directive Index, Philadelphia Defendants have and are currently enforcing a policy on “Firearms” as set forth in their “Directive 5.27” (effective 10-31-01 and last updated 09-22-10) (“Directive 5.27”). Under Directive 5.27, “It is the responsibility of all members of the Philadelphia Police Department to ensure that all laws and regulations pertaining to the carrying of concealed firearms are properly enforced.” Thus, under Directive 5.27, “all members of the Philadelphia Police Department” must enforce “all laws and regulations pertaining to the carrying of” handguns against individuals, including Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck, Plaintiff FPC’s members and supporters, and similarly situated members of the public.

II. PHILADELPHIA DEFENDANTS’ LAWS, POLICIES, AND ENFORCEMENT PRACTICES DENY, DELAY, AND SEVERELY BURDEN THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT TO BEAR ARMS.

By their design, Philadelphia Defendants’ LTCF process is severely burdensome, complicated, and lengthy, subjecting applicants to unnecessary costs and delays throughout the process, during which time law-abiding citizens are needlessly, totally, and unconstitutionally denied their fundamental, individual right to bear arms in public. As more specifically detailed in the Complaint, ¶¶ 54-70, even though Philadelphia Defendants utilize alternative electronic forms of communication and transmitting information which are accessible to the public at all times (e.g., the Internet, web-based electronic forms, email, text messaging, etc.) in providing other public services, they force LTCF applicants to utilize only paper-based application materials (even including “(1) Color Photo 2” x 2” (inch) Passport Type” rather than a digital photograph) and in-person procedures during limited business hours when many citizens are at work and unable to go to the Gun Permit Unit (“GPU”). Fetsurka Decl. ¶¶ 21. And this is true despite the existence of alternative means of accepting and processing applications, such as a readily available, entirely online platform proven to be an effective and efficient means of processing LTCF applications in several counties within the Commonwealth.<sup>3</sup> Defendant Evanchick and the Pennsylvania State Police further provide the Philadelphia Defendants with E-PICS, an online background check system, at <https://epics.pa.gov/Pics>. The Philadelphia Defendants’ policies and practices delay the process, unnecessarily burden applicants, and go far beyond what is required for them to determine if an applicant for a LTCF is “disqualified from exercising Second Amendment rights,” Heller, 554 U.S. 570 at 635.

It is evident through reports<sup>4</sup> and publications that the Philadelphia Defendants have policies and enforcement practices that have and continue to neglect the GPU’s constitutionally required public services, leave the GPU severely understaffed and underfunded, and cause severe delays and other burdens upon applicants. Writing for The Washington Free Beacon, Stephen Gutowski reported on September 22, 2020, that another prospective LTCF applicant in Philadelphia attempted contacting the Philadelphia Defendants’ GPU for ten straight days, only to be relegated to an initial appointment on January 19, 2021—about four months later—when he finally reached the GPU.<sup>5</sup> Gutowski further reported that someone else he interviewed about the “months-long wait to apply for gun-carry permits” said GPU personnel told him that “he would have to wait at least a year for an appointment.” Id. These well-known and documented policies and practices evince that the Philadelphia Defendants treat the right to bear arms as a mere “second-class right.” Combs Decl. ¶ 15.

<sup>4</sup> On the popular website REDDIT, one prospective GPU applicant stated that, after “calling the gun permit unit numbers continuously since 8am this morning,” “I took the earliest appointment time of January 11th 2021. That’s almost 6 months from now.” See https://www.reddit.com/r/PAGuns/comments/hyrg36/philly\_ltcf\_woes. On August 11, 2020, another person posted the following message on the Pennsylvania Firearm Owners Association forum: “Just managed to finally get a human on the phone after days of busy signals. Got my appointment time for May 2021.” See <https://forum.pafoa.org/showthread.php?t=363525>.

Worse, the Philadelphia Defendants have completely shuttered their GPU twice this year. Earlier this year, the Philadelphia Defendants closed their GPU for four months and five days (March 17, 2020 through July 22, 2020). Fetsurka Decl. ¶ 24, Sieck Decl. ¶¶ 19-20. During this time, no one in Philadelphia could submit an application for or receive a LTCF, and therefore no typical law-abiding person in Philadelphia who did not already have a LTCF could lawfully exercise the right to bear arms through carrying a handgun or any other firearm in public for self-defense. When the GPU was finally allowed to re-open in July—on an inadequate and insufficient basis—appointments for the submission of a LTCF application were delayed six or more months into the future, as illustrated through the public reports and declarations cited herein.

And now, continuing their pattern and practice of denying, delaying, and severely burdening the rights of law-abiding people, the Philadelphia Defendants have closed their GPU again, once more completely eliminating the only way for law-abiding citizens to carry loaded, operable firearms on their person, in public, for self-defense. Just days ago, on or about November 18, 2020, a public notice posted at the GPU announced in pertinent part: “ATTENTION!!! Keeping in accordance with the Mayor’s announcement to halt all non-essential City government operations, in order to reduce the spread of the COVID-19 coronavirus the Gun Permit Unit will remain closed until further notice.” Compl. ¶ 48. During that first closure, and now again during this latest one, the Philadelphia Defendants refused to provide any alternative means of applying for, processing, and issuing LTCFs. Indeed, they are—again—treating access to and exercise of the right to bear arms as “non-essential,” singling that fundamental right “out for special—and specially unfavorable—treatment.” McDonald v. City of Chicago, 561 U.S. 742, 778-79 (2010).

Consequently, all ordinary, law-abiding Philadelphians who do not have a valid LTCF are completely prohibited from even applying for a LTCF—and exercising their rights—“until further notice.” Not only is their policy and enforcement practice affecting new applicants, even those whose applications were already approved before the closure are indefinitely barred from being issued the LTCF since the GPU will not issue them their license until after “the unit begins operation again.”<sup>6</sup> Philadelphia Defendants’ unconstitutional laws, policies, and enforcement practices cannot be allowed to be enforced any longer.

III. THE DIRECT AND CONTINUING INJURY TO PLAINTIFFS’ FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS.

Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck are typical law-abiding residents of Philadelphia who are not disqualified from exercising Second Amendment rights, are fully eligible for a LTCF under 18 Pa.C.S § 6109, and require a LTCF in order to lawfully carry a loaded, operable firearm on their person in public for lawful purposes including self-defense, as they are guaranteed under the Constitution’s Second and Fourteenth Amendments. Fetsurka Decl. ¶ 6; Sieck Decl. ¶ 6. Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck wish to acquire a LTCF from the Philadelphia Defendants. Fetsurka Decl. ¶ 45; Sieck Decl. ¶ 31. Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck are especially concerned about their safety in public because of the recent civil unrest, violent protests, riots, and looting in the City of Philadelphia. Fetsurka Decl. ¶ 14; Sieck Decl. ¶ 14. Indeed, a large department store immediately adjacent to Plaintiff Sieck’s place of employment has been “looted and destroyed” twice in recent months. Sieck Decl. ¶ 18. Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck are not exempt from Defendant Evanchick’s laws, policies, and enforcement practices applying the Commonwealth’s criminal laws banning the carry of firearms generally, in Philadelphia specifically, and during states of emergency. Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck are not exempt from the Philadelphia Defendants’ laws, policies, and enforcement practices applying the City’s criminal laws banning the carry of firearms generally and also within 100 feet of schools. Because of the Philadelphia Defendants’ laws, policies and enforcement practices, neither Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck, nor any other similarly situated Philadelphians, can acquire a LTCF to be exempt from the prosecutorial hammer of the Commonwealth’s and City’s criminal laws.

<sup>6</sup> Plaintiffs note too that the Philadelphia Defendants could utilize U.S.P.S. mail or some other common carrier to send an issued LTCF to the approved applicant but refuse to do so.

Plaintiff Fetsurka’s experience with the Philadelphia Defendants’ LTCF application process before their latest closure of the GPU is emblematic of Defendants’ general practices and patterns of imposing severe delays and burdens that substantially delay and/or deny issuance of the necessary LTCF license, and which chill exercise of the right to bear arms by discouraging residents from applying for a license they may not ultimately acquire for months or longer. When Plaintiff Fetsurka contacted the GPU in August 2020 to schedule the initial application appointment necessary to initiate the LTCF process, the Philadelphia Defendants’ GPU set his appointment for September 15, 2021—almost an entire year later. Fetsurka Decl. ¶¶ 25-29. Sometime in October 2020, someone within the GPU contacted Plaintiff Fetsurka and stated that an appointment had opened up for November 19, 2020. Id. at ¶ 31. He took that appointment, but then, on November 18, 2020, he received another call from the GPU advising him that his appointment was canceled and must be rescheduled. Id. at ¶¶ 32-33. To date, Plaintiff Fetsurka has been unable to attend an appointment at Philadelphia Defendants’ GPU to submit his application for a LTCF. Id. at ¶ 35.

The Philadelphia Defendants’ laws, policies, and enforcement practices deny and severely burden the right to bear arms, preventing Plaintiffs, Plaintiff FPC’s members and supporters, and all similarly situated Philadelphians from lawfully exercising their rights. But for enforcement of Defendants’ laws, policies, and enforcement practices, Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck would carry loaded, operable firearms on their person in public for lawful purposes including of self-defense. Fetsurka Decl. ¶ 52; Sieko Decl. ¶ 38. Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck refrain from doing so only because of their reasonable fears of arrest and prosecution under 18 Pa.C.S. §§ 6106-6108 and 6119, which subject them not only to criminal sanctions in the form of incarceration and fines, but also a lifetime ban on the exercise their Second Amendment rights upon conviction, as well as the Philadelphia Defendants' criminal prohibitions under Philadelphia Code §§ 10-830(2) and 10-833(s), and their Directive 5.27. Fetsurka Decl. ¶ 52; Sieko Decl. ¶ 38.

Plaintiff Firearms Policy Coalition, Inc. is a 501(c)(4) non-profit organization incorporated under the laws of Delaware. Combs Decl. ¶ 3. The purposes of FPC include defending and promoting the People's rights—especially the fundamental, individual Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms—advancing individual liberty, and restoring freedom. Combs Decl. ¶ 5. FPC serves its members and the public through legislative advocacy, grassroots advocacy, litigation and legal efforts, research, education, outreach, and other programs. Combs Decl. ¶ 6. FPC has members who reside in Pennsylvania. Combs Decl. ¶ 8. Some of those Pennsylvania members—including Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck—are law-abiding residents of Philadelphia who do not have a LTCF, are subject to the Commonwealth's and City's criminal laws prohibiting carry of firearms in public, and wish to carry loaded firearms in public for lawful purposes including self-defense, and would do so forthwith but for the challenged laws, policies, and enforcement practices. Combs Decl. ¶ 9. FPC's members and supporters in Philadelphia have been adversely and directly harmed by Defendant's enforcement of the laws, regulations, policies, practices, and customs challenged herein. Combs Decl. ¶ 10. Plaintiff FPC represents the interests of all its members and supporters who, like Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck, are completely prohibited, on pain of criminal punishment and permanent deprivation of Second Amendment rights, from carrying firearms in public in Philadelphia for lawful purposes including self-defense. Because of Defendant's enforcement of the laws, regulations, policies, practices, and customs challenged herein, FPC has suffered a diversion of resources to identify and/or counteract the unlawful actions, as well as a frustration of the organization's mission. Combs Decl. ¶ 12.

ARGUMENT

Preliminary injunctive relief is appropriate and should be granted pending this Court's ruling on the merits of their claim so long as the facts and circumstances demonstrate (1) a likelihood of success on the merits and (2) a prospect of irreparable injury if the injunction is not granted. Reilly v. City of Harrisburg, 858 F.3d 173, 176 (3d Cir. 2017). In addition, "the district court . . . should take into account, when they are relevant, (3) the possibility of harm to other interested persons from the grant or denial of the injunction, and (4) the public interest." Id. "The standard for granting a temporary restraining order under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65 is the same as that for issuing a preliminary injunction." Pileggi v. Aichele, 843 F.Supp.2d 584, 592 (E.D. Pa. 2012). Here, as is already apparent from the factual and legal background outlined above, all four factors strongly favor such preliminary injunctive relief and a temporary restraining order.

I. PLAINTIFFS ARE LIKELY TO SUCCEED ON THE MERITS.

As Plaintiffs show herein, Defendants' laws, policies, and enforcement practices fail Heller's categorical test. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Third Circuit has established "a two-pronged approach to Second Amendment challenges." United States v. Marzzarella, 614 F.3d 85, 89 (3d Cir. 2010). "First, [courts] ask whether the challenged law imposes a burden on conduct falling within the scope of the Second Amendment's guarantee . . . [Second,] [i]f it does, [they] evaluate the law under some form of means-end scrutiny.”<sup>7</sup> Id. Here, the Second Amendment’s text, as it may be informed by history and tradition, uniformly shows that the Second Amendment squarely protects the rights of ordinary, law-abiding individuals to carry loaded, operable firearms in public for self-defense. And Defendants’ individual and collective laws and policies denying, severely delaying, and otherwise needlessly burdening the exercise of this right—including but not limited to Philadelphia Defendants’ closure of their GPU, setting LTCF appointments months into the future, and refusing to use alternative means of accepting and processing licenses—are flatly unconstitutional under any test. Because these laws and actions severely burden the right to keep and bear arms for self-defense, they should be subject to strict scrutiny, which Defendants’ laws, policies, and enforcement actions cannot survive. But because they are so clearly repugnant to the Constitution and have no reasonable fit with their governmental interests, they unquestionably fail intermediate scrutiny as well. Thus, plaintiffs are likely to succeed on the merits.

A. The Second Amendment Protects the Right of Ordinary, Law-Abiding Philadelphians to Carry Firearms Outside the Home for Self-Defense.

The United States Constitution guarantees “the right of the people to keep and bear Arms.” U.S. CONST. AMEND. II. The Second Amendment is fully applicable to the States and local governments through the Fourteenth Amendment. McDonald v. City of Chicago, 561 U.S. 742, 750 (2010); id. at 805 (Thomas, J., concurring). “The very enumeration of the right [to keep and bear arms] takes out of the hands of government—even the Third Branch of Government—the power to decide on a case-by-case basis whether the right is really worth insisting upon.” District of Columbia v. Heller, 554 U.S. 570, 634 (2008). And “[c]onstitutional rights are enshrined with the scope they were understood to have when the people adopted them, whether or not future legislatures or (yes) even future judges think that scope too broad.” Id. at 634-35.

The substance of the Second Amendment right reposes in the twin verbs of the operative clause: “the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.” U.S. CONST. amend. II (emphasis added). Because “[t]o speak of ‘bearing’ arms within one’s home would at all times have been an awkward usage,” the Constitution’s explicit inclusion of the “right to bear arms thus implies a right to carry a loaded gun outside the home.” Moore v. Madigan, 702 F.3d 933, 936 (7th Cir. 2012). Interpreting the Second Amendment as confined to the home would read the second of these guarantees—the right to bear arms—out of the Constitution’s text altogether, for the right to keep arms standing alone would be sufficient to protect the right to have arms in the home.

The U.S. Supreme Court in Heller held that the Second Amendment “guarantee[s] the individual right to possess and carry weapons in case of confrontation.” Heller, 554 U.S. at 592. This is “ ‘a natural right which the people have reserved to themselves, confirmed by the Bill of Rights,’ ” Heller, 554 U.S. at 594 (quoting A Journal of the Times: Mar. 17, NEW YORK JOURNAL, Supp. 1, Apr. 13, 1769). And the meaning of the right during the founding-era—which the high court has commanded must still control today—“unambiguously” “refer[red] to the carrying of weapons outside of an organized militia.” Id. at 584. It is clear that, “[a]t the time of the founding, as now, to ‘bear’ meant to ‘carry.’ ” Id.

As McDonald v. City of Chicago explains, “[s]elf-defense is a basic right, recognized by many legal systems from ancient times to the present day.” 561 U.S. 742, 767 (2010) . And because the need for self-defense may arise in public, it has long been recognized that the right to self-defense may be exercised in public. Thus, “[i]f any person attempts a robbery or murder of another, or attempts to break open a house in the night time, . . . and shall be killed in such attempt, the slayer shall be acquitted and discharged.” 4 WILLIAM BLACKSTONE, COMMENTARIES *180 (emphasis added). “Sergeant William Hawkins’s widely read Treatise of the Pleas of the Crown,” Atwater v. City of Lago Vista, 532 U.S. 318, 331 (2001), likewise explained that “the killing of a Wrong-doer . . . may be justified . . . where a Man kills one who assaults him in the Highway to rob or murder him,” 1 WILLIAM HAWKINS, A TREATISE OF THE PLEAS OF THE CROWN 71 (1716). And because the right to self-defense was understood to extend beyond the home, the right to armed self-defense naturally was as well. Accordingly, by the late seventeenth century the English courts recognized that it was the practice and privilege of “gentlemen to ride armed for their security.” Rex v. Knight, 90 Eng. Rep. 330 (K.B. 1686).

Heller commands that the fundamental right to bear arms for self-defense and in case of confrontation—as part and parcel of “the natural right of resistance and self-preservation,” Heller, 554 U.S. at 594—is of particular importance when it comes to ensuring citizens’ ability to carry handguns for such purposes, because the court explicitly recognized the handgun as “the quintessential self-defense weapon” in this country and that any complete prohibition against their carry and use is necessarily invalid. Id. at 629. And Heller mandates that the constitutionality of restrictions on the rights enshrined in the Second Amendment be scrutinized under the text of the Constitution, looking to the history and tradition to inform its original meaning. The high court has directed the analysis be “guided by the principle that ‘[t]he Constitution was written to be understood by the voters; its words and phrases were used in their normal and ordinary as distinguished from technical meaning.’” Heller, 554 U.S. at 576 (quoting United States v. Sprague, 282 U.S. 716, 731 (1931)). We look to “the historical background of the Second Amendment” because “it has always been widely understood that the Second Amendment, like the First and Fourth Amendments, codified a pre-existing right.” Id. at 592.

Throughout American history, arms carrying in public was a right as to all peaceable citizens. Sometimes, it was even a duty. See e.g., David B. Kopel & Joseph G.S. Greenlee, The Second Amendment Rights of Young Adults, 43 S. ILL. U. L.J. 495, 573–577, 587 (2019) (listing statutes requiring arms carrying by members of the general public to travel, work in the fields, work on roads and bridges, attend church, and attend court). Historically, under the Constitution’s relevant history and tradition, only dangerous persons have been acceptably deprived of the right to bear arms. Peaceable persons have always been free to carry arms for self-defense and other lawful purposes. See generally Joseph G.S. Greenlee, The Historical Justification for Prohibiting Dangerous Persons from Possessing Arms, 20 WYO. L. REV. 249 (2020). The tradition of disarming violent and dangerous persons was practiced from medieval England through mid-20th century America, but there is no tradition of disarming nonviolent people like Plaintiffs and those similarly situated. Id. No laws generally requiring government permission for American citizens to carry a firearm in public existed before the twentieth century—including at the time of the ratification of the Second Amendment in 1791. What laws did exist were indisputably unconstitutional, as they were the product of racist views long since abandoned as antithetical to the core purposes of the rights guaranteed all citizens under the Constitution. Brown v. Board of Ed., 347 U.S. 483, n. 5 (1954) (quoting In re Slaughter-House Cases, 1873, 16 Wall. 36, 67-72).

Early American courts and commentators clearly understood that the right to bear arms extended outside the home. James Wilson, a leading Framers and Supreme Court Justice, explained in his widely read Lectures on Law that it was unlawful only to carry “dangerous and unusual weapons, in such a manner, as will naturally diffuse a terror among the people.” 3 JAMES WILSON,

THE WORKS OF THE HONOURABLE JAMES WILSON 79 (1804). As another commentator explained, “in this country the constitution guaranties to all persons the right to bear arms; then it can only be a crime to exercise this right in such a manner, as to terrify the people unnecessarily.” CHARLES HUMPHREYS, A COMPENDIUM OF THE COMMON LAW IN FORCE IN KENTUCKY 482 (1822); see also State v. Huntly, 25 N.C. 418, 422–23 (1843); Simpson v. State, 13 Tenn. 356, 359–60 (1833).

For decades before the Civil War, the southern States had schemed at every turn to prevent their enslaved and free black populations from bearing arms. See Robert J. Cottrol & Raymond T. Diamond, The Second Amendment: Toward an Afro-Americanist Reconsideration, 80 GEO. L.J. 309, 336–38 (1991) (discussing laws in various states which denied “freed negroes” the right to keep and bear arms). Indeed, Chief Justice Taney recoiled from recognizing African Americans as citizens in the infamous Dred Scott case precisely because he understood that doing so would entitle them “to keep and carry arms wherever they went.” Dred Scott v. Sandford, 60 U.S. (19 How.) 393, 417 (1857). The Reconstruction Congress labored mightily to entomb this legacy of prejudice. See McDonald, 561 U.S. at 770–77. Congress’s efforts culminated in the adoption of the Fourteenth Amendment, which ensured the right of every American, regardless of race, to “bear arms for the defense of himself and family and his homestead.” CONG. GLOBE, 39th Cong., 1st Sess. 1182 (1866) (statement of Sen. Pomeroy); see also McDonald, 561 U.S. at 775–76.

Confining the right to keep and bear arms to the home would also be at war with judicial precedent. The Supreme Court’s decision in “Heller repeatedly invokes a broader Second Amendment right than the right to have a gun in one’s home.” Moore, 702 F.3d at 935–36. For instance, Heller squarely holds that the Second Amendment “guarantee[s] the individual right to possess and carry weapons in case of confrontation,” 554 U.S. at 592 (emphasis added), and it defines the key constitutional phrase “bear arms” as to “‘wear, bear, or carry . . . upon the person or in the clothing or in a pocket, for the purpose . . . of being armed and ready for offensive or defensive action in a case of conflict with another person,’ ” id. at 584 (alteration in original) (quoting Muscarello, 524 U.S. at 143 (Ginsburg, J., dissenting)). Heller’s indication that “laws forbidding the carrying of firearms in sensitive places such as schools and government buildings” are “presumptively lawful” also implicitly recognizes a general right to bear arms in public; otherwise there would be no need to identify these or any other exceptions. Id. at 626, 627 n.26. Moreover, Heller extensively cites and significantly relies upon Nunn v. State, a nineteenth-century Georgia case that “struck down a ban on carrying pistols openly” under the Second Amendment. Id. at 612; see also Caetano v. Massachusetts, 136 S. Ct. 1027 (2016) (vacating state court ruling that the Second Amendment does not protect the right to carry a stun gun in public).

In Drake v. Filko, the Third Circuit “decline[d] to definitively declare that the individual right to bear arms for the purpose of self-defense extends beyond the home,” choosing instead to assume for the sake of analysis that the Amendment has “some application beyond the home.” 724 F.3d 426, 431 (3d Cir. 2013). The Third Circuit’s decision not to draw any firm conclusions itself does not undermine the existence of such a right. Its assumption that the right does apply outside the home is entirely consistent with the Supreme Court’s precedents in Heller and McDonald and with the persuasive authority from other federal courts. Two circuit courts have directly held that the Second Amendment right to armed self-defense does not end at the doorstep. See Wrenn v. District of Columbia, 864 F.3d 650, 661 (D.C. Cir. 2017), and Moore v. Madigan, 702 F.3d at 935, 942. And no federal court of appeals has held that the Amendment does not apply outside the home.

As announced by its own “prefatory” clause, the Second Amendment was designed in part “to prevent elimination of the militia.” Heller, 554 U.S. at 599. A right to bear arms limited to the home would be ill-suited to “rearing up and qualifying a well-regulated militia,” id. at 612 (quoting Nunn v. State, 1 Ga. 243, 251 (1846)), for citizens prohibited from carrying arms in public simply could not act as the militia at all. Of course, the militia was not “the only reason Americans valued the ancient right; most undoubtedly thought it even more important for self-defense and hunting.” Id. at 599. Hunting obviously cannot be conducted by those bearing arms within their homes. And the same reasoning applies with even more force to the right to self-defense—“the central component” of the Second Amendment, id. at 599, which “is as important outside the home as inside,” Moore, 702 F.3d at 942. Indeed, according to 2019 nationwide data from the Bureau of Justice Statistics, less than a third of violent crimes occur in or near the victim’s home.<sup>8</sup>

The Constitution’s text, our Nation’s history and tradition, and Supreme Court precedents show that the average, law-abiding person has a fundamental, individual right to bear arms in public for self-defense. Philadelphia Defendants’ laws, policies, and practices—including their closure of the GPU, preventing Plaintiffs and others from acquiring a LTCF under 18 Pa.C.S § 6109—coupled with Defendant Evanchick’s laws and enforcement practices subjecting all ordinary, law-abiding residents who do not already have a LTCF to criminal sanctions for violations of 18 Pa.C.S §§ 6106, 6107, and 6108, prevent Plaintiffs and all similarly situated people from carrying firearms on their person in public, and thus unquestionably burden “conduct falling within the scope of the Second Amendment’s guarantee.” Marzzarella, 614 F.3d at 89.

B. Especially Given Defendant Evanchick’s Broad Criminal Bans on Carry, Philadelphia Defendants’ Infringements of the Fundamental Right to Bear Arms for Self-Defense Are Categorically Unconstitutional.

Given that the Second Amendment protects the rights of ordinary law-abiding Philadelphians to carry loaded, operable firearms for self-defense in public and outside the home,

Heller makes the next analytical steps clear. Because “[t]he very enumeration of the right takes out of the hands of government—even the Third Branch of Government—the power to decide on a case-by-case basis whether the right is really worth insisting upon,” Defendants’ laws, policies, and enforcement practices—including Philadelphia Defendants’ closure of their GPU, imposing severe delays and unnecessary burdens, and refusing other means of accepting and processing applications and payments—preventing Plaintiffs and law-abiding individuals like them from exercising their right to carry a handgun in public are per se invalid.

Heller requires categorical invalidation of infringements that strike at the heart of the Second Amendment. In Heller, the Supreme Court expressly considered and rejected an invitation to analyze the ban on possessing handguns at issue under “an interest-balancing inquiry” based on the “approach . . . the Court has applied . . . in various constitutional contexts, including election-law cases, speech cases, and due process cases,” 554 U.S. at 689–90 (Breyer, J., dissenting), holding instead that the right to keep and bear arms was “elevate[d] above all other interests” the moment that the People chose to enshrine it in the Constitution’s text, id. at 635 (majority opinion). And in McDonald, the Court reaffirmed that Heller had “expressly rejected the argument that the scope of the Second Amendment right should be determined by judicial interest balancing.” 561 U.S. at 785 (plurality opinion).

The complete deprivation of any ability to apply for, much less hope to soon obtain, the license necessary to avoid the severe criminal consequences imposed by 18 Pa. C.S. §§ 6106, 6107, 6108, and 6119 is just as extensive and categorical as the one struck down in Heller. Except for those favored few who fall into one of Pennsylvania’s atypical exceptions for law-enforcement officers, military personnel, and the like, see 18 PA. C.S. § 6106(b), all typical law-abiding Philadelphia citizens who do not already have a LCTF—like and including Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck, and Plaintiff FPC’s members who are similarly situated—are, at present, flatly prohibited from carrying an operable firearm in public for self-defense. Compare Heller, 554 U.S. at 575 n.1 (noting that D.C.’s ban contained “minor exceptions”), with id. at 636 (categorically invalidating the ban anyway). Even if, arguendo, Pennsylvania were not under a state of emergency declared by Governor Wolf, Philadelphia Defendants decision to close their GPU without providing any alternative for Philadelphia County residents to apply for a LTCF presents the same prohibition—namely, that if the individual does not have a valid LTCF, they are flatly prohibited from carrying an operable firearm in public for self-defense in the City of Philadelphia. See 18 Pa.C.S. §§ 6106, 6108; see also Phila. Code §§ 10-818(2), 10-833(2).

In short, the Second Amendment takes Philadelphia Defendants’ policies and political preferences “off the table,” 554 U.S. at 636, including and especially those treating the constitutionally necessary services their GPU provides as “non-essential” and not important enough to properly staff and execute, singling out the right to carry firearms in public for self-defense as a second-class right subjected to “special—and specially unfavorable—treatment,” McDonald, 561 U.S. at 778-79. Because Defendants’ actions effect a complete ban on protected Second Amendment conduct, Heller’s categorical approach applies and the Defendants’ laws and policies are categorically unconstitutional. See Wrenn, 864 F.3d at 665 (striking down flat ban on carrying arms categorically despite circuit precedent applying levels-of-scrutiny analysis in other Second Amendment cases); Moore, 702 F.3d at 942 (same).

C. The Challenged Regulations Fail Any Level of Heightened Scrutiny.

1. Under the two-prong analysis, strict scrutiny should apply.

Under the two-pronged approach the Third Circuit has applied in other Second Amendment cases, if tiered scrutiny is applied, the challenged laws, policies, and enforcement actions should be evaluated under strict scrutiny. As the Supreme Court has explained, “strict judicial scrutiny [is] required” whenever a law “impinges upon a fundamental right explicitly or implicitly protected by the Constitution.” San Antonio Indep. Sch. Dist. v. Rodriguez, 411 U.S. 1, 17 (1973). The right at stake here is unquestionably fundamental in being considered “among those fundamental rights necessary to our system of ordered liberty” by “those who drafted and ratified the Bill of Rights.” McDonald, 561 U.S. at 768, 778. Defendants’ actions in effecting a total ban on this right to promote their policy and political preferences stand no chance of surviving strict scrutiny. See ACLU v. Mukasey, 534 F.3d 181, 190 (3d Cir. 2008) (“To survive strict scrutiny analysis, a statute must: (1) serve a compelling governmental interest; (2) be narrowly tailored to achieve that interest; and (3) be the least restrictive means of advancing that interest.”). Because Heller forecloses rational basis review, Plaintiffs undertake further analysis using intermediate scrutiny since, as Defendants’ laws and enforcement practices cannot survive that test, they necessarily fail under strict scrutiny as well.

2. The challenged laws, policies, and enforcement practices are unconstitutional under intermediate scrutiny.

Ultimately, the challenged laws, policies, and enforcement practices preventing Plaintiffs and law-abiding citizens from lawfully carrying a handgun in public are unconstitutional under intermediate scrutiny. To survive intermediate scrutiny, a restriction must be “substantially related to the achievement” of an important government objective. United States v. Virginia, 518 U.S. 515, 533 (1996). “The burden of justification is demanding and it rests entirely on the State.” Id. Under this test, the government need not demonstrate the restriction constitutes “‘the least restrictive or least intrusive means of serving its interests,’ [citation], ‘but it must, in some meaningful way, demonstrate that alternative measures that burden substantially less [protected conduct] would fail to achieve the government’s interests.’” Bruni v. City of Pittsburgh, 824 F.3d

353, 369 (3d Cir. 2016) (quoting Ward v. Rock Against Racism, 491 U.S. 781, 798 (1989) & McCullen v. Coakley, 573 U.S. 464, 495 (2014), respectively).<sup>9</sup>

While the Defendants may claim a generalized public safety interest regarding the carry of firearms by dangerous convicted criminals and the adjudicated mentally ill, and Philadelphia Defendants may claim a generalized interest in protecting and preserving the public safety and welfare with restrictions related to the COVID-19 pandemic (even assuming a principal motivation behind their challenged actions was to curb the spread of this disease), they cannot carry their burden of demonstrating substantially less burdensome restrictions “would fail” to achieve the same ends. Indeed, as discussed above and detailed in the Complaint, an entirely online program for processing carry license applications already exists and has been proven effective not only in numerous other states with similar licensing schemes but in 13 counties in Pennsylvania which use it to process LTCF applications. And the Philadelphia Defendants have and use other means of communicating with the public, including Internet-based forms, electronic PDF documents, e-mail, and even text messaging. The idea that a complete and total shutdown of the process city-wide in Philadelphia is a truly necessary means of addressing concerns about in-person contacts at the GPU because any other means would fail to do so is unfounded in light of the readily available alternatives for processing applications efficiently and safely through electronic methods. And even if the Philadelphia Defendants did not already have ample means of providing alternatives to complete closures and stoppages of services, they could still accept applications sent by U.S. Mail, common carriers such as UPS, FedEx, or DHL, courier service, or even a secure drop box. There is no evidence that the Philadelphia Defendants even considered these alternatives—which is alone fatal under intermediate scrutiny. McCullen, 573 U.S. at 495; see also Bruni v. City of Pittsburgh, 824 F.3d 353, 371 (3d Cir. 2016).

---

<sup>9</sup> While these cases specifically concern restrictions on free speech, “we look to other constitutional areas for guidance in evaluating Second Amendment challenges,” “the First Amendment is the natural choice,” and thus “the structure of First Amendment doctrine should inform our analysis of the Second Amendment.” U.S. v. Marzzarella, 614 F.3d at 89.

At the very least, the Philadelphia Defendants cannot demonstrate in any meaningful way that their wholesale stoppage of the processing of LTCF applications bears any real relation, much less a necessary one, to the generalized interest in promoting public safety during this pandemic—especially when they cannot even credibly demonstrate that the now well-established safety protocols for preventing the spread of the virus during in-person contacts (face masks, social distancing, sanitizers, gloves, etc.) would not adequately meet concerns about continuing with the burdensome paper-based, in-person application process that they themselves have irrationally established.

Even if the specific nature of the present emergency is set aside, the challenged actions still fail. Far from becoming somehow less important during a time of disaster or upheaval, these periods of crises are when the rights secured by the Second Amendment are needed most. “The Second Amendment is a doomsday provision,” Silveira v. Lockyer, 328 F.3d 567, 570 (9th Cir. 2003) (Kozinksi, J., dissenting from denial of rehearing en banc), designed to enable ordinary citizens to protect themselves and their families when all else fails. It is thus precisely during an emergency—when the social fabric is strained, and law-enforcement resources are stretched thin by the urgent need to address the crisis immediately at hand—that law-abiding citizens must be able to act as they indeed are—their own first, and perhaps only, responder.

II. PLAINTIFFS HAVE AND WILL CONTINUE TO SUFFER IRREPARABLE INJURY ABSENT PRELIMINARY INJUNCTIVE RELIEF.

The conclusion that Plaintiffs have a probability of success on their constitutional claims compels the conclusion that Plaintiffs face continuing irreparable injury in the absence of injunctive relief. It is well-accepted that the deprivation of a constitutional right constitutes irreparable harm. See, e.g., K.A. ex rel. Ayers v. Pocono Mountain Sch. Dist., 710 F.3d 99, 113 (3d Cir. 2013); see also 11A CHARLES ALAN WRIGHT, ARTHUR R. MILLER, MARY KAY KANE, FEDERAL PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE § 2948.1 (2d ed. 1995) (“When an alleged deprivation of a constitutional right is involved, most courts hold that no further showing of irreparable injury is necessary.”). The Third Circuit has recognized this rule in the context of a variety of constitutional rights. See, e.g., K.A. ex rel. Ayers, 710 F.3d at 113. (First Amendment); Lewis v. Kugler, 446 F.2d 1343, 1350 (3d Cir. 1971) (Fourth Amendment). Rights under the Second Amendment are no different. McDonald, 561 U.S. at 780; Ezell v. City of Chicago, 651 F.3d 684, 700 (7th Cir. 2011).

III. THE OTHER EQUITABLE FACTORS FAVOR THE ISSUANCE OF A PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION.

The public interest and balance of equities likewise favor Plaintiffs. “[I]t is always in the public interest to prevent the violation of a party’s constitutional rights,” Connection Distrib. Co. v. Reno, 154 F.3d 281, 288 (6th Cir. 1998), for “the enforcement of an unconstitutional law vindicates no public interest,” K.A. ex rel. Ayers, 710 F.3d at 114; see Issa v. Sch. Dist. of Lancaster, 847 F.3d 121, 143 (3d Cir. 2017) (“[I]f a plaintiff demonstrates both a likelihood of success on the merits and irreparable injury, it almost always will be the case that the public interest will favor the plaintiff.”); see also Wrenn, 864 F.3d at 667. The public-safety costs of preventing ordinary law-abiding Philadelphians from engaging in effective self-defense in public are substantial. In the leading study on the issue, the National Self-Defense Survey, “indicate[s] that each year in the U.S. there are about 2.2 to 2.5 million [defensive uses of guns] of all types by civilians against humans.” Gary Kleck & Marc Gertz, Armed Resistance to Crime: The Prevalence and Nature of Self-Defense With a Gun, 86 J. CRIM. L. & CRIMINOLOGY 150, 164 (1995). “At least 19 other surveys have resulted in [similar] estimated numbers of defensive gun uses.” NATIONAL RESEARCH COUNCIL, supra, at 103. Any realistic appraisal of existing social-scientific data thus leads inexorably to the conclusion that the challenged actions may well harm the public safety. On the other side of the scale, the challenged actions could offer little, if any, demonstrable benefit to the public because they cannot be justified as necessary much less effective in preserving the public safety given the far less restrictive alternatives available in either maintaining the same application process with the now-standard safety protocols for in-person contacts and/or by migrating to online application procedures proven effective for conducting these programs in general and the LCTF application program specifically.

IV. THE COURT SHOULD WAIVE THE BOND, OR SET IT AT A NOMINAL AMOUNT.

The Third Circuit has recognized that the district court may dispense with the normal requirement that the court “may issue a preliminary injunction . . . only if the movant gives security in an amount that the court considers proper to pay the costs and damages sustained by any party found to have been wrongfully enjoined.” Temple Univ. v. White, 941 F.2d 201, 219 (3d Cir. 1991). In “noncommercial cases” such as this one, the court should “balance the equities” implicated by the request for an injunction, Elliott v. Kieseewetter, 98 F.3d 47, 59–60 (3d Cir. 1996), and “should also consider whether the applicant seeks to enforce a federal right and, if so, whether imposing the bond requirement would unduly interfere with that right,” Borough of Palmyra, Bd. of Educ. v. F.C. Through R.C., 2 F. Supp. 2d 637, 646 (D.N.J. 1998). Here, any injunction would not financially harm the Defendants, while imposing a more than de minimis bond would unduly interfere with Plaintiffs’ Second Amendment Rights. Plaintiffs should therefore not be required to post security or should be required to post only a nominal amount of one dollar (U.S. Currency).

CONCLUSION

For all these reasons, this Court should enjoin Defendants from enforcing Defendants’ laws, policies, and enforcement practices which individually and/or collectively prohibit Plaintiffs and other similarly situated law-abiding adults from exercising the Second Amendment right to carry loaded, operable firearms in public for lawful purposes, including self-defense.

DECLARATION OF BRANDON COMBS

I, Brandon Combs, am competent to state and declare the following based on my personal knowledge:

1. I am the President of Firearms Policy Coalition, Inc. (“FPC”), a Plaintiff in this action. I am authorized to testify on behalf of FPC as to matters set forth in this Declaration.
2. I have held the position of president of FPC since FPC was founded in 2014. As its president, I am duly authorized to act on behalf of the organization.
3. FPC is a non-profit organization incorporated under the laws of Delaware, with places of business in Pennsylvania, California, Nevada, Idaho, and other states.
4. FPC’s purposes are: (A) To protect and defend the Constitution of the United States and the People’s rights, privileges and immunities deeply rooted in this Nation's history and tradition, especially the inalienable, fundamental, and individual right to keep and bear arms; (B) To protect, defend, and advance the means and methods by which the People of the United States may exercise those rights, including, but not limited to, the acquisition, collection, transportation, exhibition, carry, care, use, and disposition of arms for all lawful purposes, including, but not limited to, self-defense, hunting, and service in the appropriate militia for the common defense of the Republic and the individual liberty of its citizens; (C) To foster and promote the shooting sports and all lawful uses of arms; and, (D) To foster and promote awareness of, and public engagement in, all of the above.

5. The purposes of FPC include defending and promoting the People's rights—especially the fundamental, individual Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms—advancing individual liberty, and restoring freedom.
6. FPC serves its members, supporters who have all the indicia of membership, and the public through legislative advocacy, grassroots advocacy, litigation and legal efforts, research, education, outreach, and other programs.
7. FPC also operates a Hotline, accessible by phone, email, and on the Internet, where FPC members and supporters, and members of the public, can submit reports of, inter alia, violations of their rights and requests for information about how to comply with various firearm laws that apply to them.

8. FPC has members and supporters who reside in Pennsylvania, including in Philadelphia, and in other states.
9. In addition to Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck, FPC has members and supporters who are law-abiding residents of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania who do not have a LTCF and do not fit one of the exemptions to the Commonwealth's and City's criminal laws prohibiting carry of firearms in public, but wish to carry loaded firearms in public for lawful purposes including self-defense, and would do so forthwith but for the challenged laws, policies, and enforcement practices.
10. FPC's law-abiding members and supporters in Philadelphia who do not have a LTCF but who wish to carry have been adversely and directly harmed by Defendant's enforcement of the laws, regulations, policies, practices, and customs challenged in this action.
11. FPC represents the interests of all its members and supporters who, like Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck, are completely prohibited, on pain of criminal punishment and permanent deprivation of Second Amendment rights, from carrying firearms in public in Philadelphia for lawful purposes including self-defense.

12. Because of Defendant's enforcement of the laws, regulations, policies, practices, and customs challenged herein, including Defendants City of Philadelphia and Philadelphia Police Commissioner Danielle Outlaw's ("Philadelphia Defendants") closure of their Gun Permit Unit ("GPU"), FPC has suffered a diversion of organizational resources to identify and/or counteract the Defendants' unlawful actions, as well as a frustration of the organization's mission.
13. Many FPC members and supporters have contacted the organization and its Hotline because they have been unable to schedule an appointment to submit an application or obtain a LTCF from Philadelphia Defendants, and thus lawfully exercise their right to bear arms because they have twice closed their GPU, the enormous backlog of appointments rendering access to the GPU to submit an application impossible.
14. I have seen a photograph of a posted sign at Philadelphia Defendants's GPU calling its services "non-essential".
15. My understanding, based upon reports by FPC members and members of the public in and around Philadelphia, as well as my own review of their laws, policies, and enforcement practices, Philadelphia Defendants cause: 1) their GPU to have less staff, resources, and capabilities than necessary to timely provide constitutionally required services that are necessary to access and exercise a fundamental, individual right; 2) their GPU to impose burdens far beyond what is required to determine if an applicant is “disqualified from exercising Second Amendment rights”; 3) their GPU to treat the GPU’s firearm-related services dis-favorably compared to the Philadelphia Defendants’ other services, thus making the right to keep and bear arms a “second-class right, subject to an entirely different body of rules than the other Bill of Rights guarantees” that is “singled out for special—and specially unfavorable—treatment”; and, 4) a denial of law-abiding Philadelphians’ constitutional right and ability to carry loaded, operable firearms in public.

16. FPC is participating in this case on behalf of its members and supporters, including the named Plaintiffs, and similarly situated individuals.
17. Defendants’ laws and orders, and their enforcement policies, orders, practices, customs, and actions challenged herein, have cause FPC to expend and divert resources to identify and/or counteract the Defendants’ unlawful actions.
18. FPC has been and continues to be adversely and directly harmed, and has and continues to have its purposes and mission frustrated, because of Defendants’ laws and orders, and their enforcement policies, orders, practices, customs, and actions challenged herein.

19. As a result of their laws, policies, and enforcement practices, and the Defendants' implementation of these orders and policies, FPC has incurred costs due to receiving, investigating, and responding to requests from its members, supporters, and the public.
20. All of these costs, such as expenditures of time and money, caused by Defendants' laws and policies, and their enforcement thereof, come at the expense of other priorities that FPC would otherwise pursue.
21. Since the Philadelphia Defendants' GPU closure on or about November 18, 2020, I have personally reviewed many recent public reports posted as comments to FPC's social media platforms, as well as FPC Hotline reports and requests for assistance, caused by Defendants' laws and policies, and enforcement thereof.
22. I am further aware that FPC Director of Legal Strategy, and attorney of record, Adam Kraut ("Mr. Kraut") has spoken with several FPC members and supporters in the City of Philadelphia who submitted FPC Hotline reports and requests for assistance that I have seen, and who are not named plaintiffs in this action but are affected by Defendants' laws and policies, and enforcement thereof, like FPC members and Plaintiffs Fetsurka and Sieck.

23. The following facts and circumstances were reported to FPC by some of its members and supporters in Philadelphia:

- a. On November 22, 2020, FPC member and supporter Robert R., who requested that we not disclose his full name due to safety concerns, reported that he is a resident of the City of Philadelphia and wanted to carry a handgun in public for self-defense but was being prevented from it because of Defendants' laws, policies, and enforcement practices. Mr. R reported that he had previously successfully contacted the Philadelphia Defendants' GPU after it reopened from its prior closure in July 2020, and was able to schedule an appointment for on or about September 10, 2020. Mr. R reported that, because he was told that he came in contact with a potentially COVID positive individual at work, he attempted to contact the Philadelphia Defendants' GPU multiple times to change his appointment as he could not go in-person to the scheduled appointment. Mr. R reported that he utilized both numbers on the Philadelphia Defendants' GPU's website but was unable to reach an individual to cancel or reschedule his appointment. Mr. R reported that he has also spoken to several personal friends who are sworn police officers employed by the Philadelphia Defendants' and was informed by them that GPU appointments are now around one year into the future from whenever Philadelphia Defendants re-open their GPU. Mr. R reported that he is concerned for his safety and wishes to carry a firearm in public for self-defense. Mr. R reported that he is particularly concerned about robberies and assaults that prevalently occur in the area around where he lives and takes walks in Philadelphia.

- b. On November 22, 2020, Mr. Lim reported that he is a resident of the City of Philadelphia and wanted to carry a handgun in public for self-defense but was being prevented from it because of Defendants' laws, policies, and enforcement practices. Mr. Lim reported that he had previously completed a paper LTCF application and attempted to bring it to the Philadelphia Defendants' GPU at some time in March or April 2020. Mr. Lim reported that he was unaware that the Philadelphia Defendants had closed their GPU prior to his arrival. Mr. Lim reported that he subsequently spoke to a friend who told him that he had an LTCF application appointment in August or September of 2020, making Mr. Lim aware of a substantial delay in being able to submit an application. Mr. Lim reported that he wished to mail his application to Philadelphia Defendants' GPU but could not under their policies and practices of requiring appointments and physical, in-person hand delivery of LTCF applications. Mr. Lim reported that he was unaware that the GPU reopened in July, as they did not collect his name, phone, or email and attempt to reach him, and just saw on the news that the Philadelphia Defendants' had shut their GPU down again. Mr. Lim reported that there were two kids who were shot two blocks away from where he resides and that he is constantly alerted to shootings in the area. Mr. Lim also reported that rioters destroyed property nearby and have been known to harass people walking down the street. Mr. Lim further reported that his mother had been harassed in a threatening manner by individuals while attempting to get groceries. Mr. Lim is concerned about the safety of himself and his older parents and wishes to carry a firearm in public for self-defense.

24. If the Defendants' laws, orders, and enforcement policies, practices, and customs challenged in this case are not enjoined, based upon the current volume of FPC Hotline reports and requests and my years of experience with such matters, I expect that FPC will receive dozens, and potentially hundreds, of similar reports and requests for assistance in the coming weeks that FPC will necessarily have to review, investigate, and respond to.
25. If the Defendants' laws, orders, and enforcement policies, practices, and customs challenged in this case are not enjoined, additional harm will result in the form of ongoing damages and irreparable harm to FPC and its members, and similarly situated members of the public.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and accurate to the best of my information, knowledge and belief.

DECLARATION OF KEITH FETSURKA

I, Keith Fetsurka, am competent to state and declare the following based on my personal knowledge:

1. I, Keith Fetsurka:
  - a. Am a United States citizen;
  - b. Am over the age of twenty-one (21);
  - c. Am not under indictment;
  - d. Have never been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor crime of domestic violence;
  - e. Have never been convicted of a crime punishable by more than one (1) year;
  - f. Am not a fugitive from justice;
  - g. Am not an unlawful user of, or addicted to, any controlled substance;

- h. Have not been adjudicated a mental defective or been committed to a mental institution;
  - i. Have not been discharged from the Armed Forces under dishonorable conditions;
  - j. Have never renounced my citizenship; and,
  - k. Am not the subject of a restraining order relating to an intimate partner.
- 2. I have never been charged with nor convicted of any misdemeanor or felony offense.
- 3. I am not prohibited from possessing firearms and ammunition under federal or state laws.
- 4. I am not prohibited from receiving a license to carry a firearm (“LTCF”) under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109(e).
- 5. I am not disqualified from exercising my right to keep and bear arms.
- 6. For all of these reasons, if I were subjected to a background check for the purpose of acquiring a LTCF, such as the Pennsylvania State Police’s E-PICS system, online at <https://epics.pa.gov/Pics>, I would pass and be reported as eligible to receive a LTCF under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.
- 7. I moved to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania in December 2019. Since then, I have been and am currently a resident of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania.

8. I lawfully own and possess firearms, including handguns.
9. My fundamental right to keep and bear arms includes the right to carry loaded, operable handguns on my person in public for all lawful purposes, including immediate self-defense and in case of confrontation.
10. I wish and intend to exercise my right to carry loaded firearms in public for self-defense and other lawful purposes.
11. I am not exempt from the Commonwealth's criminal laws banning the carry of firearms generally, in Philadelphia specifically, and during states of emergency.
12. I am not exempt from the City of Philadelphia's criminal laws banning the carry of firearms generally, and within 100 feet of schools.
13. I am aware that there are many schools in the City of Philadelphia, and I cannot avoid being within 100 feet of one during the normal course of my travels to and from my employer, as well as other locations I have and will in the near future be required to travel to and from.
14. Especially because of the recent civil unrest, violent protests, riots, and looting in the City of Philadelphia, I have become particularly concerned about my safety, especially when I am outside of my home in public places or traveling in motor vehicles.

15. Prior to moving to Philadelphia, I honorably served in the United States Army as a combat medic for a period of twelve years. I was honorably separated from the Army in 2014. During my time in the Army, I was stationed in Georgia, Colorado, North Carolina and a resident of the same. I was a resident of Texas after I separated from the Army.
16. While stationed in Georgia, Colorado, and North Carolina, and while living in Texas after separating from the Army, because I was and remain a law-abiding citizen, I successfully obtained the necessary licenses to carry a loaded handgun for self-defense and other lawful purposes in public. These licenses have all since expired and they were not renewed as I am no longer a resident of those states.
17. While I was in the Army, I was trained in the safe handling of and proficiency with firearms, including handguns.
18. I am currently employed as a Range Safety Officer at Guardian Training Center in Warminster, Pennsylvania, a firearm shooting range and training facility located approximately 28 miles from the Center City area of the City of Philadelphia.
19. One of my job responsibilities as a Range Safety Officer at Guardian Training Center is to know firearm safety rules, practice and train others in safe and responsible firearm handling, and ensure the safety of individuals using the firearm shooting range.

20. Prior to working as a range safety officer, I obtained employment at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital (“Jefferson Hospital”).
21. While I was employed by Jefferson Hospital, I was scheduled to work Monday through Friday during typical business hours, including the time periods during which the Philadelphia Defendants’ Gun Permit Unit (“GPU”) was open to the public to accept LTCF applications.
22. The GPU did not allow me to submit my LTCF application on the Internet, by email, or through electronic systems, or by U.S. Mail or courier, forcing me to utilize their exclusively paper-based and in-person procedures during limited business hours.
23. My employer at the time, Jefferson Hospital, had a strict policy related to time off for personal reasons, which did not allow me to schedule an appointment with the GPU prior to it closing in March 2020.
24. My understanding is that the GPU was closed for approximately four months and five days, reopening in late July 2020.
25. At some time in August 2020 I became aware that the GPU reopened and began to accept appointments.

26. After learning of its reopening, I called the GPU many times trying to reach someone there to schedule an appointment so that I could submit my LTCF application.
27. I called the GPU approximately fifteen to twenty times before a GPU staff member finally answered my call.
28. During my conversation with the GPU staff member who answered my call, I was told that there were no immediately available appointments, and that the next available appointment would be some time “next year” in 2021.
29. I asked the GPU for the soonest available appointment and was issued an appointment date of September 15, 2021.
30. The GPU’s scheduled appointment date for me to first apply for a LTCF was over one year from the date I called the GPU to make the appointment.
31. Sometime in or about October 2020, I received a phone call from a staff member at the GPU stating that they had a new opening to submit a LTCF application on November 19, 2020 at 10:30 a.m.
32. I accepted the new appointment date.
33. On or about November 18, 2020, I received another phone call from a staff member at the GPU at which time I was informed that the November 19, 2020 appointment was canceled and had to be rescheduled for some time in the unforeseeable future.

34. My understanding is that the GPU is closed until further notice.
35. To date, I have been unable to attend an appointment at the GPU to submit a LTCF application and begin the process of acquiring my LTCF.
36. Even beyond their GPU closure and severe appointment delays, the Philadelphia Defendants impose upon me and other LTCF applicants requirements that subject me to a needlessly complicated, burdensome, lengthy, and costly application process.
37. I could, and would if it were possible, submit my completed LTCF application to the GPU through an online system, Internet form, email, or text message, such as those the Philadelphia Defendants use for other services, or even U.S. Mail or courier were it necessary.
38. I could, and would if it were possible, use E-PICS to submit and complete my background check likely within a matter of minutes for the purpose of acquiring a LTCF.
39. It is my understanding that the Philadelphia Defendants could but do not provide any alternative means of applying for, processing, and issuing LTCF licenses.
40. It is my understanding that the Philadelphia Defendants choose paper-based and in-person LTCF application and issuance processes, and are currently choosing to completely close their GPU, in spite of other more efficient systems allowing for online applications, such as the Permitium PermitDirector online system used by many other licensing authorities.

41. It is my understanding of Pennsylvania law that 18 Pa.C.S. § 6106 prohibits me from carrying a concealed firearm for self-defense absent being issued a LTCF by the Philadelphia Defendants under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.
42. It is my understanding of Pennsylvania law that, due to Governor Wolf's proclamations of emergency, 18 Pa.C.S. § 6107 makes it unlawful to carry a firearm upon the public streets or upon any public property absent being issued a LTCF by the Philadelphia Defendants under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.
43. It is my understanding of Pennsylvania law that 18 Pa.C.S. § 6108 prohibits me and other law-abiding citizens like me from carrying any firearm, including a rifle or shotgun, upon the public streets or public property in Philadelphia unless I have been issued a LTCF by the Philadelphia Defendants under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.
44. It is my understanding of the City of Philadelphia's laws that I am prohibited from carrying any firearm in public and within 100 feet of schools unless I have been issued a LTCF by the Philadelphia Defendants under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.
45. As such, I have intended, desired, and made efforts to acquire a LTCF from Philadelphia's GPU.

46. I am aware that the law prevents me from applying for a LTCF in any other county in which I am not a resident, despite the fact that many of them remain open and operational for, among other things, LTCF licensing purposes.
47. Further, I am aware that many Pennsylvania county sheriffs, such as those for the counties of Schuylkill, Berks, Blair, Bucks, Cambria, Monroe, Montgomery, Pike, and Wayne have implemented and are using common online systems to allow individuals to apply for a LTCF completely over the Internet, negating the need for a person to appear in person to apply.
48. Because of Defendants' laws, policies, and enforcement practices, I have been and remain disarmed in public, prevented from exercising my right to bear arms by carrying a loaded, operable firearm for all lawful purposes including self-defense without risk of criminal prosecution for violations of 18 Pa.C.S. §§ 6106, 6107, and/or 6108, as well as the City of Philadelphia's Code §§ 10-818(2) (criminalizing carry in the City) and 10-833(2) (additionally criminalizing carry within 100 feet of schools).
49. My understanding is that the Pennsylvania State Police and the Philadelphia Police Department have and currently are enforcing these laws which make it a crime for me to carry a loaded, operable handgun in public for self-defense without a LTCF that can only be issued to me by the Philadelphia Defendants.

50. I have been advised and am aware that if I am convicted for a crime of carrying a firearm without a LTCF, under Pennsylvania law, the crime is graded as a graded as a misdemeanor of the first degree and punishable by up to five years imprisonment.
51. I have been advised and am aware that if I am convicted of a misdemeanor of the first degree for a violation of 18 Pa.C.S. §§ 6106, 6107, or 6108, it will trigger the federal prohibition found in 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(1), which would result in a lifetime ban on the exercise of my Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms and ammunition.
52. I wish and intend to carry a loaded, operable handgun on my person, in public and in motor vehicles, for the purpose of immediate self-defense and other lawful purposes. But I have so far abstained from such constitutionally protected conduct because I fear that the Defendants will enforce their laws and policies on me, including by arrest, prosecution, incarceration, a fine, and a lifetime ban on keeping and bearing arms.
53. Unless either: A) Defendants' enforcement of 18 Pa.C.S. §§ 6106, 6107, and 6108, Philadelphia Code §§ 10-818(2) and 10-833(2) (with respect to carry within 100 feet of a school), Philadelphia Police Department Directive 5.27, and their related policies and practices are enjoined; or B) enforcement of Philadelphia Defendants' laws, policies, and practices preventing me from applying for and being issued a LTCF, and Philadelphia Defendants are ordered to issue me a LTCF, I have and will continue to suffer irreparable harm and the denial of my constitutionally guaranteed fundamental right to bear arms.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and accurate to the best of my information, knowledge and belief.

DECLARATION OF TIMOTHY SIECK

I, Timothy Sieck, am competent to state and declare the following based on my personal knowledge:

1. I, Timothy Sieck:
  - a. Am a United States citizen;
  - b. Am over the age of twenty-one (21);
  - c. Am not under indictment;
  - d. Have never been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor crime of domestic violence;
  - e. Have never been convicted of a crime punishable by more than one (1) year;
  - f. Am not a fugitive from justice;
  - g. Am not an unlawful user of, or addicted to, any controlled substance;

- h. Have not been adjudicated a mental defective or been committed to a mental institution;
  - i. Have not been discharged from the Armed Forces under dishonorable conditions;
  - j. Have never renounced my citizenship; and,
  - k. Am not the subject of a restraining order relating to an intimate partner.
- 2. I have never been charged with nor convicted of any misdemeanor or felony offense.
- 3. I am not prohibited from possessing firearms and ammunition under federal or state laws.
- 4. I am not prohibited from receiving a license to carry a firearm (“LTCF”) under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109(e).
- 5. I am not disqualified from exercising my right to keep and bear arms.
- 6. For all of these reasons, if I were subjected to a background check for the purpose of acquiring a LTCF, such as the Pennsylvania State Police’s E-PICS system, online at <https://epics.pa.gov/Pics>, I would pass and be reported as eligible to receive a LTCF under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.
- 7. I am currently a resident of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania.
- 8. I lawfully own and possess firearms, including handguns.

9. My fundamental right to keep and bear arms includes the right to carry loaded, operable handguns on my person in public for all lawful purposes, including immediate self-defense and in case of confrontation.
10. I wish and intend to exercise my right to carry loaded firearms in public for self-defense and other lawful purposes.

12. I am not exempt from the City of Philadelphia's criminal laws banning the carry of firearms generally, and within 100 feet of schools.

14. Especially because of the recent civil unrest, violent protests, riots, and looting in the City of Philadelphia, I have become particularly concerned about my safety, especially when I am outside of my home in public places or traveling in motor vehicles.
15. I am employed by a brewery in Philadelphia and considered to be an "essential employee".

16. Because of my work, I must leave my home and travel to and from my place of work.
17. I must also leave my home for other reasons beyond work, such as acquiring groceries and personal items, fuel, and other lawful reasons.
18. During these recent acts of public violence and domestic terrorism, I became aware that the Target store located immediately adjacent to my place of employment has been looted and violently destroyed not just once, but twice, by violent rioters.
19. I am aware that Philadelphia's Gun Permit Unit ("GPU"), the division responsible for accepting and processing LTCF applications, closed sometime in March 2020.
20. My understanding now is that the GPU was closed for approximately four months and five days, reopening sometime in late July.
21. It is also my understanding that the GPU suffers from an enormous backlog of scheduled appointments, with individuals being given appointment dates in late 2021 to merely submit an application for a LTCF.
22. Even beyond their GPU closure and severe appointment delays, the Philadelphia Defendants impose upon me, and other LTCF applicants, requirements that subject me to a needlessly complicated, burdensome, lengthy, and costly application process.

23. I could, and would if it were possible, submit my completed LTCF application to the GPU through an online system, Internet form, email, or text message, such as those the Philadelphia Defendants use for other services, or even U.S. Mail or courier were it necessary.
24. I could, and would if it were possible, use E-PICS to submit and complete my background check likely within a matter of minutes for the purpose of acquiring a LTCF.

28. It is my understanding of Pennsylvania law that, due to Governor Wolf's proclamations of emergency, 18 Pa.C.S. § 6107 makes it unlawful to carry a firearm upon the public streets or upon any public property absent being issued a LTCF by the Philadelphia Defendants under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.

29. It is my understanding of Pennsylvania law that 18 Pa.C.S. § 6108 prohibits me and other law-abiding citizens like me from carrying any firearm, including a rifle or shotgun, upon the public streets or public property in Philadelphia unless I have been issued a LTCF by the Philadelphia Defendants under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.
30. It is my understanding of the City of Philadelphia's laws that I am prohibited from carrying any firearm in public and within 100 feet of schools unless I have been issued a LTCF by the Philadelphia Defendants under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.
31. As such, I intend and desire to acquire a LTCF from Philadelphia's GPU, however, believe that it is futile to attempt to do so, as the GPU is not scheduling appointments in a timely manner that would allow me to even apply for a LTCF this year.
32. I am aware that the law prevents me from applying for a LTCF in any other county in which I am not a resident, despite the fact that many of them remain open and operational for, among other things, LTCF licensing purposes.

33. Further, I am aware that many Pennsylvania county sheriffs, such as those for the counties of Schuylkill, Berks, Blair, Bucks, Cambria, Monroe, Montgomery, Pike, and Wayne have implemented and are using common online systems to allow individuals to apply for a LTCF completely over the Internet, negating the need for a person to appear in person to apply.
34. Because of Defendants' laws, policies, and enforcement practices, I have been and remain disarmed in public, prevented from exercising my right to bear arms by carrying a loaded, operable firearm for all lawful purposes including self-defense without risk of criminal prosecution for violations of 18 Pa.C.S. §§ 6106, 6107, and/or 6108, as well as the City of Philadelphia's Code §§ 10-818(2) (criminalizing carry in the City) and 10-833(2) (additionally criminalizing carry within 100 feet of schools).
35. My understanding is that the Pennsylvania State Police and the Philadelphia Police Department have and currently are enforcing these laws which make it a crime for me to carry a loaded, operable handgun in public for self-defense without a LTCF that can only be issued to me by the Philadelphia Defendants.
36. I have been advised and am aware that if I am convicted for a crime of carrying a firearm without a LTCF, under Pennsylvania law, the crime is graded as a misdemeanor of the first degree and punishable by up to five years imprisonment.

37. I have been advised and am aware that if I am convicted of a misdemeanor of the first degree for a violation of 18 Pa.C.S. §§ 6106, 6107, or 6108, it will trigger the federal prohibition found in 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(1), which would result in a lifetime ban on the exercise of my Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms and ammunition.
38. I wish and intend to carry a loaded, operable handgun on my person, in public and in motor vehicles, for the purpose of immediate self-defense and other lawful purposes. But I have so far abstained from such constitutionally protected conduct because I fear that the Defendants will enforce their laws and policies on me, including by arrest, prosecution, incarceration, a fine, and a lifetime ban on keeping and bearing arms.
39. Unless either: A) Defendants' enforcement of 18 Pa.C.S. §§ 6106, 6107, and 6108, Philadelphia Code §§ 10-818(2) and 10-833(2) (with respect to carry within 100 feet of a school), Philadelphia Police Department Directive 5.27, and their related policies and practices are enjoined; or B) enforcement of Philadelphia Defendants' laws, policies, and practices preventing me from applying for and being issued a LTCF, and Philadelphia Defendants are ordered to issue me a LTCF, I have and will continue to suffer irreparable harm and the denial of my constitutionally guaranteed fundamental right to bear arms.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and accurate to the best of my information, knowledge and belief.

TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER

AND NOW, on this ____ day of _____, 2020, upon the Motion for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction (the “Motion”) filed by Plaintiffs Keith Fetsurka, Timothy Sieck, and Firearms Policy Coalition, Inc. (together, the “Plaintiffs”) against Defendants Danielle Outlaw, City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and Colonel Robert Evanchick, (together, the “Defendants”), Plaintiffs’ supporting Memorandum of Law and declarations and exhibits attached thereto, the Plaintiffs’ Complaint, and all other supporting materials, and

Defendants' opposition, if any, and having held a hearing on _____, 2020, the Court finds that Plaintiffs have established that:

1. There is a substantial likelihood that the Plaintiffs will succeed on the merits of their claims against the Defendants;
2. The Plaintiffs have and will continue to suffer immediate and irreparable harm if the Defendants' unconstitutional conduct continues unabated;
3. The irreparable injury the Plaintiffs face outweighs the injury that the Defendants will sustain as a result of the immediate injunctive relief; and,
4. The public interest will be served by the granting of the immediate injunctive relief.

WHEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT the Plaintiffs' Motion for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction is GRANTED, and the Defendants are hereby bound by the following terms:

1. Defendants Outlaw and City of Philadelphia are ORDERED to immediately accept and process Plaintiffs' respective applications and payments for a license to carry firearms, including through an alternative means if necessary to comply with this order, conduct the necessary background check utilizing the Pennsylvania State Police's E-PICS System, and, if they are not disqualified from exercising Second Amendment rights, immediately issue Plaintiffs their license to carry firearms under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.

2. Philadelphia Defendants Outlaw and City of Philadelphia are ORDERED to immediately begin accepting and processing applications and payments for licenses to carry firearms, including through at least one additional alternative means, conduct the necessary background check utilizing the Pennsylvania State Police's E-PICS System, and, if the applicants are not disqualified from exercising Second Amendment rights, issue them a license to carry firearms under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109.

3. Philadelphia Defendants Outlaw and City of Philadelphia are ORDERED to utilize both the U.S. Mail and at least one Internet-based alternative means of accepting and processing applications for licenses to carry firearms, such as but not limited to e-mail and Web forms, and any documentation required under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109, and all required payments therefore.

4. For the duration of this Temporary Restraining Order, Philadelphia Defendants Outlaw and City of Philadelphia, and their officers, agents, servants, employees, all persons in concert or participation with them, and all who have notice of the injunction, are ENJOINED from enforcing their laws, policies, and practices that prevent those who are not disqualified from exercising their Second Amendment rights and wish to acquire a license under 18 Pa.C.S. § 6109 from applying for and being issued such a license.

5. For the duration of this Temporary Restraining Order, or until Philadelphia Defendants Outlaw and City of Philadelphia show this Court that they have and will continue to comply with all parts of this Order, Defendants and their officers, agents, servants, employees, all persons in concert or participation with them, and all who have notice of the injunction, are ENJOINED from enforcing 18 Pa.C.S. §§ 6106, 6107, 6108, and 6119, and Philadelphia Code §§ 10-818(2) and 10-833(2) with respect to possession of firearms in public within 100 feet of a school, Philadelphia Police Department Directive 5.27, and their related regulations, policies, enforcement practices, and actions that individually and/or collectively prevent any Philadelphia County resident who is not disqualified from exercising their right to keep and bear arms from carrying loaded, operable firearms, including handguns, on their person, in public and in their vehicles, for all lawful purposes including self-defense.

6. The Defendants shall maintain and hold all records, documents, or other forms of information, including that which is stored in electronic form in any place which the Defendants may store such information, which relate to the allegations in the Plaintiffs' Complaint, to ensure the fair conduct of this litigation.

The Court further finds that no bond or other security shall be required of the Plaintiffs.

IT IS HEREBY FURTHER ORDERED THAT:

1. A hearing is set on the Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary Injunction to be held on _____, 2020, at ____ o'clock a.m./p.m. in Courtroom _____ of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

2. The Plaintiffs shall immediately provide Defendants with notice of this Order and, to the extent they have not already, make service of all papers upon the Defendants.

3. This Temporary Restraining Order is entered at ____ o'clock a.m./p.m. and shall remain in effect unless otherwise modified by an order of this Court.

SO ORDERED.
